Molinaro Wanted Joe Biden To Investigate The Wuhan Lab Leak Theory

2021: Molinaro Criticized Biden For Not Bringing Up Covid In His Meeting With Xi Jinping, And Said He Would Push For An Investigation Into The Origins Of Covid If Elected. “Joe Biden just had a virtual summit with the Chinese Communist leader, Xi Jinping, and yet Covid-19 was never mentioned. HOW IS THAT POSSIBLE? According to stats from the World Health Organization, Covid-19 is the 2nd deadliest pandemic in the past 100 years behind HIV/AIDS, and the 8th deadliest of all time. If that’s the case, then why didn’t Joe Biden say anything about it during his 3.5-hour summit with his old friend, Xi Jinping? Why didn’t he get answers for the American People? America deserves answers, that’s why as soon as I’m elected, I’m calling for an immediate federal investigation into the origins of Covid-19, so we can have justice, and hold those responsible for allowing this virus to kill millions.” Genesee Sun, Molinaro Op-Ed, accessed [11/30/21]

Molinaro Said He Wanted To Know If China’s Response To Covid Led To Millions Of Deaths Across The World And Whether The Virus Was Developed In And Leaked From The Wuhan Lab. “We know the Communist Government of China censored and misrepresented the virus for months. We know they covered up key details about this virus, and if any investigation should be occurring, it’s an investigation to find the answers for these questions: 1) Did the actions of the Communist Government of China in response to Covid-19 lead to the deaths of millions around the world? If so, was it because of negligence, or was it intentional? 2) Was Covid-19 developed and leaked from the Wuhan Coronavirus lab, or did it come from an ‘exotic food market’ in Wuhan, China?” Genesee Sun, Molinaro Op-Ed, accessed [11/30/21]

September 2023: Molinaro Voted In Favor Of The Republican-Backed Continuing Resolution, Which Cut Aid To Israel By 30%

9/29/23: Molinaro Voted For Passing The Republican-Backed Continuing Resolution. In September 2023, Molinaro voted for “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide funding for federal government operations and services through Oct. 31, 2023, with a 29.9 percent cut from fiscal 2023 levels for most programs. It would fund veterans’ programs, the Department of Homeland Security, national security programs and disaster assistance at full fiscal 2023 levels. It would also implement nearly all provisions of House Republicans’ border security and immigration bill (HR 2), which the House passed in May 2023. It would provide an increase in funding for the Defense Department at rates set forth in House Republicans’ fiscal 2024 defense appropriations bill (HR 4365), which would provide for a 3.6 percent funding increase over fiscal 2023. It would also provide funding increases for the Agriculture Department and provide an additional $220 million above fiscal 2023 levels for Energy Department nuclear programs. Among its border security and immigration provisions, it would require DHS, within seven days of enactment, to resume all activities related to “border wall” construction on the U.S.-Mexico border that were underway or planned prior to Jan. 20, 2021; require DHS to reopen or restore, no later than Sept. 30, 2023, the use of all Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention facilities that were in operation on Jan. 20, 2021; and require DHS to return all unaccompanied children to their country of origin, regardless of whether they are from a contiguous country to the U.S. In addition to provisions of HR 2, it would place limitations on the use of DHS funding provided by the bill, including prohibitions on removing existing U.S.-Mexico border barriers, transporting inadmissible adults into the U.S., and the use of Customs and Border Protection’s “CBP One” app to facilitate the parole of an individual into the U.S. It also would prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to initiate or resume any project or activity not funded during fiscal 2023 and would establish a congressional fiscal commission tasked with identifying policies to “improve the fiscal situation.” The bill was rejected by a vote of 198-232. Background Checks

2023: Molinaro Prevented The Passage Of Bipartisan Gun Safety Bills Which Closed Loopholes In Background Checks

June 2023: Molinaro Did Not Sign The Discharge Petition To Force A Vote To Close Loopholes In Background Checks

June 2023: Molinaro Did Not Sign Onto The Discharge Petition To Force A Vote On The Bipartisan Background Checks Act. Molinaro did not sign onto the discharge petition reading: “Pursuant to clause 2 of rule XV, I, Mike Thompson, move to discharge the Committee on Rules from the consideration of the resolution (H.Res. 454) entitled, a resolution providing for consideration of the bill (H.R. 715) to require a background check for every firearm sale, which was referred to said committee May 26th, 2023, in support of which motion the undersigned Members of the House of Representatives affix their signatures, to wit:” H.Res. 454, [6/13/23]

- The Bipartisan Background Checks Act Would Expand Background Checks To Include Most Gun Sales, Including Those Between Private Parties. “Giffords, a former congresswoman from Arizona, was shot in the head by a mass shooter during a 2011 meeting with constituents and has advocated for gun-violence prevention ever since. She was chosen to drop the bill, called the Bipartisan Background Checks Act of 2019, into the ‘hopper’ where all bills start, as lawmakers introduced it. Despite its ‘bipartisan’ nature, the legislation still faces an uphill battle to become law. [...] Right now, background checks, when used, prevent gun sales to fugitives, people deemed mentally unwell by the state, domestic abusers, people who renounce U.S. citizenship, convicted felons, convicted drug users, non-citizens, dishonorably discharged veterans, and most people with restraining orders. The bill, however, would close the infamous ‘gun show loophole,’ which allows people purchasing firearms via private sales, typically at gun shows, to forgo a background check. Under the legislation, anyone who’s not a licensed firearms dealer would not be able to exchange weapons, which would ensure that all sales run through the national criminal background check system — with a few exceptions.” Vice, [1/8/19]

- The Bipartisan Background Checks Act Would Expand The Cases Where A Background Check Is Required For Gun Sales, Closing The “Gun Show Loophole.” “H.R. 8, a background checks package meant to enhance reviews of those seeking firearms, would not create a registry or other federal mechanisms for review. Instead, the legislation would expand the cases in which a background check is required for the sale or transfer of a firearm, including for private individuals and groups, closing the ‘Gun Show Loophole.’ The requirements would apply to online sales. The bill would make it illegal for anyone who is not a licensed firearm importer, manufacturer or dealer to trade or sell firearms to another person; current federal law requires background checks only for licensed gun dealers.” USA Today, [3/11/21]

The Enhanced Background Checks Act Would Extend The Period For Gun Background Checks From 3 Days Under Current Law To Close The “Charleston Loophole,” Named For The 2015 Mass Shooting There. “The House passed two bills Thursday that would tighten gun sales regulations, sending the measures to a divided Senate. H.R. 8 would expand background checks on individuals seeking to purchase or transfer firearms, and the Enhanced Background Checks Act of 2021 would close the ‘Charleston loophole,’ a gap in federal law that lets gun sales proceed without a completed background check if three business days have passed [...] The other bill passed Thursday, H.R. 1446, is linked to a shooting in 2015 in Charleston, South Carolina, where a white supremacist used the loophole to obtain firearms he used to kill nine Black people during a Bible study at Mother Emanuel AME Church..” USA Today, [3/11/21]

- Dylann Roof, Who Killed Nine People At The Mother Emanuel Church, Had Been Allowed To Purchase A Gun Despite A Prior Arrest For Drug Possession Because His Background Check Had Taken Longer Than Three Days To Complete. “The legislation addresses a loophole in current law that enables some firearms to be transferred by licensed gun dealers before the required background checks have been completed, a loophole that allowed Dylann Roof to buy a gun in 2015 and kill nine people at Mother Emanuel Church -- one of the most well known historically black churches in Charleston, South Carolina. Due to Roof’s prior admission during an arrest that he was in possession of drugs, he should not have been permitted to buy the gun he used in the massacre. However, an agent working for the FBI’s background check system who was performing the review on Roof failed to contact Columbia, South Carolina, police, who arrested Roof, in part because of a clerical error in records listing the wrong agency. Because Roof’s background check took longer than three days to complete, the gun shop owner was allowed to sell the gun to Roof. The law permits gun sellers to sell guns if a background check takes longer than three days to complete.” CNN, [2/28/19]

That’s the result of what many see as a flaw in the FBI’s National Instant Criminal Background Check System (NICS). At licensed firearm dealers—but not private shows or sales, including those facilitated online—a background check is required to determine the prospective buyer’s eligibility. Data show that roughly 90 percent of these checks come back with an answer immediately, but the remainder are delayed so the FBI can further investigate eligibility.” Time, [10/4/16]

Stabilizing Braces Turn Pistols Into Short-Barreled Rifles, Which Are “Some Of The Most Lethal” Guns On The Market

Stabilizing Braces Turn Pistols Into Short-Barreled Rifles. “Today, the Department of Justice announced it has submitted to the Federal Register the ‘Stabilizing Braces’ Final Rule, which makes clear that when manufacturers, dealers, and individuals use stabilizing braces to convert pistols into rifles with a barrel of less than 16 inches, commonly referred to as a short-barreled rifles, they must comply with the laws that regulate those rifles, including the National Firearms Act (NFA). In April 2021, at an event with President Biden, the Attorney General directed the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives (ATF) to address the issue of stabilizing braces.” Department Of Justice, Press Release, [1/13/23]

Short Barreled Rifles Are More Destructive Than Other Rifles And Pistoles But Are Easier To Conceal. ““This rule enhances public safety and prevents people from circumventing the laws Congress passed almost a century ago. In the days of Al Capone, Congress said back then that short-barreled rifles and sawed-off shotguns should be subjected to greater legal requirements than most other guns. The reason for that is that short-barreled rifles have the greater capability of long guns, yet are easier to conceal, like a pistol,’ said ATF Director Steven Dettelbach. ‘But certain so-called stabilizing braces are designed to just attach to pistols, essentially converting them into short-barreled rifles to be fired from the shoulder. Therefore, they must be treated in the same way under the statute.’” Department Of Justice, Press Release, [1/13/23]

Everytown For Gun Safety: Short-Barreled Rifles “Are Some Of The Most Lethal And Highly Regulated Guns On The Market.” ““Arm braces — which allow people to better control large pistols with just one hand — started as a tool for disabled shooters, but were quickly exploited by the gun industry as a way to get around restrictions on short-barreled rifles, which are some of the most lethal and highly regulated guns on the market,’ said John Feinblatt, president of Everytown for Gun Safety. ‘We applaud the Biden-Harris Administration for properly classifying highly lethal weapons according to the law, which is the very definition of a common-sense gun regulation.’” Everytown, Press Release, [1/13/23]

Brady: “Pistols Fixed With Such ‘Stabilizing Braces’ Greatly Enhance Their Lethality” “Kris Brown, president of Brady, said: ‘For too long the gun industry has undermined laws regulating short-barreled rifles through the sale of accessories erroneously marketed as ‘stabilizing braces,’ and Brady is appalled at the U.S. House of Representatives’ reckless action to rescind this long overdue regulation.’ ‘Pistols fixed with such ‘stabilizing braces’ greatly enhance their lethality and make them appealing to mass shooters, as we unfortunately witnessed just a few months ago in Nashville. These accessories that turn pistols into short-barreled rifles should be subjected to the same regulations that govern the sale of similar firearms, including Brady Background Checks.” Brady, Press Release, [6/13/23]

In Response To The DOJ’s Rule Regulating Stabilizing Braces, Molinaro Voted In Favor Of A Bill Overturning This Rule

Molinaro Voted For A Bill That Would Nullify The DOJ’s Higher Regulations For Stabilizing Braces. In June 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the joint resolution that would provide for congressional disapproval of the January 2023 Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives rule that expands the definition of a ‘short-barreled rifle’ to include a pistol equipped with a stabilizing brace attachment. The rule also subjects such firearms to heightened regulations under the National Firearms Act, including taxation, identification and registration requirements, and as of May 31, 2023 required owners to register, modify or destroy such firearms. Under the provisions of the joint resolution, the ATF rule would have no force or effect.” The resolution passed by a vote of 219-210. H.J. Res. 44, [Vote #252, 6/13/23; CQ, 6/13/23]

Molinaro has refused to take contributions from the NRA, and doesn't seek a positive rating from it. His gun control plan is to get all sides, including gun owners, to work together toward a common goal of ending mass gun attacks. He has acknowledged that the longtime GOP mantra to repeal the SAFE Act is unlikely because of a Democratic-controlled Assembly. Molinaro, however, still walks a fine line on the issue critical to a shrinking segment of his base. ‘We need to talk about violence and how to confront that,’ said Molinaro, who voted against the SAFE Act as an assemblyman. His current position could draw interest from independent voters and Democrats who support the law, political analysts say.”[Newsday, 9/30/18]

The New York State Rifle And Pistol Association Sued New York State And Went To The Supreme Court Over New York's Limits On Carrying Guns Outside The Home. “The Supreme Court said on Monday that it would review a longstanding New York law that imposes strict limits on carrying guns outside the home, setting the stage for its first major Second Amendment decision in more than a decade — and the first to be decided by the

court's newly expanded conservative majority [...] The new case is a challenge to a New York law that requires people seeking a license to carry a gun outside their homes to show a 'proper cause.' Two men denied licenses, along with the New York State Rifle & Pistol Association, sued, saying 'the state makes it virtually impossible for the ordinary law-abiding citizen to obtain a license.' Molinaro Opposed The SAFE Act, A Landmark Gun Safety Bill In New York

2013: The SAFE Act Took Effect And Imposed New Comprehensive Gun Safety Measures

2013: The SAFE Act Barred The Mentally Ill And Felons From Accessing Guns, Banned High Capacity Magazines And Assault Weapons, Expanded Background Checks, And Imposed Stricter Penalties On Those Violating The Law. “Below are FAQ intended to help gun owners in New York understand and comply with the NY SAFE Act enacted on January 15, 2013 [...] The NY SAFE Act is designed to make New York a safer place to live by reducing gun violence through common sense and reasonable reforms. The law respects the right to bear arms and the interest of hunters, sportsmen, and legal owners who use their guns appropriately. The law protects New Yorkers by: Keeping guns out of the hands of convicted felons and potentially dangerous mental health patients. Banning high capacity magazines and assault weapons. Molinaro Said He Opposed The SAFE Act Because It Infringed On The Second Amendment. “While critical of the state's Secure Ammunition and Firearms Enforcement Act of 2013, Molinaro said he was in favor of aspects of the regulation, including not allowing people with a mental illness or a violent criminal record to buy firearms. ‘Certainly, if there is a defined mental illness, if there is a defined mental-health concern, if there is a record of violent or dangerous criminality, you should not have access to a firearm,’ he said. ‘Of course, there needs to be appropriate background checks to ensure that those who have those (criminal) records or at least potential of those activities have those rights precluded.’ But he said there needs to be a respect for the Second Amendment, which is impeded by the SAFE Act as is. ‘There needs to be a healthy respect that there is a constitutional right that is afforded people,’ he said. ‘And, in the rest of the state of New York, outside of the city of New York, there is a feeling that the state is coming for innocent people. Which it did.’ Molinaro went on to criticize the SAFE Act for a weak mental-health component and argued it did not preserve due process.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/3/18]

Molinaro Said Cuomo Was Too “Aggressive” On Gun Control, And Implied That Cuomo Was “Irresponsibly Ignoring” Second Amendment Supporters. “Molinaro did not answer a question about Cuomo’s gun control measures, including an expanded ban of assault weapons, known as the SAFE Act. While the governor has frequently touted the legislation as one of his main achievements, and New York City residents largely support it, it is considered highly unpopular upstate. [...] Republican Marc Molinaro, the Dutchess County executive who is running for the 19th Congressional District seat, which was vacated with Antonio Delgado’s appointment to lieutenant governor, said he is open to conversations about access to firearms if the dialogue includes a focus on better identifying potential gun owners who display warning signs. ‘I don’t embrace increased gun control, but what I do embrace is meeting this moment with a commitment to identify the resources and invest those resources in preventing crime and violence,’ Molinaro said following Tuesday’s press conference about milk. ‘I’m all for having a dialogue about who should have access to firearms, but I am focused on - and will remain focused on - making the investment not in nebulous mental health, but in identifying the characteristics and the traits of individuals - most of them young males - who act out violently.’” Daily Gazette, [6/1/22]

Molinaro Supported Parts Of The AHCA, The Republican Bill To Repeal And Replace The Affordable Care Act

Molinaro Supported The Faso-Collins Amendment To The AHCA, The Republican Bill To Replace The Affordable Care Act, Because He Claimed It Lowered Taxes. “Mr. Molinaro, a Republican in the Hudson Valley, said he was concerned about the impact of a potential repeal of the Affordable Care Act. Still, he supports the Faso-Collins component of the Republican bill, citing the financial strains on county taxpayers. ‘We have to make a commitment to lower the tax levy dollar for dollar,’ Mr. Molinaro said. ‘it wouldn’t be appropriate to not reduce property taxes.’” New York Times, [7/4/17]

- Molinaro Claimed 37 Percent Of Dutchess County’s Tax Levy Went To Paying For Medicaid. “In Dutchess County, 37 percent of the county tax levy, roughly $40 million, goes to the state for Medicaid. The county executive, Marcus J. Molinaro, said he wanted to use any savings from the Faso-Collins amendment to lower property taxes ‘dollar for dollar.’ Molinaro received food stamps as a child, and his daughter, who has autism, now benefits from Medicaid’s services for the disabled. So Molinaro, a Republican in the Hudson Valley, said he was concerned about the impact of a potential repeal of the Affordable Care Act. Still, he supports the Faso-Collins component of the Republican bill, citing the financial strains on county taxpayers. ‘We have to make a commitment to lower the tax levy dollar for dollar,’ Molinaro said. ‘It wouldn’t be appropriate to not reduce property taxes.’” New York Times, [7/4/17]

The Faso-Collins Amendment Would Have Shifted The Cost Of Medicaid Solely To New York State And Would Have Resulted In State Tax Increases, Major Cuts To Health Care, Or Both, Because Of The Loss Of $2.3 Billion In Federal Aid

The Faso-Collins Amendment Would Have Taken The Cost Of Medicaid Away From New York Counties And Placed It On New York State. “That is the so-called Faso-Collins amendment, which would end a funding formula that for 50 years forced New York’s 62 counties to help pay for Medicaid, the public health insurance program largely for low-income people. The state’s counties currently pick up 13 percent of the total cost of Medicaid, far more than counties in other states pay, if they pay anything at all. The amendment, sponsored by Representatives Christopher C. Collins and John J. Faso, both upstate Republicans, would eliminate the burden for the counties — excluding New York City’s five boroughs.” New York Times, [7/4/17]

New York Times: Faso-Collins “Could Shift Costs To State Taxpayers” And Cost NY $2.3 Billion In Matching Federal Aid. “House Republican leaders, trying to lock down the votes of wavering upstate New York Republicans, inserted a last-minute special provision in their health care bill that would shift Medicaid costs from New York’s counties to its state government. The move — one of a number of late changes designed to gain more votes — would affect New York State only. It could save county governments outside of New York City $2.3 billion a year. But it could shift costs to state taxpayers or deny New York that same total in matching federal aid if the state continues to require those counties to contribute to the cost of Medicaid. Upstate New York Republicans, backed by local government officials, pressed for the measure over the angry opposition of New York’s Democratic governor, Andrew M. Cuomo.” The New York Times, [3/20/17]

Healthcare Advocates Warned Faso-Collins Would Only Shift Costs From Counties To The State, Threatened Hospitals And Their Patients. “Kenneth E. Raske, the president of the Greater New York Hospital Association, said the provision would be harmful to hospitals and Medicaid beneficiaries. ‘Rather than providing relief for county taxpayers,’ Mr. Raske said, ‘the state would surely respond to the lack of federal revenue through huge spending cuts,’ and those cuts could pose a risk to hospitals and their patients. Bea Grause, the president of the Healthcare Association of New York State, said the provision being added to the House bill might give ‘the appearance of tax relief,’ but would really just amount to shifting costs from counties to the state, while still leaving patients in need of care. She, too, warned of a devastating effect on hospitals in New York. ‘It adds insult to injury,’ she said.” The New York Times, [3/20/17]

Molinaro Conceded ACA Repeal Would Result In $2.3 Billion In Lost Revenue, But Claimed It Could Be Offset By Addressing Waste And Inefficiencies

Molinaro Claimed That The $2.3 Billion In Lost Revenue From Counties Could Be Offset By Addressing Waste And Inefficiencies. “Mr. Molinaro and many other county officials argued that much of the $2.3 billion in lost revenue from counties could be offset by addressing waste and inefficiencies in the state’s Medicaid program.” New York Times, [7/4/17]

There Were No Efficiencies Left In Medicaid That Would Make Up For $2.3 Billion In Funding Cuts.

New York Began A “Monumental Medicaid Redesign” In 2011 That Is Expected To Save The State $17.1 Billion. “New York is midway through a monumental initiative begun in 2011 to redesign the costly Medicaid program, the largest purchaser of health services in the state for its 6.2 million beneficiaries [...] New York received a waiver in 2015 from the federal government that allows the state to keep $8 billion of $17.1 billion in savings the state expects to see over five years from Medicaid reform. The state plans to reinvest the money in projects that seek to reduce avoidable hospital use by 25 percent and that transition most hospital and doctor Medicaid payments from fee-for-service to a value system tied to performance goals.” The Buffalo News, [5/10/17]

Medicaid Directors: “No Amount Of Administrative Or Regulatory Flexibility Can Compensate” For Republican Healthcare Bill’s Medicaid Funding Cuts. “Medicaid Directors have long advocated for meaningful reform of the program. States continue to innovate with the tools they have, but federal changes are necessary to improve effectiveness and efficiency of the program. However, these changes must be made thoughtfully and deliberately to ensure the continued provision of quality, cost-effective care. Medicaid Directors have asked for, and are appreciative of, improved working relationships with HHS and are working hard to streamline and improve the administration of the program [...] However, no amount of administrative or regulatory flexibility can compensate for the federal spending reductions that would occur as a result of this bill. Changes in the federal responsibility for financing the program must be accompanied by clearly articulated statutory changes to Medicaid to enable states to operate effectively under a cap. The Senate bill does not accomplish that. It would be a transfer of risk, responsibility, and cost to the states of historic proportions.” National Association of Medicaid Directors, Press Release, [6/26/17]

Medicaid Insurers: “There Are No Hidden Efficiencies That States Can Use To Address” Republican Healthcare Bill’s Medicaid Cuts “Without Harming Beneficiaries.” “In the case of the Senate health-care bill, some insurers didn’t even wait for the official release before expressing their concerns. This week, the heads of 10 managed care organizations — which help deliver Medicaid benefits around the country — told Senate leaders they are ‘united in our opposition to the Medicaid policies currently being debated by the Senate.’ [...] The managed care executives called this ‘an enormous cost shift to states’ that will require them to raise taxes, cut benefits, narrow eligibility or lower reimbursements to health-care providers. ‘There are no hidden efficiencies that states can use to address gaps of this magnitude without harming beneficiaries or imposing undue burden to our health care system and all U.S. taxpayers,’ the executives wrote.” Washington Post, [6/22/17]

The AHCA Was Projected To Result In Coverage Loss For Millions, Including 1.2 Million New Yorkers And Threaten Coverage for More Than 8 Million New Yorkers With Pre-Existing Conditions

The CBO Estimated 14 Million More People Would Be Uninsured In 2018 If AHCA Became Law, With 23 Million More Uninsured By 2026. “CBO and JCT estimate that, in 2018, 14 million more people would be uninsured under H.R. 1628 than under current law. The increase in the number of uninsured people relative to the number under current law would reach 19 million in 2020 and 23 million in 2026 (see Table 4, at the end of this document).” CBO, [5/24/17]

Labor

Molinaro Voted For The Passage Of The Bill Allowing Employers More Flexibility In Deciding What Type Of Healthcare To Provide Employees

Molinaro Voted For The Passage Of The Bill Allowing Employers More Flexibility In Deciding What Type Of Healthcare To Provide Employees. In June 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would create additional flexibilities for employers providing health insurance. The bill would allow groups of employers to establish and maintain group health plans for employees. It would require such groups to provide coverage to at least 51 employees and to have been in existence for at least two years prior to establishing the health plan. It would allow self-employed individuals to establish a group for the purpose of maintaining a group health plan. The bill would also allow employer-financed health reimbursement arrangements (HRA) to be used by employees to purchase insurance plans on state exchanges. It would also deem such HRAs compliant with requirements under current law for employers to provide health insurance coverage. To be eligible, it would require employers to offer the same HRA plan to all employees of a certain class, as defined by the bill, including full- and part-time employees, employees under the same collective bargaining agreement, and non-resident alien employees. It would also require employers to give eligible employees 90 days' written notice prior to the beginning of the plan year of their rights and obligations. Among other provisions, the bill would rescind $245 million in fiscal 2024 from the Health and Human Services Department's Prevention and Public Health Fund, specify that stop-loss policies obtained by a self-insured group health plan or plan sponsor do not qualify as health insurance coverage under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, and require the Treasury Department, within one year of enactment, to notify employers of the availability of tax-advantaged flexible health insurance benefits, with an initial focus on small businesses. HR 3799 also contains the text of the Small Business Flexibility Act (HR 3798), the Association Health Plans Act (HR 2868) and the Self-Insurance Protection Act (HR 2813). The New York State Health Exchange Was Required In Order To Implement The Affordable Care Act, And Opposed By Republicans Who Did Not Approve Of The ACA

The Affordable Care Act Required States To Create An Insurance Exchange By 2014 Or Have The Federal Government Do So.

“The health care law requires each state to put an insurance exchange in place by 2014, and gives the federal government the power to do so in states that do not act on their own. Mr. Cuomo, unable to win support for the exchange in the State Senate, vowed to move ahead unilaterally, and on Thursday, he signed the order to set up the exchange within the State Health Department, rather than as a separate state entity, as his original legislation had sought to do.” New York Times, [4/12/12]

New York Senate Republicans Blocked The Bill To Establish The Health Care Exchange Because Approval Of The Exchange Meant Approval Of The Affordable Care Act.

“As he issued an executive order to establish a health insurance exchange, an online marketplace where individuals and small businesses can choose among competing health insurance plans, Mr. Cuomo said it would drive down the cost of insurance while helping the 2.7 million uninsured New Yorkers get affordable coverage. For nearly a year, Mr. Cuomo asked the Legislature to set up the exchange. But the Republican majority in the State Senate refused to consider the measure, arguing that approving the exchange would amount to condoning the law, the Affordable Care Act, which they deride as Obamacare.” New York Times, [4/12/12]

NBC: The Inflation Reduction Act “Is Set To Lower The Cost Of Prescription Drugs.” “The Inflation Reduction Act, signed into law by President Joe Biden, is set to lower the cost of prescription drugs — including cancer medications, blood thinners and insulin — for millions of Americans, experts say. Exorbitant drug prices in the United States are a key reason many people in the U.S. are forced to skip or delay filling their needed prescriptions. A Kaiser Family Foundation poll published last month found that nearly 1 in 2 adults report difficulty affording their health care expenses, including their prescribed medications.” NBC, [8/16/22]

The Inflation Reduction Act Capped Out-Of-Pocket Costs At $2,000 For Seniors Under Medicare Part D.

“Medicare is poised to renegotiate the prices of some of its most expensive drugs through a historic expansion of its power, which could reduce costs for many seniors as well as federal spending on its prescription drug plan. The changes are tucked inside a massive spending-and-tax bill in Congress that includes $433 billion in investments in health-care and clean energy. House Democrats passed the Inflation Reduction Act on Friday in a 220 to 207 vote along party lines, ending a tortured legislative process that took more than a year. The bill empowers the Health and Human Services Secretary to negotiate prices for certain drugs covered under two different parts of Medicare and punish pharmaceutical companies that don’t play by the rules. The legislation also caps out-of-pocket costs at $2,000 starting in 2025 for people who participate in Medicare Part D, the prescription drug plan for seniors.” CNBC, [8/12/22]

[...] Here are the main elements of the health care portions of the new law. [...] Beginning in October, if the price of a Part D prescription drug is raised by more than the rate of general inflation, the drugmaker will have to rebate to Medicare the amount of the increase above the inflation rate. Rebates for higher-than-inflation price hikes for medications covered under Medicare Part B (usually office-based infusions, such as for cancer drugs) will begin in January 2023.” AARP, [8/16/22]

IRA Capped Copays For Insulin At $35 For Medicare Patients. “A new legislative package signed into law by President Joe Biden on Tuesday is a big win for Medicare patients who struggle to cover the cost of insulin to manage their diabetes. But the bill, called the Inflation Reduction Act, falls short of applying those cost controls to the broader patient population who rely on insulin. The bill limits insulin copays to $35 per month for Medicare Part D beneficiaries starting in 2023. Notably, seniors covered by Medicare also have a $2,000 annual out-of-pocket cap on Part D prescription drugs starting in 2025. Molinaro Opposed The Build Back Better Act, Which Would Lower Prescription Drug Prices

In A Press Release, Molinaro Called The Build Back Better Act A “Tax And Spend Bill” That Would Increase The Size Of “A Bloated Federal Government.” “With Americans paying more for everything from groceries to gas, Democrats just pushed through a tax and spend bill that will only inflate the inflation problem - leading to even higher taxes, costs and prices for families, farmers and small businesses. We can’t afford to pay more to feed our families or heat our homes – all to cover the cost of massive increases in the size, scale and scope of a bloated Federal government. We don’t need a bigger, more invasive IRS. We don’t need hundreds of new government agencies. We need competent leadership that knows a bigger, more expensive government isn’t a better one. The Build Back Better Act Would Lower Prescription Drug Prices, Including By Allowing The Government To Negotiate Drug Prices For Certain Drugs

Kaiser Family Foundation: The Build Back Better Act Would Lower Prescription Drug Costs By Allowing The Government To Negotiate Drug Prices, Require Inflation Rebates To Limit Price Increases, Cap Out-Of-Pocket Spending For Medicare Part D Enrollees, And Limit Cost Sharing For Insulin. “On November 19, 2021, the House of Representatives passed H.R. 5376, the Build Back Better Act (BBBA), which includes a broad package of health, social, and environmental proposals supported by President Biden. The BBBA includes several provisions that would lower prescription drug costs for people with Medicare and private insurance and reduce drug spending by the federal government and private payers. These proposals have taken shape amidst strong bipartisan, public support for the government to address high and rising drug prices. CBO estimates that the drug pricing provisions in the BBBA would reduce the federal deficit by $297 billion over 10 years (2022-2031). The key prescription drug proposals included in the BBBA would: Allow the federal government to negotiate prices for some high-cost drugs covered under Medicare Part B and Part D, Require inflation rebates to limit annual increases in drug prices in Medicare and private insurance, Cap out-of-pocket spending for Medicare Part D enrollees and other Part D benefit design changes, Limit cost sharing for insulin for people with Medicare and private insurance, Eliminate cost sharing for adult vaccines covered under Part D, Repeal the Trump Administration’s drug rebate rule.” Kaiser Family Foundation, [11/23/21]

In December 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Rodgers, R-Wash., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would extend, for just over two years, funding for several public health programs, including community health centers, and it includes a wide range of provisions intended to help reduce consumer health care and drug costs by increasing pricing transparency and requiring certain other actions. Among other provisions, it would require health insurance companies and pharmacy benefit managers to regularly provide detailed information on prescription drug costs and the drug rebates they receive to provide pricing transparency, and it codifies and expands two sets of Trump administration pricing transparency rules — one dealing with hospital pricing transparency, which it extends to other medical facilities while incorporating new enforcement mechanisms, and the other focused on pricing transparency for employer-based group health plans and insurers. The bill would also prohibit certain pharmacy benefit manager pricing practices with respect to Medicaid, and it includes provisions intended to reduce health care costs for individuals, employer-sponsored health plans, and the federal government. To implement the bill's provisions, the measure would provide a total of $65 million for the Health and Human Services and Treasury departments, and $35 million for the Labor Department.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 320-71. Affordable Housing

Molinaro Voted To Suspend The Debt Limit, Raising Housing Costs For Thousands

2023: Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act

2023: Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act, Suspending The Debt Limit Through March 2024 Or Until $1.5 Trillion Has Been Reached And Capping Federal Spending For FY 2024 At 2022 Levels With A Capped 1% Per Year Growth. In April 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would suspend the statutory limit on federal debt through March 31, 2024, or until an additional $1.5 trillion has been borrowed — whichever occurs first. It would also include a range of provisions to limit federal spending, as well as the text of a previously passed energy and permitting policy package. The bill would set base discretionary spending limits through fiscal 2033, capping spending for fiscal 2024 at the fiscal 2022 level of $1.47 trillion — a reduction from current spending levels — and raising the cap by 1 percent annually through fiscal 2033. It would also include similar annual cap adjustments for specified programs, including for wildfire suppression, disability reviews and redeterminations, health care fraud and abuse control, and disaster reemployment services and eligibility assessments. The bill would rescind unobligated amounts from various funds provided by the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package (PL 117-169) for COVID-19 relief, IRS enforcement, and certain climate- and infrastructure-focused initiatives, as well as all unobligated funding from the March 2021 coronavirus relief reconciliation package (PL 117-2) and earlier coronavirus response laws. The bill would expand or establish work requirements for Medicaid beneficiaries aged 19 to 55 and raise from 49 to 55 the oldest age at which existing work requirements would apply for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program beneficiaries. It would also modify various work standards for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program, including to update the baseline for calculating certain state workforce participation standards and require states to collect certain data related to work outcomes for TANF participants. To limit regulatory spending, the bill would nullify pending executive actions suspending student loan payments and prohibit the Education Department from implementing any substantially similar actions without congressional approval. It would also establish a process to require congressional approval of all “major” federal rules that would have an annual impact of at least $100 million, cause a major increase in prices, or cause significant adverse effects to economic competitiveness. Among energy- and climate-focused provisions, the bill would repeal, phase out or narrow a variety of climate-focused tax credits under the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package, including repealing new credits for solar and wind projects, sustainable aviation fuel and clean fuel production. It would also include the full text of the House-passed energy and permitting package (HR 1) that would require a number of actions to boost the domestic production of fossil fuels and certain critical minerals and accelerate the construction of natural gas pipelines and other energy infrastructure, while reversing or repealing certain presidential actions taken and laws enacted during the Biden administration related to energy policy and climate change.” The bill passed by a vote of 217-215. Molinaro Voted For House Republicans’ Failed Funding Bill And Praised Its Spending Cuts

9/29/23: Molinaro Voted For Passing The Republican-Backed Continuing Resolution. In September 2023, Molinaro voted for “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide funding for federal government operations and services through Oct. 31, 2023, with a 29.9 percent cut from fiscal 2023 levels for most programs. It would fund veterans’ programs, the Department of Homeland Security, national security programs and disaster assistance at full fiscal 2023 levels. It would also implement nearly all provisions of House Republicans’ border security and immigration bill (HR 2), which the House passed in May 2023. It would provide an increase in funding for the Defense Department at rates set forth in House Republicans’ fiscal 2024 defense appropriations bill (HR 4365), which would provide for a 3.6 percent funding increase over fiscal 2023. It would also provide funding increases for the Agriculture Department and provide an additional $220 million above fiscal 2023 levels for Energy Department nuclear programs. Among its border security and immigration provisions, it would require DHS, within seven days of enactment, to resume all activities related to “border wall” construction on the U.S.-Mexico border that were underway or planned prior to Jan. 20, 2021; require DHS to reopen or restore, no later than Sept. 30, 2023, the use of all Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention facilities that were in operation on Jan. 20, 2021; and require DHS to return all unaccompanied children to their country of origin, regardless of whether they are from a contiguous country to the U.S. In addition to provisions of HR 2, it would place limitations on the use of DHS funding provided by the bill, including prohibitions on removing existing U.S.-Mexico border barriers, transporting inadmissible adults into the U.S., and the use of Customs and Border Protection’s “CBP One” app to facilitate the parole of an individual into the U.S. It also would prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to initiate or resume any project or activity not funded during fiscal 2023 and would establish a congressional fiscal commission tasked with identifying policies to “improve the fiscal situation.” The bill was rejected by a vote of 198-232. Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act, Which Cut Funding For Public Safety And Border Security By Billions

April 2023: Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act

April 2023: Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act [DOA] – Suspending The Debt Limit Through March 2024 Or Until $1.5 Trillion Has Been Reached And Capping Federal Spending For FY 2024 At 2022 Levels With A Capped 1% Per Year Growth. In April 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would suspend the statutory limit on federal debt through March 31, 2024, or until an additional $1.5 trillion has been borrowed — whichever occurs first. It would also include a range of provisions to limit federal spending, as well as the text of a previously passed energy and permitting policy package. The bill would set base discretionary spending limits through fiscal 2033, capping spending for fiscal 2024 at the fiscal 2022 level of $1.47 trillion — a reduction from current spending levels — and raising the cap by 1 percent annually through fiscal 2033. It would also include similar annual cap adjustments for specified programs, including for wildfire suppression, disability reviews and redeterminations, health care fraud and abuse control, and disaster reemployment services and eligibility assessments. The bill would rescind unobligated amounts from various funds provided by the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package (PL 117-169) for COVID-19 relief, IRS enforcement, and certain climate- and infrastructure-focused initiatives, as well as all unobligated funding from the March 2021

coronavirus relief reconciliation package (PL 117-2) and earlier coronavirus response laws. The bill would expand or establish work requirements for Medicaid beneficiaries aged 19 to 55 and raise from 49 to 55 the oldest age at which existing work requirements would apply for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program beneficiaries. It would also modify various work standards for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program, including to update the baseline for calculating certain state workforce participation standards and require states to collect certain data related to work outcomes for TANF participants. To limit regulatory spending, the bill would nullify pending executive actions suspending student loan payments and prohibit the Education Department from implementing any substantially similar actions without congressional approval. It would also establish a process to require congressional approval of all “major” federal rules that would have an annual impact of at least $100 million, cause a major increase in prices, or cause significant adverse effects to economic competitiveness. Among energy- and climate-focused provisions, the bill would repeal, phase out or narrow a variety of climate-focused tax credits under the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package, including repealing new credits for solar and wind projects, sustainable aviation fuel and clean fuel production. It would also include the full text of the House-passed energy and permitting package (HR 1) that would require a number of actions to boost the domestic production of fossil fuels and certain critical minerals and accelerate the construction of natural gas pipelines and other energy infrastructure, while reversing or repealing certain presidential actions taken and laws enacted during the Biden administration related to energy policy and climate change.” The bill passed by a vote of 217-215. The Default On America Act Cut $17 Billion In Funding For Public Safety. “The GOP Default on America Act’s 22% spending cut would slash nearly $17 billion in funding for federal law enforcement, courts, and prisons that support public safety. Republicans are gambling with Americans’ safety by threatening to not raise the debt limit. After attacking Democrats for ‘defunding the police,’ this bill cuts the Department of Justice’s budget by over $8 billion and threatens nearly 30,000 law enforcement jobs. The DOA Act cuts nearly $1 billion in grants for state, local, and tribal law enforcement. The bill cuts $1 billion in FBI funding that the agency uses to conduct background checks, solve violent crimes, and combat terrorism. This includes $150 million in cuts to programs created by the Violence Against Women Act, which will especially harm women in Native communities. It eliminates $564 million in funding for the Drug Enforcement Administration, and $384 million more from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives.” Joint Economic Committee, Press Release, [4/26/23]

The Default On America Act Cut Billions In Funding From Border Security

The Default On America Act Cut $3.8 Billion In Funding For U.S. Customs And Border Protection And Almost $2 Billion From U.S. Immigrations And Customs Enforcement. ‘The GOP Default on America Act’s 22% spending cut would slash nearly $17 billion in funding for federal law enforcement, courts, and prisons that support public safety. Republicans are gambling with Americans’ safety by threatening to not raise the debt limit. [...] After endless rhetoric about the border, the GOP plan guts funding for border security. The bill cuts over $3.8 billion in funding for U.S. Customs and Border Protection and almost $2 billion from U.S. Immigrations and

Customs Enforcement. The DOA would reject President Biden's $4.7 billion proposed investment to strengthen security at the Southwestern Border. This plan shrinks investments in the science and technology that make the Department of Homeland Security more effective by almost $200 million.' The Default On America Threatened The Jobs Of 2,000 Border Patrol Agents. "The White House ripped House Republicans for the debt ceiling legislation they passed last month, arguing spending cuts in the bill would be a 'gut punch' to border agents. The bill would raise the debt ceiling, but also makes good on Republicans' promise to cut spending. Democrats, who in the Senate have signaled they will not consider the House bill, have gone on the offense on the spending cuts. The White House dubbed the bill the 'Default on America Act.' [...] Bates claimed that the bill, if enacted, would result in the termination of 2,000 Border Patrol agents, slash the budget of the Drug Enforcement Agency and allow 150,000 pounds of cocaine, 900 pounds of fentanyl, 2,000 pounds of heroin and 17,000 pounds of methamphetamine into the U.S." The Hill, [5/14/23]

Senate Immigration Deal

In recent weeks, Trump has been lobbying Republicans both in private conversations and in public statements on social media to oppose the border compromise being delicately hashed out in the Senate, according to GOP sources familiar with the conversations – in part because he wants to campaign on the issue this November and doesn't want President Joe Biden to score a victory in an area where he is politically vulnerable." 'Somebody should ask the president why he wouldn't use the law that's already on his side,' Rep. Marc Molinaro, R-N.Y., another Republican representing a Biden-won district, said. Border Security Act

Molinaro Said Upstate New York Had The Right To See The Passage Of The Border Security Act

Molinaro Said Upstate New York Had The Right To See The Passage Of The Border Security Act Or Else They Would Have Migrants Transported To Their Counties. "U.S. Rep. Marc Molinaro on Monday urged elected officials including President Biden to 'stop trying to score points' and stand up to the immigration crisis and other challenges facing New York and the rest of the nation. [...] Molinaro wants the Senate to approve the Border Security Act, which has been passed in the House. The legislation aims at reducing the migrant influx by 70%, expanding the vetting process and banning cities from transporting migrants to small communities. Upstate New York has every right to see this bill passed, or else they will have individuals being transported to their counties that don't have the capacity to handle a big influx of migrants, Molinaro said." Molinaro Voted For The Border Security Act To Continue Construction Of The Border Wall

Molinaro Voted For A Continuing Resolution Which Included Resuming All Activities Related To “Border Wall” Construction On The U.S.-Mexico Border. In September 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide funding for federal government operations and services through Oct. 31, 2023, with a 29.9 percent cut from fiscal 2023 levels for most programs. It would fund veterans’ programs, the Department of Homeland Security, national security programs and disaster assistance at full fiscal 2023 levels. It would also implement nearly all provisions of House Republicans’ border security and immigration bill (HR 2), which the House passed in May 2023. It would provide an increase in funding for the Defense Department at rates set forth in House Republicans’ fiscal 2024 defense appropriations bill (HR 4365), which would provide for a 3.6 percent funding increase over fiscal 2023. It would also provide funding increases for the Agriculture Department and provide an additional $220 million above fiscal 2023 levels for Energy Department nuclear programs. Among its border security and immigration provisions, it would require DHS, within seven days of enactment, to resume all activities related to “border wall” construction on the U.S.-Mexico border that were underway or planned prior to Jan. 20, 2021; require DHS to reopen or restore, no later than Sept. 30, 2023, the use of all Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention facilities that were in operation on Jan. 20, 2021; and require DHS to return all unaccompanied children to their country of origin, regardless of whether they are from a contiguous country to the U.S. In addition to provisions of HR 2, it would place limitations on the use of DHS funding provided by the bill, including prohibitions on removing existing U.S.-Mexico border barriers, transporting inadmissible adults into the U.S., and the use of Customs and Border Protection’s “CBP One” app to facilitate the parole of an individual into the U.S. It also would prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to initiate or resume any project or activity not funded during fiscal 2023 and would establish a congressional fiscal commission tasked with identifying policies to “improve the fiscal situation.” The bill was rejected by a vote of 198-232. Molinaro Voted For Requiring Homeland Security To Take Actions To Limit Illegal Immigration And Resuming Construction Of The "Border Wall" At The Southwestern Border. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would require the Homeland Security Department to take a number of actions to limit illegal immigration into the United States, including by resuming construction of the ‘border wall’ along the southwestern border, bolstering Customs and Border Protection, reopening border detention facilities, limiting asylum applications and eligibility, and establishing a mandatory employment verification system. To enhance physical border security, the bill would require DHS to resume all previously planned border wall construction on the U.S.-Mexico border. It would require DHS to design, install and operate at least 900 total miles of physical barriers and other infrastructure and technology along the border, until the department achieves ‘operational control’ of the border, defined under current law as the prevention of all unlawful entries into the country. To bolster operations and capacity of Customs and Border Protection, the bill would require CBP to maintain at least 22,000 full-time agents by Sept. 30, 2025, and authorize up to $100 million for agent retention bonuses. It would authorize $110 million annually through fiscal 2028 for new DHS grants to law enforcement agencies in border states to assist with CBP operations. It would authorize funding for CBP to upgrade license plate readers and install cameras, microphones, and surveillance and intrusion detection systems at the northern and southern borders. It would require CBP to issue and regularly update a strategic plan to enhance U.S. border security, including to address security gaps between ports of entry, staffing requirements and information sharing. It would require DHS to ensure that the CBP Air and Marine Operations carries out at least 110,000 flight hours annually and operates unmanned aircraft systems over the southern border 24 hours per day. As amended, the bill would require Congress to commission a report that contains a national strategy to address Mexican drug cartels, including a determination of whether there should be a designation established to address such cartels. Among provisions limiting eligibility for asylum within the United States, the bill would specify that noncitizens are eligible for asylum only if they arrived at an official U.S. port of entry. It would tighten standards for determining whether an individual has a ‘credible fear of persecution’ and is persecuted as part of a ‘social group’ or based on a ‘political opinion.’ It would expand reasons disqualifying individuals from asylum eligibility, including convictions for certain offenses such as using a false ID, domestic violence, child abuse, certain drug possession or trafficking, and repeated or serious driving while intoxicated; traveling through but not seeking asylum in at least one other country party to certain refugee protection treaties; and ability to avoid persecution by relocating to another part of their home country. It would require DHS to return asylum seekers who cannot be detained to a safe third country

during their immigration proceedings. Among other immigration enforcement provisions, the bill would require DHS to reopen or restore the use of all Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention facilities that were in operation on Jan. 20, 2021. It would require DHS to detain parents and their children together and return all unaccompanied children to their country of origin. It would limit ‘parole’ authority allowing noncitizens to temporarily live and work in the U.S. allowing DHS to grant parole only on a case-by-case individual basis. The bill would require DHS to create a system based on the E-Verify pilot program to verify whether prospective employees are eligible to work in the U.S. and gradually require all employers to begin using the new system over 24 months, with 36-month deadline for agricultural sector employers.” The bill passed by a vote of 219-213. - The Border Security Bill Tightened Limits On Asylum Seekers, Requiring Them To Apply For U.S. Protection From Outside The Country. “The package, which Democrats have warned will be blocked in the Senate, would set tight limits on asylum seekers and require them to apply for U.S. protection outside the country. It also would resume construction of a wall along the border and expand federal law enforcement efforts.” Reuters, [5/12/23]
- The Bill Barred Border Agents From “Processing” Migrants, Preventing Officers From Doing Basic Tasks. “H.R. 2 — originally designed to be one of the first major pieces of legislation passed under the new Republican majority — was approved with a 219-213 vote, a day after wrangling over relatively minor sections of the bill briefly delayed its advancement. Beyond building the wall, the legislation greatly increases the hiring of border agents and seeks to bar them from doing any ‘processing’ of migrants, language Democrats said would prevent officers from doing basic tasks.” The Hill, [5/11/23]

- Leader Jeffries Called The Bill The “Child Deportation Act.” “Congressional Democrats sharply criticized the bill when House Republicans announced it at the end of April, saying it would go beyond the scope of border security and punish all noncitizens, including legal residents, trafficking victims and refugees. Reached for comment before Thursday’s vote, the office of House Minority Leader Hakeem Jeffries, D-N.Y., pointed to his comments at a news conference Wednesday, when he called the bill the ‘Child Deportation Act’ and characterized it as ‘one of the extreme MAGA Republicans’ top priorities.” NBC News, [5/11/23]
- Molinaro Voted For An Amendment To Strike A Section Of The Bill Requiring A Homeland Security Report On If Mexican Drug Cartels Can Be Designated As Foreign Terrorist Organizations. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Roy, R-Texas, amendment no. 1 to the rule including an amendment to HR 2 that would strike a section that would require the Homeland Security Department to submit a report to Congress on whether certain Mexican drug cartels meet the criteria to be designated as foreign terrorist organizations. It would instead require Congress, within 60 days of enactment, to commission a report that contains a national strategy to address Mexican drug cartels; a determination of whether there should be a designation established to address such cartels; and information on actions by such cartels that harm the U.S. It would also express the sense of Congress that, in implementing the E-Verify Program, DHS shall ensure any adverse impact on the nation’s agricultural workforce, operations and food security are considered and addressed.” The amendment was adopted by a vote of 236-190. - Molinaro Voted Against A Motion To Recommit The Secure The Border Act To Committee. In May 2023, Molinaro voted against: “Garcia, D-Texas, motion to recommit the bill to a committee.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 211-221. H.R. 2, [Vote #208, 5/11/23; CQ, 5/11/23]
- Molinaro Voted For Considering The Secure The Border Act And The Protecting Taxpayers And Victims Of Unemployment Fraud Act. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H.Res. 383), as amended, that would provide for floor consideration of the Secure the Border Act (HR 2) and the Protecting

Taxpayers and Victims of Unemployment Fraud Act (HR 1163). The rule would provide for up to five hours of debate on the Secure the Border Act and up to one hour of debate on the Protecting Taxpayers and Victims of Unemployment Fraud Act. It would provide for automatic adoption of a Smith, R-Mo., manager's amendment to HR 1163 that would direct the Treasury Department to use unobligated funds provided by previous pandemic relief legislation for administration and fraud prevention of unemployment programs to offset any loss in the amount of funds deposited in state unemployment funds as a result of the bill, subject to appropriations. As amended, the rule would also provide for automatic adoption of an amendment to HR 2 that would strike a section requiring the Homeland Security Department to submit a report to Congress on whether certain Mexican drug cartels meet the criteria to be designated as foreign terrorist organizations; instead require Congress to commission a report containing a national strategy to address Mexican drug cartels, including a determination of whether there should be a new designation for such cartels and information on actions by such cartels that harm the U.S.; and express the sense of Congress that, in implementing the E-Verify Program, DHS shall ensure any adverse impact on the U.S. agricultural workforce, operations and food security is considered and addressed." Molinaro Voted For Disapproving The DC Council's Approval Of The Local Resident Voting Rights Amendment Act To All Resident's To Vote In Local Elections, Regardless Of Citizenship. In February 2023, Molinaro voted for: "Passage of the joint resolution that would establish congressional disapproval of, effectively repealing, the November 2022 District of Columbia Council legislation allowing noncitizens, including undocumented immigrants, to vote in local D.C. elections beginning in 2024." - The DC Council In October 2022 Passed Legislation To Allow Noncitizens To Vote; Versions Of The Legislation Had Been Introduced For Decades But Failed To Pass. "The D.C. Council on Tuesday sent a pair of bills to Mayor Muriel Bowser that would greatly expand who can vote in local elections and how they cast their ballot. The first bill would allow noncitizens, including undocumented residents, to vote in local elections, meaning D.C. would join a few jurisdictions nationwide (including neighboring Takoma Park). [...] The bill had been floating around the Council for at least a decade, but struggled to move out of committee until this year. A previous version had only let green card-holders vote in local elections. But the judiciary committee, chaired by Ward 6 Councilmember Charles Allen, was compelled to expand voting rights to undocumented immigrants after public testimony." DCist, [10/18/22]

- 2018 Polling On Legislation That Would Allow Noncitizens To Vote Found 91% Of Republicans And 54% Of Democrats Opposing The Legislation, 71% Of Respondents Overall Opposed. "San Francisco's Department of Elections last week made the move to start allowing non-U.S. citizens to vote in the city's school board elections, sparking a national debate. [...] According to the survey, which is a joint project of Hill.TV and the HarrisX polling company, 71 percent of respondents opposed San Francisco's decision, while only 29 percent said they supported the move. Ninety-one percent of Republicans polled said they opposed giving the right to vote to noncitizens, as did 54 percent of Democrats. Seventy percent of independents said they were also in opposition to the decision. When respondents were asked the same question but with the wording changed to include the term 'illegal immigrants' instead of non-U.S. citizens, the results were nearly the same. Sixty-nine percent of Americans said they opposed the measure, while only 31 percent said they supported the measure. When asked the question with the term 'illegal immigrant,' 91 percent of Republicans said they opposed giving them voter rights, while 55 percent of Democrats also said they disagreed with the move. Sixty-five percent of Democrats also said they were against the measure. [...] The poll was conducted July 21-22 among 1,001 registered voters." The Hill, [7/26/18]

Molinaro Voted For H.R. 2, An Extremist Immigration Measure Which Would Severely Limit Pathways To Asylum, Roll Back Effective Methods Of Decreasing Illegal Immigration, And Keep Border Agents From Doing Their Jobs

May 2023: Molinaro Voted For H.R. 2, The Secure The Border Act, Which Would Resume Construction Of A Southern Border Wall And Limit Legal Immigration

May 2023: Molinaro Voted For H.R. 2, The “Secure The Border Act,” A Bill Requiring Homeland Security To Take Actions To Limit Illegal Immigration And Resuming Construction Of The "Border Wall" At The Southwestern Border. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would require the Homeland Security Department to take a number of actions to limit illegal immigration into the United States, including by resuming construction of the ‘border wall’ along the southwestern border, bolstering Customs and Border Protection, reopening border detention facilities, limiting asylum applications and eligibility, and establishing a mandatory employment verification system. To enhance physical border security, the bill would require DHS to resume all previously planned border wall construction on the U.S.-Mexico border. It would require DHS to design, install and operate at least 900 total miles of physical barriers and other infrastructure and technology along the border, until the department achieves ‘operational control’ of the border, defined under current law as the prevention of all unlawful entries into the country. To bolster operations and capacity of Customs and Border Protection, the bill would require CBP to maintain at least 22,000 full-time agents by Sept. 30, 2025, and authorize up to $100 million for agent retention bonuses. It would authorize $110 million annually through fiscal 2028 for new DHS grants to law enforcement agencies in border states to assist with CBP operations. It would authorize funding for CBP to upgrade license plate readers and install cameras, microphones, and surveillance and intrusion detection systems at the northern and southern borders. It would require CBP to issue and regularly update a strategic plan to enhance U.S. border security, including to address security gaps between ports of entry, staffing requirements and information sharing. It would require DHS to ensure that the CBP Air and Marine Operations carries out at least 110,000 flight hours annually and operates unmanned aircraft systems over the southern border 24 hours per day. As amended, the bill would require Congress to commission a report that contains a national strategy to address Mexican drug cartels, including a determination of whether there should be a designation established to address such cartels. Among provisions limiting eligibility for asylum within the United States, the bill would specify that noncitizens are eligible for asylum only if they arrived at an official U.S. port of entry. It would tighten standards for determining whether an individual has a ‘credible fear of persecution’ and is persecuted as part of a ‘social group’ or based on a ‘political opinion.’ It would expand reasons disqualifying individuals from asylum eligibility, including convictions for certain offenses such as using a false ID, domestic violence, child abuse, certain drug possession or trafficking, and repeated or serious driving while intoxicated; traveling through but not seeking asylum in at least one other country party to certain refugee protection treaties; and ability to avoid persecution by relocating to another part of their home country. It would require DHS to return asylum seekers who cannot be detained to a safe third country during their immigration proceedings. Among other immigration enforcement provisions, the bill would require DHS to reopen or restore the use of all Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention facilities that were in operation on Jan. 20, 2021. It would require DHS to detain parents and their children together and return all unaccompanied children to their country of origin. It would limit ‘parole’ authority allowing noncitizens to temporarily live and work in the U.S. allowing DHS to grant parole only on a case-by-case individual basis. The bill would require DHS to create a system based on the E-Verify pilot program to verify whether prospective employees are eligible to work in the U.S. and gradually require all employers to begin using the new system over 24 months, with 36-month deadline for agricultural sector employers.” The bill passed by a vote of 219-213. H.R. 2 Would Severely Limit Pathways To Asylum, Roll Back Effective Methods Of Decreasing Illegal Immigration, And Keep Border Agents From Doing Their Jobs

H.R. 2 Would Severely Restrict Pathways To Asylum, Allowing Only People Who Traveled Directly To The U.S. To Apply And Arbitrarily Limiting Justifications For Granting It

The Hill Headline: “GOP Border Bill Would Gut Pathways To Asylum” The Hill, [5/10/23]

In Some Cases, H.R. 2 Borrowed Language Directly From A Trump-Era Asylum Regulation That Was Struck Down In Court. “A Republican border and immigration bill set to come to the House floor Thursday would represent one of the biggest clawbacks of asylum rights in decades if enacted, experts warn. The GOP is aiming to pass the bill May 11 — the same day President Biden is set to lift Title 42. [...] The security measures are paired with provisions gutting asylum rights, in some cases borrowing word-for-word from a Trump-era asylum regulation struck down in court.” The Hill, [5/10/23]

The Bill Would Require Asylum-Seekers To Apply For Asylum In Any Other Country They Pass Through En Route To The U.S., Allowing Only Those Who Faced Denials To Apply To The U.S. “The bill requires those seeking asylum to first apply at any other country they pass through, allowing only those who receive denials to try the U.S. That language largely bars anyone who cannot directly come to a U.S. port of entry, essentially limiting asylum to Mexicans, Canadians, and those who already have hard-to-secure tourism visas who can hop a direct flight to the U.S.” The Hill, [5/10/23]

- The Bill Would Allow Only Mexican And Canadian Nationals Or Those With “Hard-To-Secure Tourism Visas” Seeking Asylum To Apply For U.S. Asylum – Even If They Faced Persecution. “Aaron Reichlin-Melnick, policy director at the American Immigration Council, said the bill would ‘effectively end the system of asylum that we’ve had for the last 43 years.’ [...] The bill requires those seeking asylum to first apply at any other country they pass through, allowing only those who receive denials to try the U.S. That language largely bars anyone who cannot directly come to a U.S. port of entry, essentially limiting asylum to Mexicans, Canadians, and those who already have hard-to-secure tourism visas who can hop a direct flight to the U.S. Reichlin-Melnick said anyone with a layover would be barred from seeking asylum, as would anyone south of Mexico traveling by car, if they don’t first seek and get denied asylum on the way. ‘Say [Russian opposition leader Alexei] Navalny is released from Russian prison today. And he gets on a flight and it stops in an airport in another country before getting here,’ he said. ‘Well, he is not eligible for asylum after this bill because he didn’t apply for asylum in the country in which he stopped on the layover.’” The Hill, [5/10/23]
- Under The Bill, If Russian Opposition Leader Alexei Navalny Had Been Released From Russian Prison, He Would Have Had To Apply For And Be Denied Asylum In A Country Where He Stopped For Layover Before He Would Be Eligible To Apply For U.S. Asylum. “Aaron Reichlin-Melnick, policy director at the American Immigration Council, said the bill would ‘effectively end the system of asylum that we’ve had for the last 43 years.’ [...] The bill requires those seeking asylum to first apply at any other country they pass through, allowing only those who receive denials to try the U.S. That language largely bars anyone who cannot directly come to a U.S. port of entry, essentially limiting asylum to Mexicans, Canadians, and those who already have hard-to-secure tourism visas who can hop a direct flight to the U.S. Reichlin-Melnick said anyone with a layover would be barred from seeking asylum, as would anyone south of Mexico traveling by car, if they don’t first seek and get denied asylum on the way. ‘Say [Russian opposition leader Alexei] Navalny is released from Russian prison today. before getting here,’ he said. ‘Well, he is not eligible for asylum after this bill because he didn’t apply for asylum in the country in which he stopped on the layover.’” The Hill, [5/10/23]

- The Bill Would Require Those Who Do Apply For Asylum In The U.S. To Pass An Initial Screening Proving They Would Likely Earn It And Place Additional Barriers On Those Who Do Not Pass. “Even the bar for the initial screening ahead of seeking asylum has been raised — would-be applicants must show they are more likely than not to be granted the status, rather than a ‘significant possibility’ they could qualify — meaning fewer applicants would get a chance to make their case. Many may not even make it to the initial screening, as citizens from a number of countries are effectively blocked from seeking asylum. [...] Those who do manage to make it to a port of entry and who do pass the initial screening would be met with another round of limitations placed on existing asylum protections.” The Hill, [5/10/23]

The Bill Would Limit Justifications For Asylum To Those Fleeing As A Targeted “Social Group” And Political Persecution Based On Challenges To A State’s Leadership. “The bill narrows protections for those fleeing from political persecution as well as those who are targeted as members of a ‘social group,’ a category that can be used for those persecuted due to their sexuality. The legislation would grant asylum only to those whose political activity is a challenge to current state leadership rather than a cause in general, meaning that women in Saudi Arabia pushing for the expansion of women’s rights but uninterested in overthrowing the monarchy would not qualify.” The Hill, [5/10/23]

- Under The Bill, Women In Saudi Arabia Persecuted For Advocacy For Women’s Equality But Uninterested In Challenging The Saudi Monarchy Would Not Qualify For Asylum. “The bill narrows protections for those fleeing from political persecution as well as those who are targeted as members of a ‘social group,’ a category that can be used for those persecuted due to their sexuality. The Bill Would Deny Asylum To Those Seeking Refuge From Unfair Laws That Are “Infrequently Enforced” – Leaving Ambiguity For Laws Enforced Rarely Or Selectively Against Minorities. “It also would deem someone eligible for asylum if they violate laws that are ‘unenforced or infrequently enforced’ unless they can demonstrate that they could be personally impacted by it. Reichlin-Melnick said while that language appears to guard against an applicant seeking to use an obscure law to gain asylum protections, it’s written so broadly it could present hurdles for a number of groups. ‘What does it mean for a law to be frequently enforced? Well, what if you are a small ethnic minority? How can a law be frequently enforced against your group if there’s only a handful?’ he asked. He also pointed to a recently passed law in Uganda that makes homosexuality illegal and calls for the death penalty in some cases. Under the bill, a Ugandan national would need to show ‘credible evidence that such a law or policy has been or would be applied to the applicant personally.’” The Hill, [5/10/23]

- Under The Bill, It Was Unclear Whether The Bill Would Deny Asylum To Those Fleeing From A Law Potentially Subjecting LGBT Ugandans To The Death Penalty If They Could Not Prove It Would Apply To Them Personally. “It also would deem someone eligible for asylum if they violate laws that are ‘unenforced or infrequently enforced’ unless they can demonstrate that they could be personally impacted by it. H.R. 2 Would Roll Back Effective Methods Of Decreasing Illegal Immigration, Including Parole Programs And Using An App To Schedule Appointments For Asylum Seekers

H.R. 2 Would Prohibit The Department Of Homeland Security From Using “Eligibility Criteria Describing An Entire Class Of Potential Parole Recipients” Of Entry Into The U.S. “The House bill (Title VII) would severely limit an administration’s ability to use parole to allow into the United States individuals in need of humanitarian protection. The language in the House bill prohibits the Secretary of Homeland Security from using ‘eligibility criteria describing an entire class of potential parole recipients.’” Forbes, [5/10/23]

Parole In Immigration Law Was Distinct From Parole In Criminal Justice – It Allowed Noncitizens To Be Granted U.S Entry Without Existing Legal Basis, Including Due To Humanitarian Crises. “Under U.S. immigration law, the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) has discretion to grant ‘parole’ to certain noncitizens to allow them to enter or temporarily remain in the United States for specific reasons. Parole under immigration law is very different than in the criminal justice context. This fact sheet explains the nature of parole, how parole requests are considered, who may qualify, and what parole programs currently exist. What is Parole? The Immigration and Nationality Act (INA) authorizes the Secretary of Homeland Security to exercise discretion to temporarily allow certain noncitizens to physically enter or remain in the United States if they are applying for admission but do not have a legal basis for being admitted. DHS may only grant parole if the agency determines that there are urgent humanitarian or significant public benefit reasons for a person to be in the United States and that person merits a favorable exercise of discretion. Grants of parole are made for limited periods of time, often to accomplish a discrete purpose, and individuals are typically expected to depart the United States when the authorized period expires unless another form of status or relief is conferred.” American Immigration Council, [1/10/23]

Parole Programs For Cuba, Venezuela, Haiti, And Nicaragua Reduced Illegal Immigration By Allowing Immigrants To Enter The U.S. With An American Sponsor Rather Than Crossing The Border Illegally. Parole programs for Cuba, Venezuela, Haiti and Nicaragua were the primary target of House Republicans in restricting the use of parole. However, Border Patrol data show these parole programs have been effective in reducing illegal entry. ‘In January 2023, as a way to provide legal pathways, the Biden administration announced parole programs for up to 30,000 individuals a month from Cuba, Haiti, Nicaragua and Venezuela to enter the United States with a U.S. sponsor,’ noted a recent NFAP report. ‘The parole programs produced dramatic results and almost unprecedented effectiveness in reducing illegal entry as measured by encounters with Border Patrol agents.’” Forbes, [5/10/23]

- The Number Of Border Patrol Encounters At The Southwest Border Decreased By 95 Percent For Immigrants Of Countries In The Parole Programs. “The number of Border Patrol encounters at the Southwest border declined by 95% for Cuba, Haiti, Nicaragua and Venezuela as a group between December 2022 and March 2023. Border Patrol encounters for all other countries not in the parole programs increased by 15% during this period. The parole policies represented a humane alternative to forcing individuals to seek protection by entering through dangerous routes between ports of entry because legal access to the United States is blocked.” Forbes, [5/10/23]
- Ending Parole Programs Would Also Prevent War Victims, Including Ukrainians Under The Uniting For Ukraine Program, To Receive Parole In The Future. “Under Uniting for Ukraine, Americans have sponsored more than 200,000 Ukrainians who have fled Russia’s invasion, primarily Ukrainian women and children. The Biden administration also paroled thousands of Afghans into the United States after the fall of Kabul. The new restrictions in the House bill would prevent a repeat of such efforts, even though hundreds of thousands of Americans are eager to help people in unfortunate circumstances. A House source confirmed the bill would cut off future parole programs for war victims. Current parolees would be forced to leave the United States after their parole expires. They would only be allowed to renew once for a year (Section 701). Ukrainians (and other parolees) could only stay if they were approved for a different immigration status. It would be challenging for many Ukrainians to obtain asylum under current law, and the House bill makes it more difficult for anyone to be approved for asylum.” Forbes, [5/10/23]

The Bill Would Also End The Use Of A CBP App For Asylum Seekers To Schedule Appointments, Forcing Them To Instead Present Themselves At The Border Or Point Of Entry, Increasing Unlawful Entry. The bill (Section 122) would also end using the CBP One app for asylum applicants to schedule an appointment at a port of entry. The alternative to applying for asylum at a port of entry is for individuals to cross the border and present themselves. Banning the use of the app, as the bill does, would almost certainly increase unlawful entry, as would ending the parole programs.” Forbes, [5/10/23]

H.R. 2 Would Prevent Border Officers From Performing Basic Tasks

The Bill Barred Border Agents From “Processing” Migrants, Preventing Officers From Doing Basic Tasks. “H.R. 2 — originally designed to be one of the first major pieces of legislation passed under the new Republican majority — was approved with a 219-213 vote, a day after wrangling over relatively minor sections of the bill briefly delayed its advancement. Beyond building the wall, the legislation greatly increases the hiring of border agents and seeks to bar them from doing any 'processing' of migrants, language Democrats said would prevent officers from doing basic tasks.” The Hill, [5/11/23]

H.R. 2 Would Allow Children To Be Detained For Longer Periods Of Time And Require More Unaccompanied Children To Be Returned To Their Countries Of Origin

H.R. 2 Would End The Existing Presumption Against Detaining A Child Accompanied By Family, Making It Easier For Families With Minor Children To Be Held In Detention Indefinitely. “The bill would roll back safeguards for migrant children The Flores Settlement Agreement is the current standard that governs the conditions under which children can legally be held in U.S. immigration detention. This bill would undermine some of the agreement’s most fundamental stipulations, including restrictions on how long kids can be detained, while also limiting access to an existing legal pathway for migrant children. In particular, the bill would: Explicitly end the existing presumption against detaining a noncitizen child accompanied by family, making it easier for families with minor children to be held in detention indefinitely.” National Immigration Forum, [5/8/23]

H.R. 2 Would Extend The Timeline For Unaccompanied Children To Be Transported To HHS Custody From 72 Hours To 30 Days, Allowing Them To Be Detained For Significantly Longer. “The bill would roll back safeguards for migrant children The Flores Settlement Agreement is the current standard that governs the conditions under which children can legally be held in U.S. immigration detention. This bill would undermine some of the agreement’s most fundamental stipulations, including restrictions on how long kids can be detained, while also limiting access to an existing legal pathway for migrant children. In particular, the bill would: [...] Extend the timeline to transfer unaccompanied migrant children to the custody of the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) from 72 hours to 30 days for those with humanitarian claims, and make the transfer of other unaccompanied migrant kids to HHS discretionary, significantly extending the time that migrant children could be held in border facilities that are not equipped to care for minors.” National Immigration Forum, [5/8/23]

H.R. 2 Would Require The Return Of Unaccompanied Migrant Children To Their Countries Of Origin If They Are Not Trafficking Victims And Do Not Express Fear Of Return. “The bill would roll back safeguards for migrant children The Flores Settlement Agreement is the current standard that governs the conditions under which children can legally be held in U.S. immigration detention. This bill would undermine some of the agreement’s most fundamental stipulations, including restrictions on how long kids can be detained, while also limiting access to an existing legal pathway for migrant children. In particular, the bill would: [...] Amend the bipartisan William Wilberforce Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act of 2008 to require the return of all unaccompanied migrant children — not just those from Mexico and Canada — to their countries of origin if they are not trafficking victims and do not express a fear of return.” National Immigration Forum, [5/8/23]

- Leader Jeffries Called The Bill The “Child Deportation Act.” “Congressional Democrats sharply criticized the bill when House Republicans announced it at the end of April, saying it would go beyond the scope of border security and punish all noncitizens, including legal residents, trafficking victims and refugees. Reached for comment before Thursday's vote, the office of House Minority Leader Hakeem Jeffries, D-N.Y., pointed to his comments at a news conference Wednesday, when he called the bill the ‘Child Deportation Act’ and characterized it as ‘one of the extreme MAGA Republicans’ top priorities.” NBC News, [5/11/23]

H.R. 2 Would Not Increase The Number Of Immigration Judges To Address A Backlog Of Cases

H.R. 2 Would Not Increase Numbers Of Asylum Officers Or Immigration Judges. “While some elements of the proposed legislation might prove effective and helpful, like additional investments in personnel and technology at ports of entry, the bill’s enforcement-only focus and failure to address lawful pathways is deeply flawed. The bill’s overarching focus on physical barriers and deterrence measures — but not increased numbers of asylum officers or immigration judges — presents a vision of the U.S.’s southern border where people fleeing violence and persecution would be quickly removed, without meaningful access to protection.” National Immigration Forum, [5/8/23]

A Shortage Of Immigration Judges Leaves Migrants In Legal Limbo And Has Created A Backlog Of More Than Two Million Cases. “President Biden’s attempt to deal efficiently with a new surge of migration following the end of Title 42 pandemic restrictions has focused new attention on a severe shortage of judges, the result of longstanding neglect that has overwhelmed the immigration court system with a backlog of more than two million cases. The court system is riddled with yearslong delays and low morale as a work force of about 650 judges struggles to keep up with the volume of immigration cases, leaving undocumented immigrants who have long waited in the United States in limbo.” New York Times, [5/12/23]

New York City Faced A Shortage Of Immigration Judges. “While an abrupt shift in the federal administration’s immigration policy has slowed down the daily arrival of migrants, more than 21,000 people are already in New York City and many hope to gain legal status through the asylum process. They will join a line that already includes about 180,000 pending cases in New York State immigration courts, which are handled by 88 judges. [...] Mr. Marku said he’s never seen the city’s immigration courts as busy in his 27-year career as an immigration attorney. ‘They don’t have enough judges, they don’t have enough government attorneys, they don’t have the support staff to get it done,’ he said.” New York Times, [11/3/22]

ICE And Immigration Enforcement

Molinaro Defended ICE And Said ICE Could Have Prevented 9/11 If It Was Enabled To Do Its Job

In A Tweet, Molinaro Defended ICE And Said ICE Could Have Prevented 9/11 If It Was Enabled To Do Its Job – Though ICE Did Not Exist On 9/11/2001. “On July 11, in response to Cynthia Nixon calling ICE a ‘terrorist organization,’ Dutchess County Executive and gubernatorial hopeful Marc Molinaro tweeted ‘This is what happens when ICE can’t do its job. Knock It Off, Cynthia.’ linking an image of the 9/11 hijackers. ICE was founded in 2003. Molinaro’s statement, at face value, is preposterous - an appeal for attention from voters who condone tying infamous terrorists to an unrelated population of immigrants whose only similarity is that they’re non-native and brown. Molinaro likely realized as much when typing this sloppy dog whistle.” Poughkeepsie Journal, Letter to the Editor, [7/26/18]

His targeting of this group - similar in a want for compassion, advocacy and decency to the community he so publicly serves - with bargain-bin xenophobia is contemptible, and raises the question that his good acts and hateful words may both be disingenuous political maneuvering.”

Molinaro Opposed Separating Families At The Border

Molinaro Opposed Separating Families At The Border. “Molinaro said his positions are more nuanced. The Dutchess County executive says he would, for example, enforce abortion rights protected by law, but would not expand access to late-term abortions. He didn't vote for President Donald Trump. He opposes the administration's policy that resulted in separation of migrant families at the border, calling it ‘not American.’ [Newsday, 7/1/18]

Molinaro Called Separating Immigrant Children From Their Families “Un-American.” “Nixon has called ICE a ‘terrorist organization’ and wants it abolished. Molinaro has criticized part of the Trump policy, which has separated some immigrant children from their families, as un-American.” [Newsday, 7/24/18]

Editorial: Molinaro Didn't Speak Out Against Trump's Internal Immigration Enforcement

Poughkeepsie Journal Editorial: Molinaro Didn't Properly Address Community Fear About Trump Ripping Immigrant Families Apart. “Nevertheless, his speech virtually sidestepped the growing chaos on the federal level that has caused people to rally in the streets of Dutchess – and that ultimately could have a huge impact on the county's operations [...] There is plenty of angst in communities, ranging from concerns about the fate of the health-care system to whether new immigration enforcement policies will rip apart families right here in the City of Poughkeepsie and elsewhere. Molinaro's speech briefly touched on those concerns toward the end, acknowledging the nation is grappling with ‘great division’ and pointing to the county's re-established Human Rights Commission and an effort to foster good dialogue and build a more tolerant and compassionate community. In a follow-up telephone interview with the Journal Friday morning, Molinaro was asked why he didn't squarely address concerns about new and proposed federal policies in the speech.” Poughkeepsie Journal, Editorial, [2/17/17]

Molinaro, When Asked About Trump's Immigration Enforcement, Said The “Tone Has To Change” In Washington. “In a follow-up telephone interview with the Journal Friday morning, Molinaro was asked why he didn't squarely address concerns about new and proposed federal policies in the speech. He said he believes his speech, called ‘One Interrelated Family,’ clearly articulated his thoughts on what government should be. He said the ‘tone has to change’ in Washington and added that it's his belief the federal government ‘needs to respect government closest to the people.’ There is no denying that, through many of his own actions, the county executive has led by example. But county officials, especially their leader, must brace themselves for what's next. They also should speak out, forcefully, if they believe proposed federal policies will hurt the area and jeopardize county operations. The public of all political stripes should expect no less.” Poughkeepsie Journal, Editorial, [2/17/17]

Molinaro Opposed Allowing Immigrants Without Social Security Numbers To Receive Drivers Licenses

2007: Governor Eliot Spitzer Announced A Policy Permitting Immigrants Without Social Security Numbers To Receive Drivers Licenses

2007: Governor Eliot Spitzer Announced A Policy Permitting Immigrants Without Social Security Numbers To Receive Drivers Licenses. “State and county Republican lawmakers are calling on Gov. Eliot Spitzer to rescind his decision to grant driver's licenses to immigrants who don't have Social Security numbers. They said the new policy of the Democratic governor will undermine the safety of New Yorkers by making it easier for terrorists to obtain driver's licenses and hatch another Sept. 11 attack. [...] Spitzer announced his new policy Friday. The directive is the fulfillment of a campaign promise to bring hundreds of thousands of undocumented immigrants out of the shadows and into the system. ‘After a comprehensive review, (Department of Motor Vehicles) has developed changes that will increase the security of our license system by obtaining better and more verifiable information from applicants, which will decrease the number of uninsured drivers on the roads, lower auto insurance rates for all drivers and, when necessary, help law enforcement agencies in their investigations,' Spitzer said in a prepared statement." Poughkeepsie Journal, [9/26/07]

"They said the new policy of the Democratic governor will undermine the safety of New Yorkers by making it easier for terrorists to obtain driver's licenses and hatch another Sept. 11 attack. 'I don't have to tell anyone we are at war, not just in the sands of Iraq, but right here,' said state Sen. Vincent Leibell, R-Patterson. [...] Leibell was joined at a press conference Tuesday morning in front of the Dutchess County office building by state Sen. Molinaro Denied That Calling Someone An "Illegal Immigrant" Was The Equivalent Of Using The N-Word

Molinaro Denied That Calling Someone An "Illegal Immigrant" Was The Equivalent Of Using The N-Word

A Dutchess County Legislator Said Calling Someone An "Illegal Immigrant" Is Equivalent To Slurs Used Against Italians And Black Americans, Saying The Derogatory Phrases Out Loud. "Bunnell used the racial epithet, along with a slur used in reference to Italians, during the Legislature discussion over Gov. Eliot Spitzer's recent directive to no longer require Social Security numbers when issuing driver's licenses. Spitzer's policy is meant to bring hundreds of thousands of undocumented immigrants out of the shadows and reduce the number of uninsured drivers on the roads. The Legislature voted 22-2 Monday requesting Spitzer reconsider the policy. The resolution's Republican sponsors said the policy would not only give illegal immigrants the privilege of driving legally, but could lead to voter fraud and increase the likelihood of terrorism. Bunnell and Legislator Joel Tyner, D-Clinton, voted against the resolution. In making his point, Bunnell said calling someone an 'illegal immigrant' is equivalent to slurs used against Italians and blacks, using both words." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/19/07]

Molinaro Criticized The Legislator For Using The N-Word To Make His Point, And Said That A Resolution Calling People "Illegal Immigrants" Was Not Passed In A Racist Fashion. "Molinaro, who was a county legislator for six years before being elected last November to the Assembly, spoke at Monday's meeting against Spitzer's policy. He said later Bunnell's utterance of the 'N' word was not only inappropriate but shocking. 'I have never heard anything like it, Molinaro said. 'He just went way over the line.' Legislator Ronald Ray, D-Beacon, who is black, asked after the debate Bunnell's inflammatory remarks be stricken from the legislative record. Molinaro said Bunnell should apologize in public to the Legislature and the county residents it represents. 'Nobody in that room was acting in a racist fashion,' Molinaro said of the Legislature meeting room." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/19/07]

Molinaro Supported Congestion Pricing Plan For New York’s Subway System But Wanted The Congestion Charges To Be Tax Deductible

Molinaro Proposed Implementing Congestion Pricing Plan On New York’s Subway System And Allowing Congestion Charges To Be Tax Deductible. “Gov. Andrew Cuomo’s Republican rival has an odd plan for funding subway fixes: Make car commuters pay upfront, but let the state take the hit in April. Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro elaborated on the transit plan he debuted in August at an unrelated press conference today at City Hall. The long shot contender has so far echoed the incumbent’s support for charging motorists entering the Manhattan business district, but he has coupled it with calls for overhauling the dysfunctional Metropolitan Transportation Authority’s costly labor and procurement arrangements. But today he told reporters of another wrinkle: New York residents would, in his vision, be able to deduct the congestion charges from their annual taxes to Albany. ‘Our plan is they would be able to deduct it from the state income tax,’ Molinaro said.” [Crain’s New York Business, 10/4/18]

- Congestion Pricing Raised Entrance Fees During Busier Commute Times. “The era of consequence-free driving in cities is nearing an end. New York is poised to put in place the country’s first congestion pricing plan, which would charge drivers a fee to enter the busiest parts of Manhattan. And the Big Apple isn’t alone: cities around the world are weighing radical ideas to curtail driving, ease gridlock, and reduce pollution. 'In order to make the appropriate investments we cannot only rely on revenue. We have to confront the costs,' he said. 'And the MTA, without question, is falling victim to waste, fraud and abuse, and we as a state must confront the high cost of labor.'" Newsday, [8/29/18]

2018: Molinaro Criticized Cuomo Over What He Saw As A Haphazard Replacement Of The Tappan Zee Bridge

Molinaro Said Cuomo Did Not Have A Clear Plan To Pay For The Bridge

Molinaro Said Cuomo Did Not Have A Clear Idea Of How To Pay For The Tappan Zee Bridge’s Replacement. “Molinaro maintains that the governor was wrong for moving forward on a replacement to the Tappan Zee Bridge without, he says, a clear idea of how to pay for it. He says Cuomo has done likewise with other projects in the state.” Journal News, [7/31/18]

- 2011: Cuomo Announced That The Tappan Zee Bridge Would Be Replaced. “Then in October 2011, Gov. Andrew Cuomo announced a fast-tracked and scaled-back plan to replace just the Tappan Zee Bridge. Construction on the new crossing began in October 2013. It was the state’s first ‘design-build’ project, which allowed more independence for the builder — Tappan Zee Constructors — as a way to keep costs down. The project’s official price-tag is $3.9 billion. A detailed financial plan for the project has not been released by the state. In contrast to the Tappan Zee’s basic design, Cuomo said the new span would live up to the ‘beauty and splendor’ of the Hudson. He appointed a team, including artist Jeff Koons, to review proposals. The sleek concrete-and-cable silhouette, with lighting that can change color, stood in contrast to the Tappan Zee’s lattice steel. While oft repeated, there was no proof that the original Tappan Zee was designed only to last 50 years. Cuomo and others have said the new crossing should stand strong for a century.” LoHud, [5/10/19]

Molinaro Claimed, Without Evidence, That The Timing Of The Bridge Opening Was Scheduled To Accommodate Hillary Clinton

Molinaro Claimed Without Evidence That “Whistleblowers” Told Him The Bridge Opening Was Timed To Fit Hillary Clinton’s Schedule. “Molinaro reiterated claims that Cuomo prematurely opened the second span of the Gov. Mario M. Cuomo Bridge, but provided no further proof beyond referencing two ‘whistleblowers.’ ‘They opened the Tappan Zee Bridge the time they did because, I think, two things: the primary and Hillary Clinton,’ Molinaro said. He affirmed his belief that the opening was moved up so Cuomo could boast it as an achievement ahead of the Democratic primary and to fit the former secretary of state’s schedule. ‘I think there were a number of factors that caused them to open the date they did, not the least of which being accommodating (to) somebody that had nothing to do with the bridge development,’ he said. ‘We’ve presented to you what those individuals feel comfortable being presented,’ he said. ‘There are two letters that came out that pretty much do undermine the argument that it was the vendor that suggested the date opening. Clearly, that wasn’t the case.’” Poughkeepsie Journal, [10/3/18]

Molinaro Had No Proof That Cuomo Opened The New Bridge For Political Gain. “Republican gubernatorial candidate Marc Molinaro said he had proof that Gov. Andrew Cuomo recklessly pushed to open the new Hudson River bridge for political gain. On Monday, that proof had yet to materialize - even as the National Transportation Safety Board announced it would not investigate the claim. Molinaro's campaign declined to release information about two alleged ‘whistleblowers’ who would presumably testify if subpoenaed. With no investigation imminent, the claims remain unconfirmed. Undeterred, Molinaro's campaign said it would continue to pursue an investigation, this time calling on federal transportation officials to follow through.” The Journal News, [9/11/18]

Molinaro Criticized Cuomo For Using Bank Settlement Money To Limit Toll Costs On The New Bridge

Molinaro Criticized Cuomo For Using Bank Settlement Money To Limit Toll Costs On The New Bridge. “In addition, he said the governor’s decision to use billions in bank industry settlement money to limit toll hikes on the new bridge could come back to haunt taxpayers. ‘Who wants toll hikes? Nobody,’ Molinaro said. ‘The problem with that is using a one-time revenue to subsidize what now are annualized operating costs. Again, if you came to the public with an honest explanation as to how you were going to pay for it, then maybe the public prepares. But the next guy or woman who’s governor is going to get stuck with that reality, which is that those settlements run out and all of a sudden a multi-billion expense becomes operational and there’s no plan to pay for it.’” Journal News, [7/31/18]

- 2015: The New York State Thruway Announced It Would Divert $750 Million From Money Accrued From Bank Settlements Towards The Tappan Zee Replacement Project. “In an unlikely twist, Tappan Zee Bridge drivers may owe a big thank you to banks accused of wrongdoing in the nation’s fiscal crisis for saving them from what could have been a hefty toll hike on the span in the coming years. Earlier this year, the state Thruway Authority modified its own budget and announced that that it would divert some $750 million in bank settlement money to the $4 billion bridge replacement project. Tucked deep in the new budget is a sizable recalculation in just how much toll revenue the Thruway will need by 2018, when both four-lane spans are expected to open to traffic, a Journal News analysis shows. Thruway officials estimated that, instead of the $990 million they said they would need in December, they’d need just $689 million by 2018, thanks in large part to cost cutting and an infusion of cash from New York’s share of the bank settlement negotiated by the U.S. Justice Department, state figures show.” Journal News, [10/7/15]

While Mayor Of Tivoli, Molinaro Tried And Failed To Create A Walkway Over A Railroad That Would Have Given Access To The Hudson River

While Mayor Of Tivoli, Molinaro Failed To Create A Walkway Over A Railroad To Give Tivoli Residents Access To The Hudson River. “Not all Molinaro's efforts have panned out, of course. For years, Tivoli officials have been working to provide their residents direct access to the Hudson River, but have not been able to overcome a number of bureaucratic hurdles to create a riverside park. Nevertheless, the idea is sound: The village wants to build a walkway above the railroad tracks that will enable people to safely reach the planned park. And they have talked about initiating a ferry service between Saugerties and the village once the park is built. Molinaro is still optimistic the village will reach its goal.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/10/06]

Tivoli Did Not Gain Hudson River Access Until 2010, After The Village Obtained A Grant To Purchase 2.5 Acres Of Shoreline Property. “There were smiles all around as local officials and community members gathered to announce the Village of Tivoli's purchase of a 2.5-acre shoreline property at the Tivoli waterfront. Waves lapped against the rocky shore of the Hudson River and the mist-shrouded Catskill Mountains posed majestically in the background as two dozen or so people sat in attendance Wednesday. ‘Today is the day when Tivoli became a river town again,’ Waterfront Committee member Martin Clark said. The parcel was bought two weeks ago for $40,000, plus closing costs, from CSX Corp. The sale was funded by a Scenic Hudson grant.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 7/31/10]

1999: Molinaro Delayed The Adoption Of High Speed Internet In Tivoli

1999: Molinaro And Other Local Officials Refused To Approve Cable Transfers Before Negotiating Franchise Agreements, Delaying The Adoption Of High Speed Internet To Tivoli. “At a meeting last month, cable officials said it would be three to five years before equipment could be upgraded to make high-speed Internet service possible in northern Dutchess. But the local officials see the service as an integral part of their economic future and don't believe their communities should have to wait that long. According to Molinaro, the cable executives requested that the village and town boards approve the cable transfers first and then negotiate the franchise agreements. ‘But that doesn't put us in a position of any leverage,’ Molinaro said.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 2/14/99]

1999: Molinaro Threatened To Withhold Funding And End Tivoli Board Participation For A Public Access Cable Network In North Dutchess County

Molinaro Threatened To Withhold Funding For Public Access Northern Dutchess Area Network And End Its Board Participation Because He Wanted “More Information” On Its Administration. “PANDA may lose funding and board representation from Tivoli following complaints about how the public-access cable-television station is administered. ‘We wanted more information about the budget, the duties of the board and who performs them,’ said Tivoli Mayor Marc Molinaro. ‘The village will consider withholding contributions and participation until (the concerns are) addressed properly.’ PANDA Board President Paul Reagan maintained that the station has taken steps to address Molinaro's questions. ‘It's too bad if they do (withdraw support), but we have no way of compelling anyone to contribute,’ said Reagan. [...] PANDA, or Public Access Northern Dutchess Area, serves five northern Dutchess municipalities. Four of them, including Tivoli, contributed a total of $14,000 last year. The Village of Red Hook opted not to contribute.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 5/12/99]

Molinaro Said Governor Cuomo Needed “A Life” After A New Rest Stop Was Constructed Along The Long Island Expressway

Molinaro Said Cuomo “Need[ed] A Life” Because A New Rest Stop Was Constructed Along The Long Island Expressway. “During a town hall forum at Napper Tandy's Irish Pub in Smithtown, Molinaro also criticized

Cuomo for the construction of state rest stops on highways, the state's review of tipped wages, and the governor's comment over the summer that America was 'never that great.' 'The guy needs a life. He's designing rest stops on your way into Long Island. He's telling people what they should do when they're serving dinners. He needs another job,' Molinaro said. 'Imagine the government is involved in so much of our lives, that's what we're worried about? You've got families leaving the State of New York in droves because they can't afford to live here. How about that?'" Newsday, [10/21/18]

2016: A Welcome Center Opened On The Long Island Expressway. "The grand opening of the Long Island Expressway's 15,200 square-foot Welcome Center in Dix Hills was announced last Thursday by Gov. Molinaro Criticized The State Of New York For Moving Forward Prematurely With Cashless Tolling Technology

Molinaro Criticized The State Of New York For Trying To Implement Cashless Tolling When The Technology Was Not Yet Ready. "Molinaro said the state moved ahead with a cashless tolling system prematurely. The New York State Thruway is paying Conduent State & Local Services more than $300 million to implement the system along major bridges and tunnels. The MTA and Port Authority have also contracted with Conduent. But glitches in the system have resulted in motorists being incorrectly fined thousands of dollars, while more than $2 million in tolls were lost because the system failed to read license plates for many vehicles. 'We get some TV actor to go on television and tell you how wonderful this is, Molinaro said. 'Yet, at the same time the technology isn't ready, the way to implement is not there, and we've seen significant failures. If I enter into a contract, there are time tables, there's expectations, and there's penalties for failing. And we don't charge the consumer. We don't say to the consumer after the fact, 'Hey, we screwed up. We're going to come after you.'" Journal News, [7/31/18]

Molinaro Supported Closing New York’s “LLC Loophole...”

Molinaro Supported Closing New York’s “LLC Loophole,” Which Allowed Limited Liability Corporations To Donate Up To $150,000 Annually To State Political Campaigns. “Molinaro also stated on Wednesday that he would push for the closure of the so-called ‘LLC loophole’ in state election law, which allows wealthy individuals to donate essentially unlimited sums to state political candidates using limited liability companies that often cannot be traced to the contributors. Molinaro’s campaign said the LLC loophole ‘permits individuals to donate to favored candidates under thinly disguised corporate entities’ and that he would close it. The 1996 state Board of Elections decision allows each limited liability company owned by the same person to donate as if each entity were an individual, with annual donation limits for each LLC of $150,000. Senate Democrats have pushed a bill that would cap LLC contributions at $5,000 annually -- the same limit already in place for corporations.” Times-Union, [5/31/18]

Minimum Wage

Molinaro Didn’t Answer Whether He Supported A $15 Minimum Wage In New York State, Then Said He Was “Satisfied” With The Phase-In Of The $15 Wage

April 2018: Molinaro Didn’t Answer Whether He Supported The State’s Plan To Raise The Minimum Wage To $15/Hour Downstate. “He was asked by reporters whether he opposed the state’s plan to raise the minimum wage to $15 an hour downstate and whether he supported the state’s new paid-family leave plan - two accomplishments Cuomo often touts. Molinaro didn’t answer specifically, saying instead he wants to bring down the cost of doing business in New York. ‘There is something about check-the-box politics that really infuriates people,’ he responded. ‘They can talk all about the headlines, but there are real people struggling today in New York because there aren’t jobs.’” The Journal News, [4/3/18]

Molinaro Said Minimum Wage Increases In New York “Cost Money” For Small Businesses

October 2018: Molinaro Said “The Seismic Increases In The Minimum Wage Over A Short Period [Of] Time Has Cost Money.” “Molinaro said he understood how tough it is for small businesses to survive in New York. ‘The seismic increases in the minimum wage over a short period time has cost money,’ Molinaro said. ‘The fact that property taxes continue to rise is a burden on small business owners so they get it regardless of what they’re producing. Transit Unions

2018: Under Molinaro’s Leadership, Dutchess County Bus Workers Threatened To Go On Strike Over Low Pay

Dutchess County Bus System Workers Issued A Strike Deadline Due To Low Pay From The County

Dutchess County Bus System Workers Went On Strike Because Their Pay Was Lower Than Other Drivers On Comparable Jurisdictions. “Dutchess County’s bus system workers have extended their deadline to strike if a contract cannot be negotiated to April 10. The strike was to start as early as Wednesday, but Local 445 of the Teamsters union agreed to extend its deadline at the request of federal mediator Kathy Murray-Cannon. The county had urged passengers to seek alternative transportation in the event of service disruptions during a strike. ‘There’s a lot happening, and we remain hopeful that we can improve the county’s first offer to us,’ said union representative Jerry Ebert. The key issue is pay, Ebert said. ‘The bus drivers’ starting pay is $18.83 per hour, and tops off at $21.97 per hour. This is less than any comparable municipal drivers in a 500-mile radius,’ he said.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 4/4/18]

2018: Molinaro Called For Reforming Health Care, Overtime, And Collective Bargaining Protections For MTA Workers, And Shrinking Staff Size To Cut Costs

2018: Molinaro Called For Reforming Health Care, Overtime, And Collective Bargaining Protections For MTA Workers, And Shrinking Staff Size To Cut Costs. “The GOP nominee says collective bargaining and overtime and health care cost reforms will help the MTA reduce operating and some capital expenses. He also wants to cut down on overstaffing - such as by reducing the number of workers on site for subway tunnel boring machines - to help bring down the price tags of large projects, which experts agree are far more expensive in New York City than in other similar metropolitan areas.” [Newsday, 8/29/18]

Molinaro Said The MTA Was Suffering Because Of The “Waste, Fraud, And Abuse” That Went Into Labor Costs. ““In order to make the appropriate investments we cannot only rely on revenue. We have to confront the

The Head Of The Transit Workers' Union Said Molinaro's Plan Was "A Total Non-Starter" That Was "Anti-Union" And Relied On "Faulty Statistics." "Tony Utano, the president of TWU Local 100, the transit workers' union that has defended Cuomo, said Molinaro's plan is 'anti-union.' 'The Molinaro plan for the MTA is a total non-starter that relies on faulty statistics, and a vicious anti-union theory that workers are overcompensated for their labor,' Utano said in a statement." [Newsday, 8/29/18]

The President Of AFL-CIO Said Molinaro's Plan Was Based On "The Script Of Right Wing Conservative Ideologues In Washington" And Undermined Protections For Workers. "'This is exactly what I would expect from someone who is working off the script of right wing conservative ideologues in Washington whose sole purpose is to vilify working people and their unions,' said AFL-CIO President Mario Cilentio. 'Marc Molinaro predictably casts aside the vital role working men and women play, not just at the MTA, but to the economic well-being of our state. He would rather blame workers for subway repair costs than recognize New York's highly trained and skilled workforce is the only thing that keeps our state moving forward.'" [Spectrum News, 8/28/18]

Molinaro Opposed Policies To Protect Wages And Voted Against Banning Wage Discrimination

2018: Molinaro Opposed Plans To Allow Tipped Workers To Be Paid A Full Minimum Wage

2018: The New York Labor Department Considered A Proposal To Allow Tipped Workers To Be Paid A Full Minimum Wage. "The state Labor Department held seven hearings, received more than 40 hours of testimony and accepted hundreds of written comments on whether it should end the separate wage for waiters and other workers who rely on tips. Molinaro Opposed The Proposal, And Accused Cuomo Of Being Influenced By Unions Who Favored The Proposal. "In an op-ed Monday in the New York Daily News, Republican gubernatorial candidate Marc Molinaro urged the state to drop plans to end the tipped wage. He held a news conference Monday at City Hall in Manhattan to oppose the proposal, accusing Cuomo of possibly bowing to some unions who want the change. 'If these are the people Cuomo wants to impress, he can knock himself out,'" wrote Molinaro, the Dutchess County executive. 'But maybe he should do it without knocking New York eateries and their servers out of business at the same time.'" [Ithaca Journal, 7/17/18]

June 2023: Molinaro Voted For The CHOICE Arrangement Act, Which Would Allow Employers To Choose Health Care Plans That Don’t Cover Preexisting Conditions, Maternity Care, Or Prescription Drugs

June 2023: Molinaro Voted For The CHOICE Arrangement Act, Which Allowed Employers More Flexibility In Deciding What Type Of Healthcare To Provide Employees. In June 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would create additional flexibilities for employers providing health insurance. The bill would allow groups of employers to establish and maintain group health plans for employees. It would require such groups to provide coverage to at least 51 employees and to have been in existence for at least two years prior to establishing the health plan. It would allow self-employed individuals to establish a group for the purpose of maintaining a group health plan. The bill would also allow employer-financed health reimbursement arrangements (HRA) to be used by employees to purchase insurance plans on state exchanges. It would also deem such HRAs compliant with requirements under current law for employers to provide health insurance coverage. To be eligible, it would require employers to offer the same HRA plan to all employees of a certain class, as defined by the bill, including full- and part-time employees, employees under the same collective bargaining agreement, and non-resident alien employees. It would also require employers to give eligible employees 90 days’ written notice prior to the beginning of the plan year of their rights and obligations. Among other provisions, the bill would rescind $245 million in fiscal 2024 from the Health and Human Services Department’s Prevention and Public Health Fund, specify that stop-loss policies obtained by a self-insured group health plan or plan sponsor do not qualify as health insurance coverage under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, and require the Treasury Department, within one year of enactment, to notify employers of the availability of tax-advantaged flexible health insurance benefits, with an initial focus on small businesses. HR 3799 also contains the text of the Small Business Flexibility Act (HR 3798), the Association Health Plans Act (HR 2868) and the Self-Insurance Protection Act (HR 2813).” The bill passed 220 to 209. H.R. 3799, [Vote #282, 6/21/23; CQ, 6/21/23]

- The CHOICE Arrangement Act Would Roll Back Basic Health Protections For Workers. “House Republicans have advanced a package of bills that could reduce health insurance cost for certain businesses and consumers, partly by rolling back some consumer protections. Rather than outright repeal, however, the subtler effort could allow more employers to bypass the landmark health insurance overhaul’s basic benefits requirements and most state standards. At the same time, the Biden administration seeks to undo some of the previous administration’s health insurance rules, proposing to retighten regulations for short-term plans. [...] The plans don’t have to cover all the benefits required of ACA plans, for example, and can bar coverage for preexisting medical conditions, can set annual or lifetime limits, and often don’t include maternity care or prescription drugs. Despite notices warning of a plan’s limitations, consumers may not realize what isn’t covered until they try to use it.” NPR, [7/24/23]

AFL-CIO: The CHOICE Arrangement Act Would Subject “Workers To Financial Risk.” “H.R. 3799 will loosen the definition of association health plans (AHPs), opening the door for more employers to establish plans that evade Affordable Care Act (ACA) requirements to cover essential health benefits and participate in market-wide risk pools. [...] Too often, these plans misjudged the risks involved and have gone insolvent, leaving enrollees in the lurch. In other cases, enrollees have been defrauded by scammers who exploited the AHP regulatory loopholes. Second, under the guise of ‘protecting’ stop-loss insurance for self-funded group health plans, H.R. 3799 would allow employer health plans to avoid the ACA requirement that insured plans cover essential health benefits. The policy is intended to allow plans that are unable to actually self-fund with adequate reserves to instead purchase a high level of stop-loss insurance. Lack of adequate reserves leave many of these plans, and their enrollees, at risk since stop-loss insurers often retain the right to drop the insurance if medical costs for the group begin to climb. This is not a stable form of coverage. [...] We urge you to protect working people by opposing this legislation that undermines comprehensive coverage and subjects workers to financial risk.” AFL-CIO, [6/21/23]

June 2023: Molinaro Voted For The REINS Act, Which Would Cause Delays In Issuing Crucial Worker Protections

June 2023: Molinaro Voted For The REINS Act To Require Congressional Approval For Executive Actions Deemed A “Major Rule.” In June 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would require congressional approval of a joint resolution to implement any ‘major rule’ that has or is likely to result in an annual economic effect of at least $100 million; a major increase in costs or prices; or significant adverse effects on U.S. competition, employment, productivity or international competitiveness. It would exempt from the bill’s requirements any rule issued by the Federal Reserve Board of Governors or the Federal Open Market Committee. The bill would allow a major rule to go into effect without congressional approval for a 90-day period if the president determines by executive order that such rule is necessary because of an imminent threat or emergency, necessary for national security or the enforcement of criminal laws, or if the rule has been issued to implement an international trade agreement. If a joint resolution of approval for a major rule is not enacted within 70 legislative days, it would prohibit consideration of a joint resolution of approval for the same rule for the duration of the Congress.” The bill passed 221 to 210. H.R. 277, [Vote #265, 6/14/23; CQ, 6/14/23]

The AFL-CIO Opposed The REINS Act, Citing How It Would ‘Cripple A Regulatory Process That Already Causes Excessive Delays In The Issuance Of Crucial Worker And Public Protections. “On behalf of the AFL-CIO, I urge you to oppose H.R. 277, Regulations from the Executive in Need of Scrutiny Act of 2023 (REINS Act), which is scheduled for floor action this week. The REINS Act is an extreme measure that would make it virtually impossible for agencies to issue any meaningful rules, threatening the health and safety of workers and the public. [...] The REINS Act would cripple a regulatory process that already causes excessive delays in the issuance of crucial worker and public protections.” AFL-CIO, [6/7/23]

- AFL-CIO: The REINS Act Could “Simply Kill [...] Commonsense Life-Saving Rules.” “For example, the 2010 Occupational Safety and Health Administration’s (OSHA’s) construction safety standard on cranes and derricks took 10 years to finalize, even though this rule had unanimous support from industry and labor. OSHA’s 2016 silica standard, which protects workers from deadly silica dust and prevents 700 deaths a year, took nearly 19 years. Under REINS, Congressional inaction could simply kill such commonsense life-saving rules.” AFL-CIO, [6/7/23]

Molinaro Voted For The Protecting Taxpayers And Victims Of Unemployment Fraud Act, Which Would Harm State Insurance Systems For Unemployed Workers

Molinaro Voted For The Protecting Taxpayers And Victims Of Unemployment Fraud Act. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “This bill addresses fraud and overpayments of pandemic unemployment insurance (UI) benefits, including by providing incentives for states to investigate and recover overpayments of these benefits. Specifically, the bill allows states to retain 25% of any recovered fraudulent overpayments. These retained funds may be used for modernizing unemployment compensation systems and information technology, reimbursing administrative costs, hiring fraud investigators and prosecutors, and for other program integrity activities. Additionally, the bill allows states to retain 5% of any overpayments of regular and extended UI benefits. A state must, in order to retain these overpayments, certify that it has met certain conditions for data matching. Next, the bill extends from 3 to 10 years the time during which states can recover overpayments of pandemic UI benefits. Further, the bill extends flexibilities for states to hire temporary staff on a noncompetitive basis to identify, pursue, and recover fraudulent overpayments under federal pandemic unemployment compensation programs authorized by the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (CARES Act). The bill also extends from 5 to 10 years the statute of limitations for federal criminal charges or civil enforcement actions related to UI fraud. Finally, the bill repeals a section of the CARES Act (as amended by the American Rescue Plan of 2021) that provided funding for UI program integrity activities. Subject to appropriations, the unobligated balance of this funding shall be transferred to the Department of the Treasury and periodically credited to the appropriate state account in the Unemployment Trust Fund, as outlined by the bill.” The bill passed the house 230-200. H.R. 1163, [5/11/23]

AFL-CIO: The Protecting Taxpayers And Victims Of Employment Fraud Act Could Put Workers At Long-Term Financial Risk. “The American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) already included $2 billion in funding to address fraud and promote access and timely payment of state unemployment compensation programs. Less than two years later, the sponsors of H.R. 1163 would reverse course, undermining the ongoing efforts of states to improve their unemployment systems and strengthen anti-fraud measures. [...] Despite the need to maintain an experienced merit-based workforce to provide UI benefits, H.R. 1163 would suspend for seven years the requirement that states use merit-based public employees to staff their UI programs. H.R. 1163 also extends from three to ten years the period in which states can recover all pandemic unemployment overpayments—even if the mistake was not the claimant’s fault. A mistake in administering a program is not fraud committed by a claimant. Rather than directing resources to identify and hold accountable any individual who intentionally stole money from workers hard-hit by the COVID-19 pandemic, as documented by the Department of Labor Office of Inspector General earlier this year, H.R. 1163 puts workers at financial risk for up to a decade for mistakes that were not of their own making and may be unknown to them.” AFL-CIO, [5/9/23]

The Protecting Taxpayers And Victims Of Employment Fraud Act Encouraged States To Remove Funding For Permanent Unemployment Insurance Staff. “The legislation also seems to encourage states to direct UI administrative funding away from hiring permanent public staff for UI programs. The 2020 CARES Act granted state UI agencies an exemption from the requirement to hire merit-based, public service employees so that temporary staff or contractors could be hired quickly to respond to the deluge of pandemic-related UI claims. This temporary exemption is no longer needed because UI claims have receded to near 50-year lows. What is needed now is to build a first-class UI system with a trained workforce that will be ready the next time UI claims rise, and to address the backlog of claims and appeals from the pandemic. Yet this bill would permit such an exemption though the end of 2030.” Center For Budget And Policy Priorities, [5/9/23]

The Protecting Taxpayers And Victims Of Employment Fraud Act Would Repeal Fraud Prevention Funds From State Workforce Agencies. “More controversially, the bill would also repeal fraud prevention funds Democrats provided to state workforce agencies as part of the American Rescue Plan in 2021. Republicans want to use the $400 million remaining from the original $2 billion appropriation to offset the bill’s cost.” Huffington Post, [5/11/23]

2010: Molinaro Voted Against A Bill Making It Easier For Employees To Sue Their Employers If They Violated Labor Laws. “In 2010, he voted against the Wage Theft Prevention Act, which sought to expand employees’ rights to seek civil and criminal avenues of remedy for their employers failing to follow labor law.” [City & State, 10/10/18]

- 2010: Molinaro Voted Against The Wage Theft Prevention Act. On July 1, 2010, Molinaro voted “NO” on A-10163, a bill “to protect workers from wage and hour abuses. The bill would increase penalties for wage underpayments and for the failure of an employer to notify his or her employees of their wage rates and other rights. In addition, this bill would provide anti-retaliatory protections to workers and increased enforcement tools for the Department of Labor.” The bill passed the Assembly 89 to 48 and died in the Senate. Molinaro Wanted To Repeal New York State’s Scaffold Law, Which Held Developers And Contractors Fully Liable For Accidents On Their Sites

Molinaro Wanted To Repeal New York State’s Scaffold Law. “Molinaro advocates repeal of the state’s Scaffold Law, which imposes absolute liability for gravity-related construction accidents on communities and private builders, the Wicks Law, which requires separate independent prime contractors for plumbing, electrical and HVAC work for public projects that exceed a $500,000 threshold. He’d also reform the prevailing wage laws, which set pay and benefit rates for workers on public projects.” Rochester Democrat & Chronicle, [10/28/18]

Molinaro Claimed New York Could Save Billions In Construction Costs By Overhauling The Scaffold Law. “New York could shave billions of dollars in bloated construction costs by overhauling a single antiquated law, according to GOP gubernatorial candidate Marc Molinaro.” New York Post, [10/29/18]

The Scaffold Law Held Developers And Contractors Fully Liable For Accidents On Their Sites. “New York could shave billions of dollars in bloated construction costs by overhauling a single antiquated law, according to GOP gubernatorial candidate Marc Molinaro. The so-called Scaffold Law holds developers and contractors 100 percent liable for accidents on their sites - even if caused by workers’ negligence. As a result of the added insurance costs, bids on government projects come in 10 percent to 15 percent higher than elsewhere, critics say.” New York Post, [10/29/18]

- Developers And Contractors Claimed The Law Hampered Construction And Economic Growth Because Of Payouts And Insurance Premiums. “But a lobby of contractors, property owners and insurers has in recent months renewed a campaign against the law, arguing that no less than the future of the state’s construction industry is at stake. They argue that the law is antiquated and prejudicial against contractors and property owners, and essentially absolves employees of responsibility for their own accidents, leading to huge settlements. The payouts, they contend, have in turn led to skyrocketing insurance premiums that are hampering construction and the state’s economic growth.” New York Times, [12/17/13]
- Workers’ Advocates Claimed The Law Ensured Worker Safety And Held Developers And Contractors Accountable For Workplace Safety. “But a counter-lobby of unions, workers’ advocates and trial lawyers is pushing back just as fiercely. The law, they argue, is essential to ensuring the safety of workers in some of the world’s most dangerous jobs, particularly those employed by shoddy contracting firms that cut corners to save money. The law, they say, holds developers and contractors accountable for keeping job sites safe.” New York Times, [12/17/13]
- Worker’s Advocates Claimed Changing The Law Would Disproportionately Impact Minority And Immigrant Laborers. “Workers’ advocates argue that erosion of the Scaffold Law would have a disproportionate impact on minority and immigrant laborers, who, the advocates say, are more likely to work for nonunion companies that may not provide proper safety training and equipment. Immigrants, the advocates said, are less likely to speak the same language as their bosses on a job site and more likely to fear being fired if they demand a safer workplace.” New York Times, [12/17/13]

Molinaro Said He Was “Tormented” By His Votes Against Marriage Equality Because They Forced Him To Test His Personal Belief That Same Sex Marriage Was Wrong, And Were Politically Inexpedient. “Molinaro served the 103rd state Assembly District from 2007-11, during which time he voted on several key issues. He voted against passing marriage equality in New York in 2011, a decision he said has ‘tormented’ him. ‘I was tormented by it because it was a conflict between my personal belief at the time, my commitment to my district and what I knew was going to become law,’ he said.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/3/18]

2018: Molinaro Said He Would Defend Marriage Equality As Governor And Call For State-Level LGBTQ Protections If Federal Protections Were Repealed. “Molinaro also said his views have changed in time, and that he would defend marriage equality as governor as he has as county executive. He added that he would call for state-level protections of LGBTQ people, or any class of people, if were they rescinded on the federal level. ‘I think people who love someone ought to be able to celebrate that love in the way they see fit,’ he said.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/3/18]

2018: Molinaro Said His Views On LGBT Rights had “Evolved” And Acknowledged Marriage Equality As A “Civil Right.” “On same-sex marriage, Molinaro said he’s ‘evolved’ - not unlike some notable Democrats. Now, he says his view is: ‘Is it a civil right? Of course it is.’ Cuomo pushed through legislation in 2011 to legalize gay marriage in New York.” [Newsday, 7/1/18]

2004: Molinaro Said He Believed Marriage Was Between A Man And A Woman And Questioned Why A Gay Couple Would Get Married Without A License. “Tivoli Mayor Marc Molinaro said he's conducted more than two dozen marriage ceremonies during his decade in office but he's never been asked to perform one between two men or two women. Molinaro said he believes marriage is between a man and a woman, but thinks the issue is better discussed at the state or national level. ‘I can't perform a service for a ... man and a woman without a marriage license,’ Molinaro said. ‘There really is a question as to what's being accomplished. Johnson reassured Molinaro that he would no longer represent just his conservative Louisiana district, according to a person familiar with the conversation. Instead, Johnson continued, he would represent the entire Republican conference and protect vulnerable swing-district incumbents like Molinaro. The Democrat Party and their cultural allies are on a crusade to immerse young children in sexual imagery and radical gender ideology at school and in public.

Sex education that is LGBTQ+ inclusive should, at a minimum:

- Include information for all students about sexual orientation and gender identity that is age-appropriate and medically accurate.
- Be designed with the needs of LGBTQ+ students, and particularly BIPOC students, in mind and be implemented with awareness that all classes are likely to have some LGBTQ+ students.
- Include depictions of LGBTQ+ people and same-sex/gender loving relationships in a positive light in stories and role-plays.
- Use gender-neutral/expansive terms such as “they/them” and “partner” whenever possible.
- Ensure that prevention messages related to condom and birth control use are not relayed in a way that suggests only heterosexual youth or cisgender male/female couples need to be concerned about unintended pregnancy and STI prevention.
- Avoid making assumptions about students’ sexual orientation or gender identity.

Comprehensive sex education delivered in schools from kindergarten through 12th grade is the best way to provide truly LGBTQ+ inclusive sex education and ensure positive sexual health outcomes for all youth. These programs provide age-appropriate and medically accurate information on human development, relationships, personal skills, and sexual behavior including abstinence, sexual health, and society and culture.¹¹⁴ Most importantly for LGBTQ+

Johnson Led A Hearing Arguing Against The Right To Gender-Affirming Care For Children

Johnson Led A Hearing Arguing Against The Right To Gender-Affirming Care For Children. “On Thursday, U.S. Congressman Mike Johnson (LA-04), Chairman of the House Judiciary Subcommittee on the Constitution and Limited Government, led a hearing on ‘The Dangers and Due Process Violations of “Gender-Affirming Care” for Children.’ The hearing examined motivations for the rapid increase in the use of these treatments on children and highlighted the ongoing, barbaric mutilation of children under the guise of ‘care.’ The hearing featured testimony from Paula Scanlon, former University of Pennsylvania swimmer, Chloe Cole, a detransitioner and advocate, Jennifer Bauwens Ph.D., Director at the Center for Family Studies, and May Mailman, senior legal fellow at the Independent Women’s Forum.” [Rep. In A Hearing, Johnson Said Gender Affirming Care Was “Barbaric.” “On Thursday, U.S. Congressman Mike Johnson (LA-04), Chairman of the House Judiciary Subcommittee on the Constitution and Limited Government, led a hearing on ‘The Dangers and Due Process Violations of “Gender-Affirming Care” for Children.’ The hearing examined motivations for the rapid increase in the use of these treatments on children and highlighted the ongoing, barbaric mutilation of children under the guise of ‘care.’ [...] ‘Sex isn’t something you are assigned at birth. It is a prenatal development that occurs when every unborn child is in its mother’s womb. You can’t surgically free yourself, or someone else, from this fact of life. ‘However, we see adults inflicting harm on helpless children to affirm their world view: that is, that gender is fluid, sex can be surgically altered, and that there are no lasting consequences as a result of these gender transition procedures. ‘The reach of radical sexual identity politics isn’t limited to young children. We see this extended to young adults—especially at the university level. [...] ‘Something has gone terribly wrong and today we hope to shed light on what that is and how we can address the problem. Contrary to what the Democrats believe, the scourge of radical gender ideology is very real, efforts to cover up what’s being done to children are extreme, and the science is on our side.’” Rep. Mike Johnson, [7/27/23]

Molinaro Voted For The Parents Bill Of Rights In Education

2023: Molinaro Voted For The Parents Bill Of Rights In Education, Which Targeted LGBTQ Students

2023: Molinaro Voted For The Parents Bill Of Rights In Education, Despite An Amendment Targeting Transgender Students. "In a surprise turnaround, U.S. Rep. Michael Lawler voted 'no' on H.R. 5, dubbed The Parents Bill of Rights in Education. [...] 'Unfortunately, a late amendment to the bill - that unnecessarily targeted certain children - went too far,' Lawler said. He did not name the amendment, but said he was concerned that it could put vulnerable children at 'greater risk. Rep. Lauren Boebert of Colorado on Thursday had pushed through amendments to the bill that mandated schools inform the public when a transgender girl joins a female athletic team or is allowed to use the girls restroom or locker room. [...] U.S. Rep. Marc Molinaro, a freshman Republican who represents the 19th District, voted yes." Lohud, [3/24/23]

- Molinaro Said The Parents Bill Of Rights "Was Reasonable, Preserved Protections For Children, And Included Measures That Ensure Parents Know What's Being Taught In Schools." "In a surprise turnaround, U.S. Rep. Michael Lawler voted 'no' on H.R. 5, dubbed The Parents Bill of Rights in Education. [...] In a statement, Molinaro said he had worked to stop his party from adding amendments. Failed amendments included a push for private-school vouchers and a move to abolish the U.S. Department of Education. 'This bill originated from the simple idea that parents should have a say in their child's education,' said Molinaro, one of more than 100 co-sponsors. 'I worked so this bill was reasonable, preserved protections for children, and included measures that ensure parents know what's being taught in schools.'" Lohud, [3/24/23]

December 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Rogers, R-Ala., motion to suspend the rules and agree to the conference report to accompany the bill that would authorize $874.2 billion in discretionary national defense spending, including $841.5 billion for the Defense Department and $32.4 billion for national security programs within the Energy Department. It would also provide $23.2 billion in mandatory defense spending. The bill would authorize approximately $169.2 billion for weapons and other procurement and $145.9 billion for military research and development. Within these totals, it would authorize $32.9 billion for Navy shipbuilding and conversion; $19.6 billion for Air Force aircraft procurement; $18 billion for Navy aircraft procurement; $539 million for the Ground Based Strategic Deterrent ballistic missile system; $564 million for the Missile Defense Agency; and $382 million for the hypersonic attack cruise missile. It would authorize $545 million for continued development of Guam missile defense systems, $80 million for procurement for the Israeli Iron Dome missile defense system and $4.2 billion for Space Force procurement. Within Energy Department funding, it would authorize $24 billion for the National Nuclear Security Administration, primarily for the maintenance of a nuclear weapons stockpile. It would authorize $38.3 billion for the Defense Health Program and $18.2 billion for military construction. It would authorize $14.7 billion for the Pacific Deterrence Initiative and $3.6 billion for the European Deterrence Initiative, primarily intended to counter aggression by China and Russia, respectively. For international assistance and cooperation, it would authorize $300 million in security assistance to Ukraine; $409 million for the U.S. European Command, $565 million for the U.S. Africa Command; $398 million for forces in Syria and Iraq combating the Islamic State group; $351 million for the Cooperative Threat Reduction program assisting former Soviet Union countries; and $300 million for cooperative research and development programs with Israel. The bill would authorize a 5.2 percent military pay increase. It would authorize $7 billion for the Energy Department environmental restoration fund and require the department to undertake various environmental cleanup activities. Among its policy provisions, it would temporarily extend, through April 19, 2024, provisions of the Foreign Intelligence Surveillance Act that allow the U.S. government to collect communications on foreigners outside the U.S.; implement a personnel grade cap of GS-10 for diversity, equity and inclusion positions within the Defense Department; prohibit the creation of new DEI positions in the Defense Department; provide for congressional appointment and removal of the architect of the Capitol; and prohibit the use of funds for any activities involving unidentified anomalous phenomena unless the Defense Department has provided details of such activities to Congress. It would also require the National Archives to establish a UAP records collection, require each government agency to transmit relevant UAP documents to the collection, and require periodic review of such records for public disclosure. The measure is now cleared for the president.” The bill passed by a vote of 310-118. H.R. 2670, [Vote #723, 12/14/23; CQ, 12/14/23]

Molinaro Said He Would Support A Pentagon Funding Bill Stripping Defense Secretary Lloyd Austin Of His Salary, Despite Saying “It’s Not The Kind Of Thing That I Embrace.” ‘The Republican-led House voted on Wednesday to reduce the salary of Defense Secretary Lloyd J. Austin III to $1, as right-wing lawmakers tried to transform a Pentagon spending bill and a series of other funding measures into weapons to take aim at President Biden, his agenda and his top officials. [...] Representative Marc Molinaro of New York, a Republican expected to face a tough re-election race next year in a district that voted for Mr. Biden in 2020, said he would still support the Pentagon funding bill. ‘I just would say it’s not the kind of thing that I embrace,’ Mr. Molinaro said of stripping Mr. Austin of his salary.’ New York Times, [9/27/23]

Cashless Bail

Molinaro Led A Rally Calling For Gov. Hochul To Change Or Repeal Cashless Bail

Molinaro Led A Rally Calling For Gov. Hochul To Change Or Repeal Cashless Bail. “Republican lawmakers joined Dutchess County Executive Marcus Molinaro in the state Capitol on Monday urging Gov. Kathy Hochul to change or repeal the controversial cashless bail and discovery laws in her upcoming budget amendment as he builds his congressional campaign. Molinaro, 46, of Red Hook, led several members of the state Legislature in a rally against bail reform on the Million Dollar Staircase they've held several times before. ‘At the end of the day, if we're going to confront criminal justice, you must also consider the justice due victims and their stories,’ Molinaro said.” NNY360, [2/1/22]

Molinaro Opposed Cashless Bail Federally

Molinaro Said Supporting Cashless Bail Federally Would Be A Mistake. “Molinaro, who is challenging U.S. Rep. Antonio Delgado, D-Rhinebeck, this November, visited Catskill to shine the spotlight on bail reform and potential changes to the bail package signed into law in New York in 2019. The legislation mandated pretrial release for suspects without cash bail for most misdemeanor charges and nonviolent felonies in the state. ‘It has never been more challenging to be in law enforcement than it is today,’ Molinaro said Friday. ‘Showing that support on behalf of those men and women who make the ultimate sacrifice is always important. Today in New York, we're living in a much less safe community because of policies out of Albany and endorsed by Washington that have made us less safe. So I think it's important that the community understands that and we continue to speak for the kinds of reforms that provide for public safety.’ Molinaro said that if elected he can help craft federal laws that could benefit the local police community. ‘Antonio Delgado supports cashless bail in New York,’ Molinaro said. ‘There's been an effort to nationalize this policy by Washington, D.C. That's a mistake. Cashless is failing law enforcement and victims and it's failing our community. But it's also failing those individuals who are caught up in the criminal justice system because it's eliminated our ability to intervene with mental health and substance use services before severe crimes are committed.’ Hudson Valley 360, [4/30/22]

Molinaro Criticized Governor Hochul's Plan For Bail Reform

Molinaro Criticized Governor Hochul's Plan For Bail Reform, Saying “Communities Will Still Be At Risk, Victims Will Have Inadequate Protections.” “But Molinaro reserved most of his venom for bail reform. ‘The ‘compromise’ Gov. Hochul struck on bail reform between far-left Albany Democrats and establishment Albany Democrats still fails to address the serious concerns raised by law enforcement, victims and the public,’ Molinaro said. ‘New York State will remain the only state in the country that bars its judges from keeping criminal defendants behind bars, even if they're a risk to public safety or likely to reoffend. The safety of our communities will still be at risk, victims will have inadequate protections, and the state's justice system will remain a revolving door for violent criminal defendants.' The state's bail laws have seen their third adjustment since they were overhauled in 2020, making it nearly impossible for judges to put criminal defendants in jail pretrial in cases of nonviolent offenses." Hudson Valley 360, [5/5/23]

Molinaro Opposed New York's Law Eliminating Cash Bail For Most Arrests

Molinaro Op-Ed: "I Backed A Bill To Push Albany To Ditch Bail Reform." "Take Albany's bail reform for example. New victims are created every day because dangerous criminals are set free. Or, look at Washington, DC. Out-of-control, reckless spending fueled inflation, jacking up the cost of nearly everything. Now, the big box of cereal at Walmart is double the price and half the quantity. [...] I backed a bill to push Albany to ditch bail reform and passed my own legislation to prevent our kids' schools from being used as migrant shelters." Press Connects, Molinaro Op-Ed, [1/18/24]

Molinaro Opposed Eliminating Cash Bail. Molinaro Claimed New York's Bail Reform Turned Voters Away From Democrats. "Trump brought out voters around the state who normally stay home, Molinaro said. State laws passed by the Democratic Senate and Assembly and signed by Gov. Andrew M. Cuomo such as bail reform put off voters upstate, he said, even in a federal race like the 19th Congressional." The Times Union, [11/4/20]

- New York's January 2020 Bail Reform Law, Eliminating Cash Bail For Most Arrests, Was Expected To Reduce The Jail Population By At Least 40 Percent. "New York's new bail reform law had been in effect for a mere three months when the state legislature amended it in early April. The most significant change is that there are more situations where judges can impose cash bail. They will also have more discretion in setting bail and other conditions of pretrial release. The updates go into effect on July 1. The purpose of the original bail reform law was to reduce the number of people jailed while awaiting trial simply because they could not afford to pay bail. Court watchers estimated that it would have reduced the jail population by at least 40 percent by eliminating cash bail for as much as 90 percent of arrests. For the remaining cases, judges maintained the option of setting cash bail." Brennan Center for Justice, [4/16/20]

Molinaro Called Cuomo's Failure To Mention Bail Reform At His 2020 State Of The State Speech A "Dereliction." "Gov. Cuomo touched on dozens of proposals in his State of the State Address on Wednesday, but didn't spare a single breath discussing tweaks to New York's criminal-justice overhauls. The glaring omission came despite Cuomo's concession earlier this week that the brand new bail-reform law is in need of 'changes.' The blind spot in an otherwise kitchen-sink, hour-plus presentation in Albany flummoxed politicians on both sides of the aisle. 'It was a dereliction,' said Marc Molinaro, the Dutchess County executive who in 2018 was the GOP challenger pitted against Cuomo for the governorship. 'He should've acknowledged that, and I'm surprised he didn't,' Molinaro added. Bail reform, part of the large criminal-justice package that became law on New Year's Day, bars judges from imposing bail as a condition of release for suspects in most mis-demeanors and select felonies. Within a week of the implementation of the reforms, state Republicans, moderate Democrats and even Mayor de Blasio called for them to be scaled back." New York Post, [1/9/20]

2020: Molinaro Supported “Sensible” Police Reforms, But Criticized Other Reforms As “Obvious” Messaging Efforts

Molinaro Contrasted “Sensible” Police Reforms Like Use Of Force Policies And Chokehold Bans With What He Called “Obvious Attempts To Move The Overton Window.” “‘Use of force policies for law enforcement agencies throughout Dutchess County should be reviewed to ensure they restrict or ban dangerous practices such as the use of holds that restrict breathing or firing a weapon at a moving vehicle,’ Molinaro said. ‘Additionally, such policies should highlight and require de-escalation, limit the use of deadly force, clearly delineate a use-force-continuum, and provide as much guidance as practical.’ Reforms, the Dutchess executive said, could balance public safety and fair treatment of all communities. ‘With sensible reforms like the ones suggested and many being discussed at the national and state levels, outside the obvious attempts to move the Overton Window, we can have both a safer and fairer future,’ he said.” Poughkeepsie Journal, [6/14/20]

2019-20: Molinaro Was Criticized Over Treatment Of Two Black Girls Who Were Arrested And Charged After Being Manhandled By A Police Officer

The Mother Of Two Girls Who Were Charged With Crimes After One Of Them Was Apparently Thrown To The Ground By A Police Officer Said Molinaro Should Be “Ashamed” Of How They Were Treated. “Melissa Johnson, mother of Jamelia Barnett and Julissa Dawkins, participated in the virtual town hall and said Molinaro should be ‘ashamed’ for the treatment against her daughters. The two girls were involved in an incident in March 2019 in which two City of Poughkeepsie police officers responded to a fight involving a group of students on city streets. The sisters were charged with obstruction of governmental administration, and Dawkins was charged with resisting arrest, stemming from a previous incident in which Barnett appeared to be thrown to the ground by an officer. ‘I feel like the system failed me and my children,’ Johnson said. ‘We have been uncomfortable for so long and we are still so uncomfortable as Black people in this community. (We care) what white folks have to say, but we want you to stand beside us, not in front of us.’ In the comments section, several people called on Molinaro to respond to Johnson's comments, yet he remained muted through the entirety of the call.” Poughkeepsie Journal, [7/9/20]

Nonetheless, he did appreciate Johnson's willingness to share her thoughts and for directly addressing him: ‘Every one of her [Johnson's] points are valid. Molinaro Claimed The Sisters’ Attorney Rejected A Settlement That Would Have Resolved The Cases “With Charges Dismissed.” “It appeared all charges would be dismissed against Jamelia Barnett and Julissa Dawkins, the City of Poughkeepsie sisters at the center of a controversial police incident captured in a viral video last year, following a settlement between the family and Dutchess County. But Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro said the sisters' attorney, William Wagstaff, rejected the settlement, which he says Wagstaff originally proposed. And Wagstaff said there is nothing to settle and that all charges should be dismissed outright [...] Dutchess County Court ordered an adjournment in contemplation of dismissal for Barnett, resolving her case, according to Molinaro. Had the family agreed to the settlement, Molinaro said both cases would have been resolved ‘with charges dismissed.’ Wagstaff said there is no settlement for the juvenile delinquency cases or the civil causes of action against the officers and the City of Poughkeepsie. ‘There is nothing to settle regarding the juvenile delinquency case,’ he said. ‘Either they move the court to dismiss both petitions or explain to the public why, notwithstanding the urging of a U.S. congressman who co-hosted the Town Hall with Mr. Molinaro and the clear communal support for the dismissal, he's still not taking action.’” Poughkeepsie Journal, [7/10/20]

Molinaro Opposed Cuomo’s Decision To Pardon 30,000 Felons And Restore Their Right To Vote

Molinaro Opposed Cuomo’s Decision To Pardon 30,000 Felons And Grant Them Voting Rights. “Molinaro also disagreed with the governor’s decision to grant a pardon, and give the right to vote, to 30,000 convicted felons in New York State. “It’s the height of disrespect for the victims not to have a public discussion and be heard before any changes,” he said. “I believe you should pay your debt to society.” North Castle Rising, [9/7/18]

Molinaro Opposed Cuomo’s Executive Order Letting Sex Offenders On Parole Vote In Schools If They Were Polling Places

Molinaro Opposed Cuomo’s Executive Order Letting Sex Offenders On Parole Vote In Schools. “GOP gubernatorial candidate Marc Molinaro Thursday slammed Cuomo for rushing the order through and potentially ‘putting thousands of students at risk.’ Molinaro claimed that under his reading of the law, sex offenders can’t vote at polling places at schools because they are prohibited from entering them. He also said they can’t vote by absentee ballot because they are barred from leaving their county of residence under their conditions of parole. ‘This governor is encouraging sex offenders to break the law, which might actually violate their parole agreements. If Andrew Cuomo really wanted to, he could have addressed this issue legislatively, but in typical fashion, he tried to govern by fiat and made a total mess of the situation,’ Molinaro said.” New York Post, [9/7/18]

Law Enforcement Officers

Molinaro Voted For Making Assaulting A Law Enforcement Officer A Deportable Offense

Molinaro Voted For Making Assaulting A Law Enforcement Officer A Deportable Offense. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would establish that it is a deportable offense for a foreign national to commit an offense involving assault, as defined by the applicable jurisdiction, against a law enforcement officer if the assault occurred while the officer was on duty or because of their performance of official duties or their status as an officer. The bill's definition of law enforcement officers would include any person legally authorized to apprehend, arrest or prosecute an individual for a criminal offense, as well as firefighters and other first responders. As amended, the bill would require the Homeland Security Department to annually submit to Congress and publish on its website a report on the number of individuals deported in the previous year for assault against a police officer, under the bill's provisions." Marijuana

2022: Molinaro Said He Believed Marijuana Should Be At The Very Least Decriminalized On The Federal Level

2022: Molinaro Said He Believed Marijuana Should Be At The Very Least Decriminalized On The Federal Level. “Molinaro said he has no objection to the legalization of marijuana on the federal level, where it is still classified as a schedule 1 drug, but said he was unaware of the mechanism to accomplish that. At the very least, he said, marijuana should be decriminalized on a federal level. ‘I think we've moved to the point where it should be decriminalized nationwide, without question,’ he said. ‘And by the way, I think that other than objecting to the timing, you know the president's effort to in essence keep those who are dealing with marijuana-related crimes, we've gotten to the point where decriminalization nationwide is simply what is more appropriate.’” Daily Freeman, [10/18/22]

2018: Molinaro Opposed Legalizing Recreational Marijuana In New York

2018: Molinaro Opposed Legalizing Recreational Marijuana In New York, But Called For The State To Improve Access To Medical Marijuana. “Molinaro also said he disagrees with the state Health Department’s proposal to legalize marijuana for recreational use in New York state. New York should wait and see what happens in other states that are doing this. In the meantime, the state should improve access to medical marijuana for patients who can benefit from the drug. ‘This administration has done a woefully poor job of making medical marijuana accessible to all those who need it,’ he said.” Syracuse Post Standard, [9/21/18]

Molinaro Opposed Legalizing Medical Marijuana Before He Supported It

2007: Molinaro Voted Against Legalizing Medical Marijuana. On June 13, 2007, Molinaro voted “NO” on A-4867, a bill that “Legalizes the possession, manufacture, use, delivery, transfer, transport or administration of marihuana by a certified patient or designated caregiver for a certified medical use; prescribes procedures for such possession, manufacture, etc. including certification of patients by their practitioner, and that, in the practitioner's professional judgment, the serious condition should be treated with the medical use of marihuana; provides that possession or manufacture of marihuana shall be lawful under these provisions provided that the marihuana possessed does not exceed twelve plants and a total aggregate weight of two and a half ounces; directs the department of health to monitor such use and promulgate rules and regulations for registry identification cards; provides for reports by the department of health to the governor and legislature on the medical use of marijuana.” The bill passed the Assembly 95 to 52 and died in the Senate. Molinaro Claimed New York’s Plan To Legalize And Tax Marijuana Was Unfair To Counties

Molinaro Argued Counties Deserved More Than 25% Of Revenue From Planned Sales Taxes On Legal Marijuana. “Under the current blueprint, cities, towns and villages can opt out of allowing marijuana retailers in their communities. To create an incentive to allow it, the proposal would direct 75 percent of the local sales taxes to the municipalities that host the stores, while just 25 percent would go to counties. County leaders say this is unfair as counties will bear the brunt of the costs of marijuana legalization -- such as public health services or policing of impaired drivers. The proposal is a departure from how sales tax is collected normally in the state, said Marc Molinaro, Dutchess County executive and president of the New York State County Executives Association. ‘It defies logic in that the bulk of the revenue goes to the municipality that won't bear the brunt of the cost,’ Molinaro said.” Albany Times-Union, [3/26/21]

Police Funding

Molinaro Said The Defund The Police Movement Led To A Shortage Of Police Officers

Molinaro: “The Defund The Police Movement And Demonization Of Police Officers Has Driven Young People Out Of The Profession And Pushed Seasoned Veterans To Take Early Retirements. Now, We're Faced With A Critical Shortage Of Police Officers.” “U.S. Representative Marc Molinaro (NY-19) recently announced over $1.5 million in federal funding will be delivered amongst many police departments across the southern tier including Chenango County Norwich Police Department. Molinaro said, ‘The Defund the Police movement and demonization of police officers has driven young people out of the profession and pushed seasoned veterans to take early retirements. Now, we're faced with a critical shortage of police officers.’ ‘I stand with our police departments and am proud to be delivering $1.5 million to help them hire new officers and implement new trainings. Under Molinaro, Dutchess County Let Mental Health Professionals Respond To Certain 911 Calls Instead Of Law Enforcement

2021: Dutchess County Let Mental Health Professionals Respond To Certain 911 Calls Instead Of Law Enforcement. “At the start of the year, the county's helpline center was relocated to the 911 call center, which police officials say allows for better integrating mental health care to the overall approach. Mental health professionals can now respond to calls earlier related to social and mental health issues, instead of law enforcement. The county's Criminal Justice Council subcommittee on police reform will be asked to examine building on the county's helpline and Mobile Crisis Intervention Team to formalize a program to help divert calls to trained social workers and mental health professionals.” Poughkeepsie Journal, [3/17/21]

Molinaro Said He Opposed Defunding Police And Did Not Engage In Defunding In Dutchess County

Molinaro: “We Don't Defund Law Enforcement In The County, We Invest Smartly.” “Following last year's protests in the wake of George Floyd's death, some Dutchess residents called for the defunding of local police and the reallocation of these funds to other services, such as mental health. Molinaro rejected this outlook, supporting investment into local law enforcement. ‘We don't defund law enforcement in the county, we invest smartly,’ he said. ‘By supporting the sacrifice and service of law enforcement, we give them the tools and the resources they need to do their jobs well, and that's our commitment.’” Poughkeepsie Journal, [10/27/21]

Molinaro Voted For House Republicans’ Failed Funding Bill And Praised Its Spending Cuts

9/29/23: Molinaro Voted For Passing The Republican-Backed Continuing Resolution. In September 2023, Molinaro voted for “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide funding for federal government operations and services through Oct. 31, 2023, with a 29.9 percent cut from fiscal 2023 levels for most programs. It would fund veterans’ programs, the Department of Homeland Security, national security programs and disaster assistance at full fiscal 2023 levels. It would also implement nearly all provisions of House Republicans’ border security and immigration bill (HR 2), which the House passed in May 2023. It would provide an increase in funding for the Defense Department at rates set forth in House Republicans’ fiscal 2024 defense appropriations bill (HR 4365), which would provide for a 3.6 percent funding increase over fiscal 2023. It would also provide funding increases for the Agriculture Department and provide an additional $220 million above fiscal 2023 levels for Energy Department nuclear programs. Among its border security and immigration provisions, it would require DHS, within seven days of enactment, to resume all activities related to “border wall” construction on the U.S.-Mexico border that were underway or planned prior to Jan. 20, 2021; require DHS to reopen or restore, no later than Sept. 30, 2023, the use of all Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention facilities that were in operation on Jan. 20, 2021; and require DHS to return all unaccompanied children to their country of origin, regardless of whether they are from a contiguous country to the U.S. In addition to provisions of HR 2, it would place limitations on the use of DHS funding provided by the bill, including prohibitions on removing existing U.S.-Mexico border barriers, transporting inadmissible adults into the U.S., and the use of Customs and Border Protection’s “CBP One” app to facilitate the parole of an individual into the U.S. It also would prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to initiate or resume any project or activity not funded during fiscal 2023 and would establish a congressional fiscal commission tasked with identifying policies to “improve the fiscal situation.” The bill was rejected by a vote of 198-232. Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act, Which Cut Funding For Public Safety And Border Security By Billions

April 2023: Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act [DOA] – Suspending The Debt Limit Through March 2024 Or Until $1.5 Trillion Has Been Reached And Capping Federal Spending For FY 2024 At 2022 Levels With A Capped 1% Per Year Growth. In April 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would suspend the statutory limit on federal debt through March 31, 2024, or until an additional $1.5 trillion has been borrowed — whichever occurs first. It would also include a range of provisions to limit federal spending, as well as the text of a previously passed energy and permitting policy package. The bill would set base discretionary spending limits through fiscal 2033, capping spending for fiscal 2024 at the fiscal 2022 level of $1.47 trillion — a reduction from current spending levels — and raising the cap by 1 percent annually through fiscal 2033. It would also include similar annual cap adjustments for specified programs, including for wildfire suppression, disability reviews and redeterminations, health care fraud and abuse control, and disaster reemployment services and eligibility assessments. The bill would rescind unobligated amounts from various funds provided by the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package (PL 117-169) for COVID-19 relief, IRS enforcement, and certain climate- and infrastructure-focused initiatives, as well as all unobligated funding from the March 2021 coronavirus relief reconciliation package (PL 117-2) and earlier coronavirus response laws. The bill would expand or establish work requirements for Medicaid beneficiaries aged 19 to 55 and raise from 49 to 55 the oldest age at which existing work requirements would apply for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program beneficiaries. It would also modify various work standards for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program, including to update the baseline for calculating certain state workforce participation standards and require states to collect certain data related to work outcomes for TANF participants. To limit regulatory spending, the bill would nullify pending executive actions suspending student loan payments and prohibit the Education Department from implementing any substantially similar actions without congressional approval. It would also establish a process to require congressional approval of all “major” federal rules that would have an annual impact of at least $100 million, cause a major increase in prices, or cause significant adverse effects to economic competitiveness. Among energy- and climate-focused provisions, the bill would repeal, phase out or narrow a variety of climate-focused tax credits under the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package, including repealing new credits for solar and wind projects, sustainable aviation fuel and clean fuel production. It would also include the full text of the House-passed energy and permitting package (HR 1) that would require a number of actions to boost the domestic production of fossil fuels and certain critical minerals and accelerate the construction of natural gas pipelines and other energy infrastructure, while reversing or repealing certain presidential actions taken and laws enacted during the Biden administration related to energy policy and climate change.” The bill passed by a vote of 217-215. The Default On America Act Cut $17 Billion In Funding For Public Safety. “The GOP Default on America Act’s 22% spending cut would slash nearly $17 billion in funding for federal law enforcement, courts, and prisons that support public safety. Republicans are gambling with Americans’ safety by threatening to not raise the debt limit. After attacking Democrats for ‘defunding the police,’ this bill cuts the Department of Justice’s budget by over $8 billion and threatens nearly 30,000 law enforcement jobs. The DOA Act cuts nearly $1 billion in grants for state, local, and tribal law enforcement. The bill cuts $1 billion in FBI funding that the agency uses to conduct background checks, solve violent crimes, and combat terrorism. This includes $150 million in cuts to programs created by the Violence Against Women Act, which will especially harm women in Native communities. It eliminates $564 million in funding for the Drug Enforcement Administration, and $384 million more from the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms, and Explosives.” Joint Economic Committee, Press Release, [4/26/23]

The Default On America Act Cut $3.8 Billion In Funding For U.S. Customs And Border Protection And Almost $2 Billion From U.S. Immigrations And Customs Enforcement. ‘The GOP Default on America Act’s 22% spending cut would slash nearly $17 billion in funding for federal law enforcement, courts, and prisons that support public safety. Republicans are gambling with Americans’ safety by threatening to not raise the debt limit. [...] After endless rhetoric about the border, the GOP plan guts funding for border security. The bill cuts over $3.8 billion in funding for U.S. Customs and Border Protection and almost $2 billion from U.S. Immigrations and Customs Enforcement. The DOA would reject President Biden’s $4.7 billion proposed investment to strengthen security at the Southwestern Border. This plan shrinks investments in the science and technology that make the Department of Homeland Security more effective by almost $200 million.’ Joint Economic Committee, Press Release, [4/26/23]

The Default On America Threatened The Jobs Of 2,000 Border Patrol Agents. “The White House ripped House Republicans for the debt ceiling legislation they passed last month, arguing spending cuts in the bill would be a ‘gut punch’ to border agents. The bill would raise the debt ceiling, but also makes good on Republicans’ promise to cut spending. Democrats, who in the Senate have signaled they will not consider the House bill, have gone on the offense on the spending cuts. The White House dubbed the bill the ‘Default on America Act.’ [...] Bates claimed that the bill, if enacted, would result in the termination of 2,000 Border Patrol agents, slash the budget of the Drug Enforcement Agency and allow 150,000 pounds of cocaine, 900 pounds of fentanyl, 2,000 pounds of heroin and 17,000 pounds of methamphetamine into the U.S.” The Hill, [5/14/23]

Molinaro Called For Increased Funding For Mental Health To Prevent Crimes

Molinaro Called For Increased Funding For Mental Health To Prevent Crimes, Saying A $50 Billion Investment Would Allow For Training To Help Identify Individuals Who May Commit Violence.

“Republican Marc Molinaro called for more funding for mental health and other programs that he said could help prevent crimes before they happen and criticized both the use of plea bargains that allow individuals charged with gun-related crimes to plead to non-gun crimes and laws that he said have ‘handcuffed law enforcement.’ [...] Molinaro said a government investment of $50 billion would ensure that everyone interacting with a young person has the ability and training to identify those who have experienced trauma and may commit violence. ‘I want to leverage federal aid to invest in crisis intervention and informed care. I want to leverage federal aid to not have police departments beg for $3,500, but direct aid to ensure they have the tools and the resources to do their jobs,' he said. He criticized bail reform and other laws such as the HALT Act, which among other things limits the use of solitary confinement to 15 days, saying those laws have hamstrung law enforcement and the courts and put criminals back on the street." In a press release announcing the formation of the group, Molinaro said the group will act as a central point of information and assessment related to threat cases and will develop a proactive response that balances the safety needs of the community with the health and wellness needs of those exhibiting risk behaviors." New York Jails And Prisons

Molinaro Criticized The Closure Of Jails And Prisons In New York

Molinaro Said He Had Significant Concerns With The Closure Of The Downstate Correctional Facility.

"We continue to have significant concerns regarding the closure of the Downstate Correctional Facility, including the correctional staff who are now forced to commute to other facilities as gas prices are soaring,' Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro said Monday. In a November letter to the governor, he pushed back on the idea of the prison being underutilized, saying it doesn't have the static population as other permanent facilities because it's a receptions center where people await court dates and transfers to other prisons. Molinaro, a Republican who ran for governor in 2018, argued closing the prison will make it more difficult for families from New York City to visit incarcerated loved ones. High among his concerns is what to do with the site of the prison. The Beacon Correctional Facility, also in Dutchess, closed in 2013 and has not been redeveloped. In 2019, the Empire State Development said it would redevelop the site when it selected a proposal to create a campus focus on food, farming, sports, and recreation. Yet, Molinaro said Monday, there 'has been no activity at the site' and it remains an eyesore. Hochul's State of the State book outlined the creation of a commission in which leaders from state agencies and others will develop an action plan that includes land use, redevelopment, and local workforce trends.'" Molinaro Said Gov. Hochul's Plan To Close Five Prisons In New York Was "A Dangerous Sequel To Albany's Multi-Year Pro-Crime Agenda."

"Gov. Kathy Hochul announced Tuesday that she wants to close of five prisons across the state, but did not provide any methodology or metrics for what facilities should be considered. [...] U.S. Rep. Marc Molinaro, R-19, said one of his top priorities is public safety, and Hochul's plan falls woefully short of that goal. 'First bail reform, now this. The proposal is a dangerous sequel to Albany's multi-year pro-crime agenda. These closures never save money, they upend the local economy and put corrections officers and the community in danger,' Molinaro said in a statement." Hudson Valley 360, [1/18/24]

2008: Molinaro Criticized Governor Eliot Spitzer For Planning To Close A Prison In Hudson, NY

2008: Molinaro Criticized Plans To Close Hudson Correctional Facility, A Prison He Said Was A Driver Of “Economic Stability” In Hudson, New York. “Senator Steve Saland (R,I,C Poughkeepsie) was joined today by Assemblyman Marc Molinaro (R,I,C Tivoli), City of Hudson Mayor Richard Scalera, Columbia County Board of Supervisors Chairman Art Baer and a number of union representatives at a press conference today to denounce the Governor’s recent announcement of the closing of the Hudson Correctional Facility (H.C.F.) in January 2009. Four other facilities operated by the New York State Department of Correctional Services (DOCS) are also slated to close. [...] ‘The closure of the Hudson Correctional Facility will have a devastating impact on the Columbia County economy and more directly on the families who rely on these jobs. It’s sometimes forgotten that although a prison, this facility offers a level of economic stability for the City of Hudson. I certainly advocate reducing state spending, however, as stated in New York State Department of Correctional Services own press release we have invested significant resources into improving this facility that is at or near full capacity so it makes no sense to close it now. I am joining Senator Steve Saland today in calling on Commissioner Brian Fischer and Governor Eliot Spitzer to reconsider this decision,’ said Assemblyman Marc Molinaro (R,I,C-Tivoli).” Senator Steve Saland, Press Release, [1/16/08]

Solitary Confinement

Molinaro Called For The Repeal Of The Humane Alternatives To Long-Term Solitary Confinement Act

Molinaro Called For The Repeal Of The Humane Alternatives To Long-Term Solitary Confinement Act. “Congressional candidate and Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro called on the state to repeal the Humane Alternatives to Long-Term Solitary Confinement Act (HALT) in the wake of the Cossackie incident. The HALT act, which was signed into law by then-Gov. Andrew Cuomo in 2021, limits the use of solitary confinement for all incarcerated persons to 15 days. ‘It’s difficult to see this incident and not acknowledge the reality that the state has taken away tools of corrections officers to enforce order within facilities,’ Molinaro said Wednesday. ‘It is imperative the state provide necessary funding to our corrections officers and repeal the HALT act. Control is slipping away from officers into the hands of the inmates which puts everyone - officers, staff and inmates - at risk.’” Hudson Valley 360, [8/4/22]

Molinaro Attended A Rally Calling For The Repeal Of State Legislation That Limits The Use Of Solitary Confinement To 15 Days For Inmates, Saying The Policy Was Dangerous For Corrections Officers. “Members of the New York State Correctional Officers and Police Benevolent Association rallied outside the Cossackie Correctional Facility on Tuesday to call for the repeal of state legislation that limits the use of solitary confinement to 15 days for inmates. In the wake of an Aug. 1 incident at the Cossackie Correctional Facility that resulted in 10 corrections officers sustaining injuries in an inmate brawl, several dozen officers and family members called for the repeal of the Humane Alternatives to Long-Term Solitary Confinement Act during the rally. [...] Republican Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro, who lost a close special election Aug. 23 to Democratic Ulster County Executive Pat Ryan to serve the remainder of Lt. Gov. Antonio Delgado's vacated term in the 19th Congressional District, attended the rally in support of the corrections officers. ‘Policies out of Albany have made it more dangerous for COs all across the state of New York and by extension, more dangerous for us as a state,’ Molinaro said. ‘These men and women feel disrespected and they feel ignored. They’ve seen politicians make decisions that undermine the job that these officers are expected to do.’” Hudson Valley 360, [9/1/22]

Molinaro Said He Supported The Formation Of A Bipartisan And Bicameral Commission To Address The Long-Term Solvency Of Social Security

Molinaro Said He Supported The Formation Of A Bipartisan And Bicameral Commission To Address The Long-Term Solvency Of Social Security. ‘One participant, expressing concern about Molinaro's voting record, asked the congressman if he'd vote against any proposed cuts to Social Security and Medicare. Molinaro, R-Red Hook, who represents the 19th Congressional District, answered That ‘Medicare and Social Security should be removed from budget conversations. ‘I do not believe, nor could I support Congress nickeling and diming our way to diminish the value of the programs,’ he said. In response to numerous audience questions and in an interview after the event with the Freeman, Molinaro emphasized that he wants to see the formation of a bipartisan bicameral commission that would converse with the president over the next two years to ensure the long-term solvency of Social Security. He did not offer a concrete timeline for when such a commission could be formed. ‘It should include some of the things these signs advocate,’ he said during the session, addressing the protestors. Several shouted back ‘you're not answering the question.’ He again emphasized the bi-partisan-bi-cameral commission that would be ‘off budget’ and ‘off politics.’ Daily Freeman, [3/15/23]

When Asked If Supported Raising The Age For Social Security Eligibility, Molinaro Did Not Answer The Question. ‘When pressed if he'd support raising the age for Social Security to 70 from 65 or ending the program, Molinaro asserted he did not want the program to end, but did not say if he supports an age increase. He again emphasized the need for a ‘bi-partisan, bi-cameral commission’ to tackle such decisions. When questioned if he’d support tax increases to preserve Medicare and Social Security by audience members, Molinaro acknowledged he ‘may have to accept things he doesn’t like.’ When asked about tax increases specifically on the rich, Molinaro said he doesn’t support increasing taxes.’ Daily Freeman, [3/15/23]

Wait Times

Molinaro Voted For Policies That Worsened Social Security And Medicare Assistance Wait Times

Molinaro Voted For HR 2811, Suspending The Debt Limit Through March 2024 Or Until $1.5 Trillion Has Been Reached And Capping Federal Spending For FY 2024 At 2022 Levels With A Capped 1% Per Year Growth. In April 2023, Molinaro voted for: ‘Passage of the bill, as amended, that would suspend the statutory limit on federal debt through March 31, 2024, or until an additional $1.5 trillion has been borrowed — whichever occurs first. It would also include a range of provisions to limit federal spending, as well as the text of a previously passed energy and permitting policy package. The bill would set base discretionary spending limits through fiscal 2033, capping spending for fiscal 2024 at the fiscal 2022 level of $1.47 trillion — a reduction from current spending levels — and raising the cap by 1 percent annually through fiscal 2033. It would also include similar annual cap adjustments for specified programs, including for wildfire suppression, disability reviews and redeterminations, health care fraud and abuse control, and disaster reemployment services and eligibility assessments. The bill would rescind unobligated amounts from various funds provided by the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package (PL 117-169) for COVID-19 relief, IRS enforcement, and certain climate- and infrastructure-focused initiatives, as well as all unobligated funding from the March 2021 coronavirus relief reconciliation package (PL 117-2) and earlier coronavirus response laws. The bill would expand or establish work requirements for Medicaid beneficiaries aged 19 to 55 and raise from 49 to 55 the oldest age at which existing work requirements would apply for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program beneficiaries. It would also modify various work standards for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program, including to update the baseline for calculating certain state workforce participation standards and require states to collect certain data related to work outcomes for TANF participants. To limit regulatory spending, the bill would nullify pending executive actions suspending student loan payments and prohibit the Education Department from implementing any substantially similar actions without congressional approval. It would also establish a process to require congressional approval of all ‘major’ federal rules that would have an annual impact of at least $100 million, cause a major increase in prices, or cause significant adverse effects to economic competitiveness. Among energy- and climate-focused provisions, the bill would repeal, phase out or narrow a variety of climate-focused tax credits under the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package, including repealing new credits for solar and wind projects, sustainable aviation fuel and clean fuel production. It would also include the full text of the House-passed energy and permitting package (HR 1) that would require a number of actions to boost the domestic production of fossil fuels and certain critical minerals and accelerate the construction of natural gas pipelines and other energy infrastructure, while reversing or repealing certain presidential actions taken and laws enacted during the Biden administration related to energy policy and climate change.’ The bill passed by a vote of 217-215. 2023: Molinaro Voted For Repealing Remaining IRS Funding From The $71 Billion Appropriated In The FY 2022 Budget. In January 2023, Molinaro voted for: "Passage of the bill that would rescind unobligated balances from $71 billion appropriated to the IRS in the fiscal 2022 budget reconciliation bill (PL 117-169) for tax enforcement and operations support, as well as $726 million for a task force to design a free direct e-file system for tax returns; the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration; Office of Tax Policy functions related to promulgating tax regulations; the U.S. Tax Court; and Treasury Department oversight and support of the IRS. It would not rescind any funding from the $3.1 billion provided by the reconciliation bill for taxpayer services or the $4.7 billion for business systems modernization." The bill passed by a vote of 221-210. H.R. 23, [Vote #25, 1/9/23; CQ, 1/9/23]

- Molinaro Voted Against A Motion To Recommit The Repeal Of IRS Funding To Committee. In January 2023, Molinaro voted against: “Kildee, D-Mich., motion to recommit the bill that would rescind IRS funding appropriated by the fiscal 2022 budget reconciliation bill (PL 117-169) to the House Ways and Means Committee.” The motion was rejected by a vote of 208-221. Funding That H.R. 23 Cut Was Earmarked For Combating Wealthy And Corporate Tax Cheats

$46 Billion Of The Funding Cut By H.R. 23 Was Earmarked For Restoring The Internal Revenue Service’s Ability To Go After Wealthy Tax Cheats. “Indeed, about $46 billion of the funding that would be revoked by the Republican bill is specifically earmarked for restoring the IRS’s ability to go after wealthy tax cheats. Tax dodging is extremely common among the richest Americans, who are able to use complex methods to hide their money from the government — and the IRS, underfunded and sometimes unable to perform basic tasks due to budget deficits, doesn’t have the resources to fully investigate and recoup those dodged taxes.” Truthout, [1/10/23]

The Internal Revenue Service Funds Were Intended To Help Crack Down On Tax Evasion. “Democrats included an extra $80 billion for the I.R.S. in last year’s Inflation Reduction Act, which passed over Republican opposition, saying it would help the agency crack down on tax evaders and ensure that the government was collecting the taxes it was owed. The money will be used to hire 87,000 I.R.S. employees and modernize the agency’s antiquated technology systems. That investment is expected to generate $180 billion in revenue over 10 years.” New York Times, [1/9/23]

Office Of Management And Budget: “H.R. 23 Protects Wealthy Tax Cheats At The Expense Of Honest, Middle-Class Taxpayers.” “‘Far from protecting middle-class families or small businesses, H.R. 23 protects wealthy tax cheats at the expense of honest, middle-class taxpayers,’ wrote the Office of Management and Budget in a statement of administration policy, a firm way for the administration to state its official stance on legislation.” Truthout, [1/10/23]

Treasury Department Spokeswoman: H.R. 23 “Would Allow Wealthy And Corporate Tax Evaders To Continue Avoiding Taxes Owed.” “‘House Republicans’ legislation would allow wealthy and corporate tax evaders to continue avoiding taxes owed, increasing the burden on honest, hardworking families who pay their taxes with every paycheck,’ said Ashley Schapitl, a Treasury Department spokeswoman. ‘The I.R.S. audits nearly 80 percent fewer millionaires than a decade ago, and this legislation would deny the agency much-needed resources to hire top talent to go after the $163 billion in taxes avoided by the top 1 percent annually.’” New York Times, [1/9/23]

Senate Majority Leader Schumer: H.R. 23 Was “A Giveaway To The Multimillionaires And Big Corporations.” “The Biden administration issued a statement of policy on Monday confirming that the president would veto the measure and dismissing it as ‘a reckless bill.’ Senator Chuck Schumer, Democrat of New York and the majority leader, said that ‘this is a giveaway to the multimillionaires and big corporations, and Democrats won’t let it happen.’” New York Times, [1/9/23]

IRS Funding Under The Biden Administration Was Used To Address Billions In Tax Evasion By The Wealthy

IRS Funding Under The Biden Administration Was Used To Collect More Than $500 Million In Unpaid Taxes From Fewer Than 2,000 Delinquent Millionaires. “President Biden has already secured funding for the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that is enabling it to crack down on wealthy and big business tax cheats. The IRS has used this funding to collect more than $500 million in unpaid taxes from fewer than 2,000 delinquent millionaires, launch enforcement action against 25,000 millionaires who have not filed a tax return since 2017, and crack down on high-end tax evasion like deducting personal use of corporate jets as a business expense. In total, the IRS is projected to collect hundreds of billions of dollars in additional revenue over the next decade thanks to this investment.” White House, Press Release, [3/7/24]

2022: Molinaro Said He Would Have Voted Against The Inflation Reduction Act

2022: Molinaro Said He Would Have Voted Against The Inflation Reduction Act. “Another national topic the candidates were asked about was how they would have voted for the recently passed Inflation Reduction Act. Molinaro said he would have voted ‘no’ on the bill, because ‘it will not result in inflation reduction.’ He didn’t think the government should spend so much money, hire 87,000 Internal Revenue Service agents, and didn’t agree with the corporate tax as it would ‘trickle down’ to the consumer. ‘It misses the boat,’ he said. He said when he became county executive, ‘We cut the size of the government.’ He said property taxes have gone down $5.2 million since he took office and the county eliminated the sales tax on clothing. ‘We have a more effective government and are fiscally sound,’ he said.” Daily Star, [8/18/22]

CBPP: To Pay For A Permanent Corporate Tax Cut, The GOP Tax Bill Let Individual Tax Cuts Expire In 2027 Resulting In A $32 Billion Tax Increase For American Households In 2027. “Because Senate reconciliation rules prohibit the bill from adding to deficits after 2027, Republican leaders then faced another choice: set the entire bill to expire by the end of the decade, so there were no costs after 2027; revise it so that it pays for itself after ten years; or make certain priority tax cuts permanent and pay for them with other permanent measures that raise revenues or reduce program spending, while letting lower-priority tax-cut provisions expire. They chose the last approach. And they centered the bill around permanent corporate rate cuts and other tax cuts for multinationals. [...] Overall, in 2027 — when only the corporate tax cuts, slower inflation measure, and individual mandate repeal would remain in place — the Senate bill would, on average, raise taxes or reduce federal expenditures for households with incomes below $75,000 by about $60 billion — while still giving large tax reductions (through its corporate tax cuts) to those at the top.” CBPP, [11/20/17]

The TCJA Implemented A Cap On State And Local Tax (SALT) Deductions. “Specifically, the 2017 law eliminates the full deductibility of state and local taxes by capping deductions. This provision was used to finance other tax reductions in the TCJA.” Rockefeller Institute Of Government, [5/14/20]

- 2017: The Republican Tax Law Capped State And Local Tax Deductions At $10,000. “Trump told regional newspaper reporters in response to a question Wednesday that he’s ‘open to talking about’ revisions to the so-called SALT cap, which limits to $10,000 the amount of state and local levies, including property taxes, that taxpayers can deduct each year on their federal returns. ‘There are some people from New York who have been speaking to me about doing something about that, about changing things. It’s been severe on them,’ he said.” Bloomberg News, [2/7/19]

Rockefeller Institute: SALT Cap Resulted In Billions Of Dollars Of Loss Of Economic Activity In New York

Rockefeller Institute: “If The 2017 SALT Cap Were Eliminated, New York State’s Economy Would Support 107,000 Additional Full-Time Jobs Annually.” “If the 2017 SALT cap were eliminated, New York State’s economy would support 107,000 additional full-time jobs annually, on average, in the first seven years (2018–24).” Rockefeller Institute Of Government, [5/14/20]

Rockefeller Institute: The SALT Cap Caused New York To Lose $14.4 Billion To $24.5 Billion In Economic Activity Annually. “Total economic activity lost as a result of the SALT cap ranges from $14.4 billion to $24.5 billion annually depending on the methodological approach used for analysis.” Rockefeller Institute Of Government, [5/14/20]

Molinaro Claimed To Lobby Against The SALT Cap

2018: Molinaro Claimed He Lobbied Against The SALT Cap. “Beyond tone, Molinaro differs with Cuomo on approach, even where they may agree on policy. The Trump administration’s $10,000 cap on SALT (property and income tax) deductions will hurt New Yorkers, Molinaro said, and he lobbied against it.” The Journal News, [8/5/18]

Molinaro Expressed Concerns About The Republican Tax Law’s Caps On State And Local Tax Deductions, But Said Albany Shared Blame For High Local Property Taxes. “Molinaro maintains that Congress should have eased the burden on taxpayers by phasing in or limiting the impact on local property taxes under the federal Tax Cuts and Job Act, which radically limits the deductions taxpayers can take from federal income tax. But he says Albany shares blame in high local property taxes. ‘There’s no reason that Congress couldn’t have worked their way to at least fade out or to minimize that impact,’ Molinaro said. ‘But the governor, claiming that this is an assault on New York, is lying to New Yorkers. He wants you to believe that our problem is created by Washington. No, our problem was created by Albany. In particular, this state forces more state spending down on the local property taxes than any state in the country, and that’s because too many times they either don’t have the money to pay for what they want, or they don’t want to take responsibility for paying for what they want,’ he said. ‘What happens, of course, is school taxes and local property taxes are arbitrarily high.’” Journal News, [7/31/18]

Molinaro Called Antonio Delgado A Hypocrite For Not Repealing The SALT Cap, Though Build Back Better Would Have Raised The Cap By A Factor Of Eight

Molinaro Criticized Delgado For Failing To Secure SALT Cap Repeal And Called it “Much Needed Relief.” HOST: “Your opponent has talked about SALT, but what we’re hearing now is that SALT is not going to get repealed, and New Yorkers are still going to be on the hook for this thing. Is this an example of why we need to think differently and why we need change?” MOLINARO: “It is, listen, voters went to the polls in 2020. They voted for a congressman who said he was going to fight to repeal the SALT cap. That has now been abandoned [...] And so here we are on an island and we need a member of congress who’s willing to stand up. I don’t know what his position is on most things, most people don’t. He’s been very good at not taking positions. This is one he took. The repeal of the SALT cap was something that he and others fought for. The Congressman in Long Island said ‘if we don’t do this we’ll look like idiots.’ The truth of the matter is this is much needed relief.” WGY, 6:43-7:45, [10/22/21](AUDIO)

The Build Back Better Act That Passed The House In November 2021 Increased The SALT Cap From $10,000 To $80,000. “The U.S. House of Representatives took a major step toward repealing the SALT cap Friday when it passed the Build Back Better bill. The House voted to dramatically increase the cap, which limits the deductibility of state and local taxes [...] The House raised the SALT deduction from $10,000 to $80,000.” CBS News, [11/19/21]

Molinaro Campaigned For Governor On A Plan That Would Cut Taxes For New York’s Richest Residents

City And State: Molinaro Was “Campaigning For Governor On A Plan That Would Cut Taxes On New York’s Richest Residents.” “Molinaro has consistently worked to bolster his image as a centrist. He has said that same-sex marriage and protections for members of the LGBTQ community are basic civil rights. He voted against allowing hydraulic fracturing in New York as a member of the Assembly, though he now supports a pilot program to allow the controversial practice in the Southern Tier. On the other hand, he supports Trump’s recently passed tax bill, which gave large tax cuts to the wealthy and corporations but will raise taxes on many middle-class New Yorkers due to its provision limiting the state and local tax deduction. He is campaigning for governor on a plan that would cut taxes on New York’s richest residents and also attempt to reduce local property taxes.” City and State, [10/10/18]

In A Fundraising Email, Molinaro Criticized The Build Back Better Act

In A Fundraising Email, Molinaro Called The Build Back Better Act A “Tax And Spend Bill” That Would Increase The Size Of “A Bloated Federal Government.” “With Americans paying more for everything from groceries to gas, Democrats just pushed through a tax and spend bill that will only inflate the inflation problem- leading to even higher taxes, costs and prices for families, farmers and small businesses. We can't afford to pay more to feed our families or heat our homes - all to cover the cost of massive increases in the size, scale and scope of a bloated Federal government. We don't need a bigger, more invasive IRS. We don't need hundreds of new government agencies. We need competent leadership that knows a bigger, more expensive government isn't a better one. The Build Back Better Act Included A 15% Minimum Tax On Corporations With Income More Than $1 Billion

The Build Back Better Act Included A 15% Minimum Tax On Corporations With Income More Than $1 Billion. “Passage of the fiscal 2022 budget reconciliation bill, as amended, that would provide approximately $2 trillion in investments and tax cuts to address climate change and child care, health care, education, housing and other social policies intended to support families. It would establish a child care and early learning entitlement program, providing approximately $100 billion for the program through fiscal 2024. It would provide $18 billion through fiscal 2024 for a free universal preschool program. It would extend through 2022 the expanded child tax credit provided by prior coronavirus relief law (PL 117-2) and provide $5 billion to administer the credit. It would establish a paid family and medical leave benefit for up to four weeks per year, beginning in 2024. It would require the Health and Human Services Department to negotiate a "maximum fair price" for insulin and select Medicare-eligible, brand-name drugs that do not have generic competition. It would require manufacturers to provide rebates for single-source drugs under Medicare Parts B and D for which prices increase faster than inflation. For Medicare Part D, it would cap annual out-of-pocket limit at $2,000 beginning in 2024. It would establish or extend expanded eligibility for certain tax credits toward Affordable Care Act marketplace insurance premiums through 2025. It would establish or expand a number of tax credits to incentivize actions by businesses and individuals to mitigate climate change, including to expand credits for renewable energy production and facilities, carbon capture facilities, use of alternative fuels and energy efficiency improvements at residential properties; and to establish individual credits for the purchase of electric vehicles. It would raise royalty rates and fees for oil and gas drilling leases and cancel or ban certain offshore leases. It would provide $29 billion to support the deployment of low- and zero-emission technologies, more than $20 billion for federal climate resiliency and environmental conservation activities and $9 billion for federal procurement of electric vehicles and related infrastructure. It would provide $65 billion for public housing improvements, $24 billion for rental assistance housing vouchers and $15 billion for down payment assistance and loan programs for first-generation homebuyers. It would provide $9.8 billion for local transit projects to support mobility and affordable housing access disadvantaged communities and $9 billion for lead remediation and water line replacement projects. It would forgive all debt owed by the National Flood Insurance Program's debt, for a total of $20.5 billion. It would provide such sums as necessary for the USDA to forgive farm loan debt for economically distressed farmers and ranchers. It would provide $6.6 billion to the Small Business Administration and Minority Business Development Agency to help underrepresented individuals with business development. It would provide $20 billion for Labor and Education department workforce development programs and $1.9 billion for Labor Department worker protection agencies. It would allow individuals who entered the United States prior to Jan. 1, 2011, to receive a grant of parole allowing them to remain temporarily in the country for a period of five years, but no later than Sept. 30, 2021. It would temporarily increase from $10,000 to $80,000 the annual cap on the deduction for state and local taxes for tax years 2021 through 2030. To offset costs, it would establish or modify various taxes on corporations and high-income individuals, including to establish a 15 percent alternative minimum tax for corporations with an annual income exceeding $1 billion; a one percent tax on stock buybacks by public companies; and an additional five percent tax on individual income over $10 million and further three percent tax on income over $25 million. It would provide $78.9 billion to improve IRS operations and tax enforcement." Passed by a vote of 220-213. HR 5376, [Vote #385, 11/19/21, CQ 11/19/21]

Build Back Better Included Investments In The IRS To Address Tax Evasion By Those Making Over $1 Million Per Year

Build Back Better Included Investments In The IRS To Address Tax Evasion By Those Making Over $1 Million Per Year. "Regular workers pay the taxes they owe on wages and salaries—with a 99 percent compliance rate—while too many wealthy taxpayers hide their income from the IRS so they don't have to pay. And, as a result of budget cuts, audit rates on those making over $1 million per year fell by 80 percent between 2011-2018. Wage earners have a 99 percent compliance rate, and, by contrast, the top 1 percent evades over $160 billion per year in taxes. President Biden's Build Back Better Agenda will create a fairer tax system – a tax system that requires the wealthy to finally pay their fair share and rewards work, not wealth. The President's plan will accomplish this through transformation investments in the IRS: hiring enforcement agents who are trained to pursue wealthy evaders, overhauling technology from the 1960s, and investing in taxpayer service, so ordinary Americans can get their questions answered. Additional enforcement resources will be focused on pursuing those with the highest incomes; not Americans with income less than $400,000." White House, Build Back Better, accessed [3/8/24]

2012 Budget: Dutchess County's Budget Resulted In A $50 Average Tax Hike Per Homeowner Due To Molinaro's Request For $55,000 In Raises For Dutchess County Officials

2012: Dutchess County's Budget Raised Taxes By $50 Per Resident. "Some department heads got last-minute raises and lawmakers tweaked some other expenditures, but when the work was done, the impact of the 2012 Dutchess County budget on taxpayers hadn't changed. The tentative budget prepared by County Executive William Steinhaus in the fall would have cost the average homeowner an additional $50 a year, and so does the final budget adopted shortly after midnight Tuesday by the county Legislature." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/7/11]

2012: The Dutchess County Budget Was Prepared By Molinaro's Predecessor And Included Raises For Dutchess County Officials Requested By County Executive-Elect Molinaro. "The tentative budget prepared by County Executive William Steinhaus in the fall would have cost the average homeowner an additional $50 a year, and so does the final budget adopted shortly after midnight Tuesday by the county Legislature [...] Rolison said the raises were requested by County Executive-elect Marc Molinaro." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/7/11]

2012: The Budget Produced $55,000 In Raises For Dutchess County Officials At Molinaro's Behest. "The Legislature approved many amendments to the budget before adopting it, including granting about $55,000 in raises for the public defender, the jail administrator and the commissioners of public works and human resources. Rolison said the raises were requested by County Executive-elect Marc Molinaro." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/7/11]

2012: The Tax Hike Hurt Working People In Dutchess County, While Wealthy Residents Felt They Had "Dodged A Bullet" By Avoiding Tax Increases That Could Have Potentially Been Even Higher. "Two county taxpayers had differing views on the amount of additional taxes they'd have to pay. A homeowner with property assessed at $250,000 - the countywide average - would pay about $815 in county taxes next year, up from about $765 this year. 'If it's costing somebody like me about $50, I'd say I dodged a bullet,' Town of Poughkeepsie resident Joseph Robillard said. Robert Fell of Hyde Park said the extra $50 would hurt, especially when combined with other expected increases in his school and municipal tax bills. 'Fifty bucks doesn't sound like much, but it adds up. I'm 67 and I'd like to retire, but I have to keep working to pay all the taxes,' Fell said." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/7/11]

2013 Budget: In His First Budget As Dutchess County Executive, Molinaro Raised Property Taxes By 20 Cents

The 2013 Budget Was Molinaro's First Budget As Dutchess County Executive. "The 2013 Dutchess County budget is in the hands of County Executive Marc Molinaro, who called the spending plan a first step toward a more efficient government. The Dutchess County Legislature voted 21-3 to pass the $409 million budget shortly after midnight Friday with only minimal changes. The Legislature voted to increase the sales tax by $1 million, which would be used to double the shared services grants program in the Department of Planning and Development. 'It is, in fact, step one of many in our effort to deliver services more efficiently,' Molinaro said of his first budget." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/8/12]

2013: Molinaro's Dutchess County Budget Increased The Property Tax Rate By 20 Cents To $3.45 Per $1,000 Of Assessed Value. "The budget reduces spending by $7.6 million and raises the portion of the budget funded by taxpayers - the levy - 2 percent. The tax rate would increase from $3.25 per $1,000 of assessed valuation to $3.45 per $1,000. As an example, Molinaro said that the owner of a home assessed at $264,500 paid just over $859 this year in county property taxes. When factoring in the decline in real estate values, the owner of the same house, now assessed at $252,300, would pay nearly $11 more next year." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 11/6/12]

2013: Molinaro Increased The Property Tax By 3.2 Percent And The Average Tax Rate By 6.5 Percent. "Molinaro did not say whether he would consider exceeding the 2 percent tax-levy cap in order to mitigate the job cuts or reduction in county services - or depletion of rainy-day funds - that meeting the cap could require. This year's county budget of $411.4 million increased the property-tax levy 3.2 percent and average tax rate by 6.5 percent. The 2011 budget of $403 million froze the tax levy and increased the tax rate an average of 8.5 percent." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 9/29/12]

Molinaro Suggested That Dutchess County Residents Wanted Their Taxes Increased By Some Amount. "With responses from 2,200 residents in hand, County Executive Marc Molinaro and the Legislature will take those opinions into account as they work on the troubled 2013 county budget and try to close a $40 million gap. Molinaro issued a report on the findings Friday [...] The survey was not scientific, nor intended to be so. Respondents were self-selecting, and their proportions did not match county demographics by age, skewing heavily toward those over 45, according to data in the report. One question asked broadly, without regard to the specific nonmandated categories, 'Would you be willing to pay a higher property tax rate to continue the optional programming and services you support?' On that basis, 74.7 percent would support some level of tax increase and 24.6 percent would not, Molinaro said." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/13/12]

2014 Budget: Molinaro Raised Property Taxes By 1.9%

2014: Molinaro's Dutchess County Budget Raised Property Taxes. "Is Cox right that Molinaro has already cut spending and property taxes in Dutchess County? A spokesperson for Cox pointed to the county's approved budgets while Molinaro's been in office. This year's budget in Dutchess County reduced both the county property tax rate for residents and the tax levy for the fourth consecutive year, according to budget documents. But his first two budgets increased property taxes by about 2 percent in 2013 and again in 2014." Politifact, [5/26/18]

2014: Molinaro Proposed A 1.9% Property Tax Increase. "That won't be easy. Molinaro's budget blueprint had to address a multimillion-dollar shortfall while cutting spending to stay under the state-imposed property tax cap. Overall, spending would be reduced by $1.6 million next year but the property-tax levy would increase by 1.9 percent, just below the state tax cap." [Poughkeepsie Journal, 11/24/13]

"The legislature had made several changes in its Dec. 5 vote adopting the $438.8 million 2014 budget proposed by Molinaro. It would be funded in part by a property tax levy increase of 1.9 percent and a 3.75 percent county sales tax on home energy sources, such as electricity and heating oil." Molinaro Repealed An Energy Sales Tax Exemption On Dutchess County Residents

2014: Molinaro Repealed The Sales Tax Exemption For Energy, Raising Taxes On Dutchess County Residents. “Once again, no one cares for the little guy. Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro and the Legislature have repealed the sales tax exemption on energy in the new budget. It won't hurt the rich, only the poor and middle class who can't find jobs in this county, which Molinaro is the overseer of.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, Letter to the Editor, 12/26/13]

- The 3.75% Energy Sales Tax Went Into Effect March 1, 2014. “Molinaro said the state Department of Taxation and Finance has a ‘90-day repeal standard’ once the county Legislature passes a measure that would remove the 3.75 percent sales tax on things like fuel oil and electricity [...] The sales tax went into effect on March 1.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 2/10/14]

The Energy Tax Molinaro Enacted Was 3.75 Percent. “Molinaro called on the state government to provide the county mandate relief. Such relief would let the county eliminate a new energy tax of 3.75 percent.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 3/5/14]

Molinaro Wanted New York State To Provide Mandate Relief Allowing Him To End The Energy Tax. “Molinaro called on the state government to provide the county mandate relief. Such relief would let the county eliminate a new energy tax of 3.75 percent.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 3/5/14]

Molinaro Suggested A “Painful” Repeal Of The Sales Tax Exemption For Energy Was Better Than A Property Tax Increase. “Instead, in what is likely to be the most controversial aspect of this budget, Molinaro wants to repeal the sales-tax exemption on residential energy sources. That means heating oil and natural gas bills will rise, but it also would give the county nearly $8 million in new revenue next year - and some of that money would have to be shared with municipalities. Molinaro called the repeal plan ‘painful’ but defended the idea, saying the county continues to make workforce and other cuts that will provide larger savings over time. The county executive says, given the choice, seeing energy bills rise is better than imposing greater hikes on property taxes because people can take steps to reduce their energy consumption while the property tax provides no such wiggle room.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 11/24/13]

- Molinaro Proposed A 1.9% Property Tax Increase At The Same Time. “That won't be easy. Molinaro's budget blueprint had to address a multimillion-dollar shortfall while cutting spending to stay under the state-imposed property tax cap. Overall, spending would be reduced by $1.6 million next year but the property-tax levy would increase by 1.9 percent, just below the state tax cap.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 11/24/13]

Molinaro Said A Tax Increase Was Better Than Cutting Jobs. “Molinaro said he doesn't ‘dismiss the difficulty’ the tax creates, but without the new revenue, 80 jobs would be cut or the property tax levy would increase by 12 percent.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/6/13]

The Energy Tax Caused Constituents To Criticize Molinaro For Violating “The Republican Philosophy Of Trying To Reduce Taxes.” “Sudiptar Ray, 62, of East Fishkill said he attended the county executive's address because he opposed the new energy tax. ‘This is going in the wrong direction,’ he said. ‘This is not consistent with the Republican philosophy of trying to reduce taxes.’” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 3/5/14]

Letter To The Editor Headline: “Molinaro Breaks Promise By Backing Energy Tax.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 2/10/14]

June 2014: The Energy Sales Tax Was Repealed

April 2014: $5.25 Million In Assistance From The State Was Given To Dutchess County, Allowing Them To Repeal The Energy Sales Tax. “The press conference was held to provide additional details about $5.25 million in assistance to the county that was included in the 2014-15 state budget adopted Monday. The sales tax went into effect on March 1. The press conference was hosted by state Sen. Greg Ball, R-Patterson, along with Molinaro and state Assemblywoman Didi Barrett, D-Hudson. The aid will allow the county to repeal the energy tax, which was passed narrowly by the Legislature in December in order to close a budget gap.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 4/3/14]

June 2014: The Energy Sales Tax Was Repealed. “Dutchess County residents soon will no longer see a controversial local sales tax on bills for things like fuel oil, natural gas and electricity. The 3.75 percent tax on most residential energy sources, which took effect March 1, was repealed Sunday. On an $800 fuel oil bill, the tax savings will be $30. Bills issued now for energy used before June 1 will still have the tax. County Executive Marc Molinaro said Monday, ‘It is not a policy we will be returning to.’ He added it was a measure 21 other counties have taken.” Poughkeepsie Journal, [6/2/14]

Poughkeepsie Journal Editorial: Molinaro’s “Ill-Timed Energy Tax Caused Massive Public Blowback And Had To Be Repealed.” “Molinaro has been innovative as well, launching a shared-services program that is providing millions of dollars to localities willing to consolidate and find efficiencies in government. And the county also has filled the long-vacant historian position, with the executive recognizing not only the area’s rich history but how important heritage tourism is to the local economy. The executive also has hit some bumps and bruises along the way. Reconfiguring the county’s economic-development network and developing a cohesive strategy have taken considerable time. He underestimated the difficulty to get state approval to move forward with a new jail, and an ill-timed energy tax caused massive public blowback and had to be repealed.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/23/15]

Molinaro’s Policies Transferred The Tax Burden From Dutchess County To Local Municipalities, Resulting In Local Municipalities Raising Their Tax Rates

2012: Molinaro’s 2013 Budget Proposed Capping Sales Tax Revenue Provided To Local Municipalities At $25 Million. “County Executive Molinaro is proposing to change the sales tax sharing arrangement the county currently provides to municipalities. Currently, the County’s full 3.75% portion of sales tax is shared with local municipalities (municipal share is projected at $29.5 million for 2012). The new proposal would cap the amount distributed to local cities, towns and villages at $25 million.” Dutchess County, Press Release, [9/14/12]

- 2013: Dutchess County Passed A Resolution Confirming The $25 Million Cap On Sales Tax Redistribution. “The County hereby commits 25 Million Dollars for distribution to Poughkeepsie, Beacon and the towns and villages outside of the Cities of Poughkeepsie and Beacon as provided in paragraphs 5, 6 and 7 of this agreement. In the event the maximum allowable rate of the County’s Sales and Use Tax falls below 3.75%, the County may terminate this agreement upon written notice to the cities.” Dutchess County, Resolution No. 2013164, [6/11/13]

2013: Beekman Town Councilmember: Molinaro’s Proposed Sales Tax Cap Will Cause The Town Of Beekman To Cut Services And Increase Property Taxes. “With the 2013 budget looming, some Dutchess County residents are fearful the county’s financial burden is shifting to local municipalities. Councilmember Ronald Mangeri said the Town of Beekman stands to lose approximately $120,000 under the proposed $25 million sales tax cap. He said the loss in revenue would hinder the town’s ability to meet obligations and lead to cutting services and increasing property taxes.” [The Journal News, 11/9/12]

2016: The Tax Agreement With Dutchess County Resulted In Poughkeepsie Being $2 Million Short In Sales Tax Revenue. “But if the county’s financial position is strong, it should take another look at a controversial sales tax agreement it has with municipalities, said Dutchess Legislator Joel Tyner. The current sales tax revenue distribution agreement was negotiated by Dutchess and its two cities - Poughkeepsie and Beacon - in 2013, in part to close a $40 million county budget gap. The agreement, which replaced one that expired in 2005, left the fiscally troubled City of Poughkeepsie $2 million short in sales tax revenue but guaranteed nearly $10 million a year. It was approved by both city councils and the Legislature. The sales tax agreement has come to the forefront of this year's City of Poughkeepsie budgeting process, as a nearly 17 percent tax increase is on the horizon for residents." 2017: Dutchess County Residents In Poughkeepsie Had Their Property Taxes Increase By 16.5 Percent. "The lower tax rates and levies don't mean property taxes have gone down for every resident in Dutchess County. Property tax bills are a combination of taxes levied by the county and each municipality. While the county's tax levy has gone down, some local taxes may have increased. Property taxes levied by Poughkeepsie, for example, rose by 16.5 percent in 2017." PolitiFact, [5/26/18]

- The Poughkeepsie Common Council Chairman Said The County's Sales Tax Formula Change Resulted In A Deficit That Required The Tax Increase. "City of Poughkeepsie Common Council Chairman Chris Petsas said city residents can't afford a nearly 17 percent increase in the property tax levy proposed in the $85.1 million budget and he called on Mayor Rob Rolison to renegotiate the city's sales tax agreement with Dutchess County. The budget would boost spending 2.35 percent and increase the amount collected from property taxes by 16.5 percent to $23.2 million. Petsas responded that residents 'cannot afford a nearly 17 percent tax increase.' Rather, Petsas pointed to the sales tax formula change from 2013 as a major factor contributing to the city's deficit, which puts Poughkeepsie at $12.6 million in the red. Since the change, Petsas said the city has lost nearly $6.8 million, cumulatively, through the end of 2015." Poughkeepsie Journal, [10/16/16]
- Molinaro Accused The Poughkeepsie Common Council Chairman Of Pointing Fingers At The County. "Dutchess County Executive Marc Molinaro said that the city's financial difficulties existed well before the 2013 sales tax agreement, with past budgets over-projecting revenue and under-projecting expenditures. 'I strongly encourage the Chairman to focus on ways we can cooperate to help the city grow rather than point fingers,' Molinaro said." Poughkeepsie Journal, [10/16/16]

2007-2011: Molinaro Voted To Raise Taxes In The New York Assembly

Molinaro Voted To Extend New York's Biggest Income Tax Increase In 50 Years Via The "Millionaires' Tax" As Part Of The December 2011 Budget Overhaul

December 2011: Molinaro Voted For The Income Tax Overhaul. In December 2011, Molinaro voted "Yes on S50002, a bill "enacting into law major components of law necessary to the state; relates to tax rates and exclusions under the metropolitan commuter transportation mobility tax." The bill passed the Assembly 132 to 8 and was signed into law by the Governor. New York State Assembly, 2011 Term: S50002, [12/07/11]

- The Tax Overhaul Raised Revenue By $1.9 Billion. "The plan will raise about $1.9 billion in new revenue, less than the $4 billion generated by the millionaire's tax, which expires Dec. 31. About $400 million will be spent on flood recovery and a youth-employment program, and the remaining $1.5 billion will be put toward the deficit, said Morris Peters, a Budget Division spokesman." Bloomberg, [12/08/11]
- Empire Center: The Deal Extended "New York's Biggest Income Tax Increase In 50 Years." "On Dec. 6, 2011, Gov. Cuomo and legislative leaders announced a deal to extend New York's biggest income tax increase in 50 years, targeting earners of $1 million and more for what will be the third highest income tax rate imposed by any major state. About one quarter of the $2.6 billion tax hike will be redistributed in the form of tax cuts for middle-class filers, and the rest will be spent." Empire Center, accessed [11/23/21]

2011: New York's Top Income Tax Rate Was The Second Highest In The Country. "Under the proposal announced on Tuesday, newly created tax rates would range from 6.45 percent for income between $40,000 and $150,000 (for married couples) to 8.82 percent for income over $2 million. Tax brackets would be indexed to the rate of inflation and would take effect next year. The new top tax bracket would extend through 2014; the others would be permanent. Under the new brackets, New York's top income tax rate of 8.82 percent would rank among the highest in the country, according to the Federation of Tax Administrators. It would be significantly higher than the top rate in Connecticut, which was raised earlier this year to 6.7 percent, but just under New Jersey's top rate of 8.97 percent." New York Times, [12/6/11]

Molinaro Voted To Extend The Millionaires' Tax In 2011. "Molinaro did vote for Cuomo's tax deal that extended the 'millionaires' tax' in 2011. While only one section of the bill, the legislation created a higher tax bracket for the highest-income residents in New York and reduced the rates for millions of middle-class residents. Described by some as a cut and others as an increase, it lowered the rate for high-income earners, but set it higher than it would have been had the previous rate simply expired. Molinaro also voted in 2011 for Cuomo's 2 percent limit on property tax increases. The measure, popular with fiscal conservatives, was aimed at curbing soaring property taxes." Molinaro Later Called For Phasing Out New York's "Millionaires Tax," Citing Concern For "Those Who Can't Afford It"

Molinaro Supported Phasing Out The "Millionaires Tax" As A Way To "Make Taxation A Bit More Respectful Of Those Who Can't Afford It." "Molinaro, currently Dutchess county executive, has repeatedly sounded the theme since formally launching his bid for governor April 2. While he has largely spoken in sweeping generalities -- promising 'bold' proposals to come during his nomination acceptance speech at the May 23 state GOP convention -- details are starting to emerge. Molinaro said that in addition to making the state's 2-percent cap on annual property tax increases permanent, he would seek to phase out the so-called 'millionaires tax' if elected. The income tax rate for the top bracket -- which includes individuals making $1 million or more and couples earning $2 million or more per year -- went from 6.85 to 8.82 percent in 2009, and has been extended by Democratic Governor Andrew Cuomo and a Legislature where each house is controlled by one of the two major parties. 'I would seek to have it expire over time,' Molinaro said of the millionaires tax. 'I do think that there's a way to make taxation in the state a bit more respectful of those who can't afford it.'" - The "Millionaires Tax" Taxed Single New Yorkers Earning Over $1 Million And Couples Earning Over $2 Million At A Rate Of 8.82 Percent. "Single New Yorkers earning $1 million annually and couples earning $2 million pay a state income tax rate of 8.82 percent. The current rate is slightly lower than the surcharge imposed under Gov. David Paterson to raise revenue following the 2008 recession." Times Union, [9/25/18]

2008: Molinaro Supported Raising Taxes

2008: Molinaro Said Tax Increases "Ought To Be On The Table." "Assemblyman Marc Molinaro, R-Tivoli, said he worries about shifting costs onto municipalities if that results in property tax increases. However, Molinaro said, 'In my opinion, everything ought to be on the table and we should have a serious dialogue on how to save the state from this fiscal crisis.'" [Poughkeepsie Journal, 8/17/08]

1999-2006: Molinaro Voted To Raise Taxes In The Dutchess County Legislature, Resulting In Almost A 50% Increase In Property Taxes While He Was In Office

2006: Molinaro Voted To Increase Property Taxes By 15 Percent In A Budget That Ultimately Was Not Adopted

2006: Molinaro Voted To Increase Dutchess County Property Taxes By 15 Percent. “At issue was the $387.5 million spending plan proposed by County Executive William Steinhaus. In the end, the Republican majority voted to accept much of what Steinhaus proposed, including a 15 percent increase in the county's property tax levy. Steinhaus has about a week to veto changes to his proposal, and the Legislature is scheduled to meet again Dec. 18 to consider overriding any vetoes. ‘This has been a productive process, and open, and I'm very grateful for that,’ Legislator Marc Molinaro, R-Tivoli, said before the vote. All 13 Republican legislators voted for the budget, and the 12 Democrats voted against it.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/8/06]

The 2007 Proposed Budget Increased The Mortgage Tax, Extended A 3.75 Percent Sales Tax, And Led To Likely Double Digit Property Tax Rate Increases. “The Legislature accepted Steinhaus' recommendation of a mortgage tax increase from 1 percent to 1.25 percent, a tax hike that will require state authorization. The approved budget also extends the county's 3.75 percent sales tax, another measure advocated by Steinhaus. But the Legislature rejected a renewed tax on clothing purchases under $110, which Steinhaus said was needed to recoup part of a drop this year in sales tax revenues. Sales tax is the county's largest single revenue source. The property tax levy, which is the total amount in property taxes to be collected by the county, will increase to $86 million under the budget. The effect on individual property owners will vary across the county, but most communities will see double-digit percentage rate increases.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/8/06]

2005: Dutchess County Raised Property Taxes By 5.8 Percent, In A Budget Molinaro Supported. “Steinhaus proposed an increase of 13 percent in the amount raised by property taxes, an additional 0.25 percent onto the county's 1 percent mortgage tax and a vehicle registration fee of $5 or $10 a year, depending on the vehicle's size. Legislators approved the mortgage tax increase, but exempted the first $250,000 of a mortgage's value from the additional 0.25 percent, and rejected the vehicle tax. But they also pushed up to 18 percent the increase in the amount raised by property taxes, or a hike in the property tax rate of 5.8 percent. ‘It was the very best we could do under some very difficult circumstances,’ said Legislator Marc Molinaro, R-Red Hook, chairman of the budget committee. ‘We'll go back to the taxpayers and our residents and explain it as best we can.’ [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/7/04]

2005: The Dutchess County Budget Extended The 8 Percent Sales Tax. “Legislators also agreed with Steinhaus on extending the 8 percent sales tax in the county. The county approved raising the sales tax from 7.25 percent two years ago, but the additional 0.75 percent was due to expire in November 2005.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 12/7/04]

2004: Molinaro Chaired The Dutchess County Budget & Finance Committee Which Raised Property Taxes 4.6 Percent, Hotel Taxes 1 Percent, And Introduced A Cell Phone Tax. “As expected, a legislative committee on Tuesday approved -- with a few changes -- Dutchess County's proposed 2004 budget. Budget & Finance Committee Chairman Marc Molinaro, R-Red Hook, described the changes as ‘modest and appropriate adjustments to the proposed budget, but it does our level best to protect the taxpayers.’ The $339.4 million budget includes an

2004: Molinaro Was Criticized For Increasing Property Taxes, Mortgage Taxes, And Creating A “Cell Phone Tax.” “Manning said Molinaro's record as head of the county's budget committee was proof of his record and where he stands on taxes. He said in 2004, the Dutchess legislator voted to increase taxes by 5.8 percent. Manning also criticized Molinaro for voting to increase the county mortgage tax and to create a new county cell phone tax. ‘Marc is the poster boy for how not to run government,’ Manning said. ‘You can't reward him with a job in Albany. 2002: The Dutchess County Legislature Wanted To Create A 30 Cents A Month “Cell Phone Tax.” “Dutchess and Ulster counties can add a 30-cents tax on wireless telephone monthly service under a new law signed by Gov. George Pataki. Cell phone users could be charged up to an additional 30 cents more a month, with the money going to the counties' emergency response systems and police dispatch. The Dutchess County Legislature voted June 18 to ask the county to create the 30-cent surcharge. The new law gives the go-ahead to 13 New York counties if their county legislatures vote to add the surcharge. People would be charged extra only if the cell phone is registered in one of those counties. The money would be collected by the cellular service provider and distributed to county governments.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 8/20/02]

Molinaro Voted For A 30% Pay Raise For Himself

2003: Molinaro Voted For A 30% Pay Raise For Himself. “The raises were approved by the county Legislature by a 19-15 vote this month. Legislators' salaries would increase by about 30 percent to $15,000. Those holding leadership positions would receive more, up to $32,000 for the chairman. Pay for the county executive and sheriff would go up roughly 10 percent each to $128,000 and $115,000, respectively [...] Here's how Dutchess County legislators voted this month on a pay raise plan: Yes: [...] Marc Molinaro, R-Red Hook.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 6/25/03]

1995-2007: Molinaro Raised Taxes As Mayor Of Tivoli And Increased The Cost Of Water

Molinaro Raised Tivoli Property Taxes While Raising Salaries Of City Employees And Contractors

2002: Tivoli Increased Property Taxes By Two Cents While Raising Municipal Salaries. “Tivoli's $770,000 proposed village budget calls for a slight tax increase in the coming year. The budget calls for a tax rate of $10.31 per $1,000 of assessed property value, a slight increase from last year's rate of $10.29. The plan shows ‘no major adjustments in expenses, and a slight increase in the assessed value of the village,’ Mayor Marc Molinaro said. The tentative budget calls for a 3-percent increase in municipal salaries and continues to provide for library support, emergency response and municipal services.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 4/9/02]

2000: Molinaro Raised Property Taxes By Two Percent. “But grant revenues and growing property values will keep the tax hike to about 2 percent, Mayor Marcus Molinaro announced Monday. ‘Every year we get better at this,’ said the mayor. ‘It is probably the best budget document we've put together.’” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 3/28/00]

- Molinaro Used The 2000 Tax Increase To Give Pay Raises To Contracted Employees. “Elected officials, Molinaro said, will not see pay raises under the spending plan. Contracted employees, however, such as the treasurer and the village clerk, will see increases because their compensation levels are well below market value. ‘What we're simply talking about is paying them for the work they're doing,’ said Molinaro, projecting the average salary will grow about 4 percent.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 3/28/00]

Molinaro Repeatedly Increased The Cost Of Water For Tivoli Residents

2006: Molinaro Increased Water Rates By Fifteen Percent, After Expected Gains From New Wells Did Not Occur

2006: Water Rates In Tivoli Increased By Fifteen Percent Due To Budget Shortfalls And Consumption Decreases. “Village residents have had water problems for years. Now that supply issues have been addressed, residents are being hit with a 15 percent increase in their rates, approved this week by the village board. The increase is expected to make up for shortfalls in the water budget that have accumulated over the last three years. The shortfalls were caused by recent capital improvement projects and an unexpected loss of customers, Mayor Marc Molinaro said. ‘It was the first time we raised rates since 2002,’ Molinaro said. ‘We had a 10 percent drop in consumption and we were never able to see any financial gains. We had planned to make increases of 2.5 percent to 3 percent over the course of the last few years, but we just didn’t want to do it. Raising taxes is never easy and we fell into the same trap other communities fall into.’” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 2/24/06]

- Molinaro Attributed Rising Water Costs To The Construction Of Two New Wells, Even Though Those New Wells Resulted In New Water Sources. “He also attributed the increase in costs to completion of two wells in 2003. The project ended a search for water in the village that lasted decades. But the project cost the town nearly $300,000, with $265,000 of the cost being borrowed over 20 years. Prior to construction of the wells, village residents were subject to summers filled with perpetual water warnings.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 2/24/06]

2006: Tivoli Residents Worried About Rising Water Rates. “Village resident Elli Du-binski said she worried about the continual increases in taxes across the state. ‘I’m trying to deal with it all somehow,’ she said. ‘I came here because it was a remote place and the real estate was cheap and I could afford it. I’m retired and now my taxes are equal to my Medicare. And that doesn’t even include my water bill.’” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 2/24/06]

2002: Under Molinaro’s Mayorship, The Town Of Tivoli Planned To Raise Water Rates Up To 25 Percent, Which Caused Unhappiness Among Residents

2002: Tivoli Considered Raising Water Rates Up To Twenty Five Percent In Order To Fund Two New Water Wells. “Officials in the village of Tivoli are contemplating raising water rates up to 25 percent to finance some long-needed system improvements. In March, the village signed a long-term lease for two permanent wells expected to double available water. The existing water system is at or near capacity, prompting conservation measures during five of the past eight years. Making the updates is expected to cost the village approximately $26,400 a year, which includes $1,000 per month rent for use of the well sites and a $1,200 monthly bond payment to finance improvements. While he doesn’t want to raise rates, Mayor Marc Molinaro said he hopes to keep the impact to users at a minimum.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/15/02]

2002: Water Rates Were Raised By 25 Percent For Some Residents. “While he doesn't want to raise rates, Mayor Marc Molinaro said he hopes to keep the impact to users at a minimum. Approximately one-third of the community won't see a rate increase, he said. For senior citizens and single parents who typically use less than 10,000 gallons per quarter, the rate will remain unchanged at $4.40 per thousand gallons. 10% hike for half of users. For about half of the community, which uses between 10,000 and 20,000 gallons, there would be a 10 percent increase to $4.85. The average water customer uses between 12,000 and 15,000 gallons per quarter, he said. Larger users would see the biggest hikes, ranging from 15 to 25 percent, depending on usage. While Molinaro said he hadn't heard any complaints, not all residents were pleased to hear of the increase.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/15/02]

Molinaro Claimed He Had Not Heard Any Complaints About Water Rate Increases, But Residents Were Unhappy About Water Rate Hikes. “While Molinaro said he hadn’t heard any complaints, not all residents were pleased to hear of the increase. ‘It seems we pay a lot for water now,’ said Ronnie Macey, a village resident for five years. ‘It looks like we’re going to pay a lot more.’ In her family of four, the bill runs about $140 for a three-month period. If the water quality was better, it would be an easier pill to swallow, she said. ‘Everything’s going up,’ Macey said. The two wells, which can provide a total of 85 gallons per minute, will serve as a secondary source of water for the village. The village has seven wells, six of which it owns. Average use ranges from 75,000 to 78,000 gallons daily, with usage reaching 92,000 in the summer, Molinaro said.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 10/15/02]

Child Tax Credit

Molinaro Voted For Expanding The Child Tax Credit While Expanding Certain Business Tax Incentives

Molinaro Voted For Expanding The Child Tax Credit While Expanding Certain Business Tax Incentives. In February 2024, Molinaro voted for: “Agreeing to the Smith, R-Mo., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would extend and expand certain business tax incentives and the Child Tax Credit (both through 2025) while boosting credits for building affordable housing, providing tax relief to victims of natural disasters, and extending tax treaty-like benefits to Taiwan. Specifically, it would increase the maximum $2,000 child tax credit for inflation for the tax years of 2024 and 2025. Beginning in 2023, the bill also would increase the amount that is refundable each year while allowing families to base the tax credit on the prior year's income. It also would raise the maximum refundable amount per child to $1,800 for tax year 2023, $1,900 for tax year 2024, and $2,000 for tax year 2025. The bill also would provide additional tax relief for people impacted by natural disasters by allowing special rules for claiming an itemized deduction for a personal casualty loss--rules that went into effect in early 2021--to be applied to subsequent natural disasters. It would increase the 9 percent ceiling for low-income housing tax credit allocations by 12.5 percent and reduce the bond-financing requirements from 50 percent to 30 percent for projects financed by bonds issued before 2026. It would extend through 2025, the "bonus depreciation" provision in the 2017 tax law that allowed 100 percent of the cost of an asset (except structures) to be deducted in the year the asset is placed in service. The bill also would reinstate through 2025 the ability of businesses to expense 100 percent of research and experimentation costs in the year they occur. It would retroactively apply this authority to 2022, the year the 2017 tax law required businesses to start taking deductions for those costs over five years. It would permanently increase both the maximum amount a business can deduct for first-year depreciation of assets, and the threshold at which businesses must report what they pay contractors and subcontractors. It would exempt wildfire relief payments received between 2020 and 2025 and East Palestine train derailment payments received on or after Feb. 3, 2023 from taxable gross income. It also would offset the estimated $79 billion cost of tax changes by terminating the COVID-19 era Employee Retention Tax Credit (ERTC) program for any claims filed after Jan. 31, 2024 and increase penalties on under-reporting of the credit. It also would create a new section of the tax code to provide Taiwan citizens, residents, corporations, partnership, trusts and estates with benefits similar to a typical tax treaty. The provisions would apply only if Taiwan extends the same benefits to U.S. residents and businesses operating in Taiwan.” The bill passed 357-70. Default On America

Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act, Which Would Have Repealed Incentives For Domestic Manufacturing, Increasing American Reliance On Chinese Products

Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act

2023: Molinaro Voted For The Default On America Act, Suspending The Debt Limit Through March 2024 Or Until $1.5 Trillion Has Been Reached And Capping Federal Spending For FY 2024 At 2022 Levels With A Capped 1% Per Year Growth. In April 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would suspend the statutory limit on federal debt through March 31, 2024, or until an additional $1.5 trillion has been borrowed — whichever occurs first. It would also include a range of provisions to limit federal spending, as well as the text of a previously passed energy and permitting policy package. The bill would set base discretionary spending limits through fiscal 2033, capping spending for fiscal 2024 at the fiscal 2022 level of $1.47 trillion — a reduction from current spending levels — and raising the cap by 1 percent annually through fiscal 2033. It would also include similar annual cap adjustments for specified programs, including for wildfire suppression, disability reviews and redeterminations, health care fraud and abuse control, and disaster reemployment services and eligibility assessments. The bill would rescind unobligated amounts from various funds provided by the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package (PL 117-169) for COVID-19 relief, IRS enforcement, and certain climate- and infrastructure-focused initiatives, as well as all unobligated funding from the March 2021 coronavirus relief reconciliation package (PL 117-2) and earlier coronavirus response laws. The bill would expand or establish work requirements for Medicaid beneficiaries aged 19 to 55 and raise from 49 to 55 the oldest age at which existing work requirements would apply for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program beneficiaries. It would also modify various work standards for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program, including to update the baseline for calculating certain state workforce participation standards and require states to collect certain data related to work outcomes for TANF participants. To limit regulatory spending, the bill would nullify pending executive actions suspending student loan payments and prohibit the Education Department from implementing any substantially similar actions without congressional approval. It would also establish a process to require congressional approval of all ‘major’ federal rules that would have an annual impact of at least $100 million, cause a major increase in prices, or cause significant adverse effects to economic competitiveness. Among energy- and climate-focused provisions, the bill would repeal, phase out or narrow a variety of climate-focused tax credits under the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package, including repealing new credits for solar and wind projects, sustainable aviation fuel and clean fuel production. It would also include the full text of the House-passed energy and permitting package (HR 1) that would require a number of actions to boost the domestic production of fossil fuels and certain critical minerals and accelerate the construction of natural gas pipelines and other energy infrastructure, while reversing or repealing certain presidential actions taken and laws enacted during the Biden administration related to energy policy and climate change.” The bill passed by a vote of 217-215. Default On America Would Have Repealed Incentives For Domestic Manufacturing, Increasing Reliance On Chinese Products

The Default On America Act Would Have Repealed Incentives For Domestic Manufacturing, Increasing Reliance On Chinese Products. “Default on America Act: Gutting Clean Energy, Raising Consumer Prices, and Surrendering Jobs and Energy Security to China. By repealing the climate tax provisions in the Inflation Reduction Act, House Republicans are proposing a total surrender to the climate crisis and increasing costs for everyday Americans. This would be an enormous loss for American workers and manufacturers who have an opportunity to thrive as a result of the clean energy transformation the IRA is already driving across the country. This bill repeals incentives for domestic manufacturers that would rebuild domestic supply chains and position America as a leader in the clean energy transition. In fact, this bill would keep us dependent on Chinese goods and critical minerals. Firms in China and elsewhere will grow at our expense if Speaker McCarthy gets his way.” Senate Democrats, Default on America, [May 2023]

The Default On America Act Would Have Overturned The Clean Energy Tax Credits That Led To The Opening Of More Than 40 New Manufacturing Sites In The US. “The warnings about H.R. 2811, the ‘Limit, Save, Grow Act’ — the GOP plan that would raise the debt limit but cut clean energy tax credits that have spurred a domestic manufacturing boom and slash a fee on methane emissions that are toxic to the environment — provided plenty of ammunition for Democrats. [...] Solar Energy Industries Association President and CEO Abigail Ross Hopper said that since enactment of the Inflation Reduction Act last year, upwards of 40 new electric vehicle battery manufacturing sites — and 22 factory expansions — have come online in the United States.” E&E News, [5/5/23]

Molinaro Voted For Providing Congressional Disapproval For A Rule That Waives A Requirement That Electric Vehicle Chargers Made In The U.S. Must Be Made From Parts And Materials Produced In The U.S. In January 2024, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the joint resolution that would provide for congressional disapproval of a February 2023 Federal Highway Administration Rule that temporarily waives, for electric vehicle chargers assembled in the U.S., a requirement that steel, iron, manufactured products and construction materials used in FHWA projects be produced in the U.S. The rule went into effect in March 2023 and phases out coverage under the waiver for chargers manufactured after June 2024 for which the cost of components manufactured in the U.S. is not more than 55 percent of the cost of all components. Molinaro Supported The 2017 Republican Tax Law, Which Incentivized Companies To Move Jobs Overseas, Risking Nearly A Million Jobs In New York

Molinaro Supported The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act

Newsday: Molinaro Supported The 2017 Republican Tax Law. “Molinaro opposed fracking for natural gas and, while supporting the recent federal tax cuts, has said he didn’t vote for Trump.” Newsday, [9/17/18]

City And State: Molinaro Supported Trump’s Tax Cuts. “Molinaro has consistently worked to bolster his image as a centrist. He has said that same-sex marriage and protections for members of the LGBTQ community are basic civil rights. He voted against allowing hydraulic fracturing in New York as a member of the Assembly, though he now supports a pilot program to allow the controversial practice in the Southern Tier. On the other hand, he supports Trump’s recently passed tax bill, which gave large tax cuts to the wealthy and corporations but will raise taxes on many middle-class New Yorkers due to its provision limiting the state and local tax deduction. He is campaigning for governor on a plan that would cut taxes on New York’s richest residents and also attempt to reduce local property taxes.” City and State, [10/10/18]

The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Increased Corporations Incentives To Move Jobs Abroad, Risking Nearly A Million Jobs In New York

Tax Experts Said The Tax Cuts And Jobs Act Increased Incentives For Companies To Move Jobs Overseas. “What happened to the workers in Clinton, tax experts say, will probably happen to more Americans if the Republican tax overhaul becomes law. The legislation fails to eliminate long-standing incentives for companies to move overseas and, in some cases, may even increase them, they say. ‘This bill is potentially more dangerous than our current system,’ said Stephen Shay, a senior lecturer at Harvard Law School and former Treasury Department international tax expert in the Obama administration. ‘It creates a real incentive to shift real activity offshore.’” Washington Post, [12/15/17]

- HEADLINE: “Trump Promised ‘America First’ Would Keep Jobs Here. But The Tax Plan Might Push Them Overseas.” Washington Post, [12/15/17]
- Because Of The Way The Tax Bill Taxed Foreign Income, Corporations Would Increase Tax Free Income The More Equipment It Had Abroad. “In the future, corporations would be required to pay about a 10 percent minimum tax on overseas income above a certain level. The provision is billed as a way to discourage the movement of jobs and profit overseas. But the fine print of the new global minimum tax would make the problem worse, several tax specialists said. [...] First, a corporation would pay that global minimum tax only on profit above a ‘routine’ rate of return on the tangible assets — such as factories — it has overseas.

So the more equipment a corporation has in other countries, the more tax-free income it can earn. The legislation thus offers corporations ‘a perverse incentive’ to shift assembly lines abroad, said Steve Rosenthal of the Tax Policy Center.” Washington Post, [12/15/17]

- Under Tax Bill, A Corporation That Built A Plant In A Foreign Country Would Pay Substantially Less In Taxes On Foreign Profit Than Profits Earned In The United States. “Second, the bill sets the ‘routine’ return at 10 percent — far more generous than would typically be the case. Such allowances are normally fixed a couple of percentage points above risk-free Treasury yields, which are currently around 2.4 percent. As a result, a U.S. corporation that builds a $100 million plant in another country and makes a foreign profit of $20 million would pay roughly $1 million in tax versus $4 million on the same profit if earned in the United States, said Rosenthal, who has been a tax lawyer for 25 years and drafted tax legislation as a staffer for the Joint Committee on Taxation.” Washington Post, [12/15/17]

Sperling: GOP Tax Bill Would “Give A Permanent Preference To Foreign Income And Lead Companies To Shift More Profits To Tax Havens Knowing That They Could Permanently Avoid Virtually All Taxation On Such Profits.” “Yet, it is clear that a territorial system could have just the opposite impact: It could give a permanent preference to foreign income and lead companies to shift more profits to tax havens knowing that they could permanently avoid virtually all taxation on such profits. [...] What was problematic about this design was that it not only encouraged companies to move profits to tax havens, but it actually encouraged them to simultaneously move jobs and operations such as manufacturing to industrialized countries that had typical tax rates and to shift more profits to tax havens.” The Atlantic, Gene Sperling, [12/8/17]

CBO: Provisions In The Tax Cuts & Jobs Act May Increase Corporations Incentive To Locate Tangible Assets’ Like Factories Abroad Because By Locating Fewer Tangible Assets In The United States, The Corporation Can Increase Its Deductible Foreign Income While Reducing Its Tax Liability On Foreign Income. “The act contains several provisions to reduce corporations’ incentive to shift profits out of the United States. Two provisions—which impose a tax on global intangible low-tax income (GILTI) and create a deduction for foreign-derived intangible income (FDII)—reduce corporations’ incentive to locate high-return assets (which are often intangible assets, such as intellectual property, or IP) in low-tax countries. The provisions reduce that incentive by applying special treatment to profits that exceed a specified return on tangible assets (such as equipment and structures). In addition to reducing profit shifting through the location of intangible assets, the GILTI and FDII provisions affect corporations’ decisions about where to locate tangible assets. By locating more tangible assets abroad, a corporation is able to reduce the amount of foreign income that is categorized as GILTI. Similarly, by locating fewer tangible assets in the United States, a corporation can increase the amount of U.S. income that can be deducted as FDII. Together, the provisions may increase corporations’ incentive to locate tangible assets abroad. (Like profit shifting, such decisions change the locations of reported profits—but they are not classified as profit shifting, because they involve actual economic activity rather than simply reporting.)” Congressional Budget Office, Appendix B: The Effects Of The 2017 Tax Act On CBO’s Economic And Budget Projections, [April 2018]

New York Times: Tax Bill “Could Actually Make It Attractive For Companies To Put More Assembly Lines On Foreign Soil.” “The bill that Mr. Trump signed, however, could actually make it attractive for companies to put more assembly lines on foreign soil. Under the new law, income made by American companies’ overseas subsidiaries will face United States taxes that are half the rate applied to their domestic income, 10.5 percent compared with the new top corporate rate of 21 percent. ‘It’s sort of an America-last tax policy,’ said Kimberly Clausing, an economist at Reed College in Portland, Ore., who studies tax policy. ‘We are basically saying that if you earn in the U.S., you pay X, and if you earn abroad, you pay X divided by two.’” New York Times, [1/8/18]

- Economist Found “The Bill Ends Up Creating A Tax Break For Manufacturers With Foreign Operations.” “What could be more dangerous for American workers, economists said, is that the bill ends up creating a tax break for manufacturers with foreign operations. Under the new rules, beyond the lower rate, companies will not have to pay United States taxes on the money they earn from plants or equipment located abroad, if those earnings amount to 10 percent or less of the total investment.” New York Times, [1/8/18]

Molinaro Voted For Improving Provisions Of Benefits To Veterans By The Veterans Affairs Department. In September 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Bost, R-Ill., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would make numerous changes to improve the provision of benefits to veterans by the Veterans Affairs Department. Among changes to the determination of disability benefits eligibility, the bill would require online questionnaires to be updated, require the VA to issue a report on improving travel cost reimbursements for overseas veterans who must attend a disability exam, and direct the VA to improve communication on the scheduling of a disability exam between contract examiners, veterans and the veterans’ representatives. The bill would also increase from seven to nine the number of judges on the Court of Appeals for Veterans Claims and require the VA to establish a program to reimburse the costs of state bar exam preparation and annual bar dues for recent law graduates who commit to a three-year service agreement with the VA.” The motion passed by a vote of 423-0. In March 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Bost, R-Ill., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would require the Veterans Affairs Department to establish and maintain a secure digital platform, within one year of enactment, for a veteran claimant or their representative to submit an electronic request for their C-File, which is a record of all benefits claims the veteran has filed with the VA, to be fulfilled by the VA within 120 days of such request. Among other provisions, the bill would require the VA to display a warning, in English, Spanish, Tagalog and the seven other most commonly spoken languages in the United States, on department websites and online tools about potential predatory practices related to veterans’ claims, including links to online tools through which users can report predatory individuals or search for attorneys or other VA-recognized entities to assist with VA claims. Molinaro Voted For Requiring The Veterans Affairs Department To Set Standards For Home- And Community-Based Service Programs, Like Home Health Aides, And Establishing Requirements For The

Programs. In December 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Bergman, R-Mich., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would require the Veterans Affairs Department to carry out home- and community-based service programs, such as the Veteran-Directed Care program and the Homemaker and Home Health Aide program. It would raise the maximum cost for VA coverage of non-VA nursing home care from 65 to 100 percent of the cost the VA would have incurred for directly providing such care. It would authorize the VA to establish regulations allowing non-VA care to exceed 100 percent of such cost for veterans with certain motor neuron and spinal conditions. It would require the VA to assess caregivers and veterans who are denied services under the VA’s caregiver support program for eligibility in any other VA home- and community-based services program. It would require the VA to provide a smooth and personalized transition for veterans and caregivers who are transitioned into such programs. It would require the VA, within 18 months of enactment, to carry out a three-year pilot program to provide homemaker and home health aide services to veterans who live in communities with a shortage of home health aides. It would require the VA to submit to Congress several reports and reviews on in-home care to veterans, including a requirement for the VA to submit to Congress recommendations for new veteran home- and community-based services. It also would require the VA to develop, maintain and regularly update a website that includes information on VA caregiver programs. As an offset, the bill would extend the rate for fees on housing loans guaranteed on or after Nov. 15, 2031, to Feb. 4, 2032.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 414-5. Dutchess County Veteran’s Services

Molinaro Wanted To Merge The Dutchess County Department Of Veterans Services With The Department Of Health. “This includes merging veterans services, now part of the Department of Aging, Veterans and Youth, with the Department of Health - which is slated to move in the spring to the Poughkeepsie Journal building in the City of Poughkeepsie. Molinaro said the move will provide long-term savings.” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 9/29/12]

Veterans Were Concerned With Molinaro’s Merger Proposal, Worried It Wasn’t Practical. “But Michael Athanas, commander of Hyde Park American Legion Post 1303, said he would worry about the staff in the combined agency not understanding the whole range of problems that World War II and other older veterans have. ‘Veterans have a whole complex of issues that young people don’t understand,’ he said. ‘I really don’t think it’s a good idea. It sounds good on paper but I don’t think it’s practical.’” [Poughkeepsie Journal, 9/29/12]

Molinaro Did Not Merge The Department Of Veterans Services

As Of 2022, The Department Of Veterans Services Still Exists. “The Division of Veterans Services ensures our County veterans and their families receive their maximum eligible benefits from the Department of Veterans Affairs and other agencies at all levels of government.” Dutchess County Department of Veterans Services, accessed [1/4/21]

Marc Molinaro said that cuts to veteran services ‘are off the table’ despite warnings from veteran groups that a current GOP proposal will have dire consequences. Molinaro, R-Red Hook, said Tuesday that the Republican plan ‘sets a topline number for the entire federal budget.’ ‘It does not include cuts to the VA and it’s shameful that President Biden and his VA Secretary would lie to try and scare veterans.’ Molinaro responded to statements made by the White House and the Department of Veterans Affairs warning that the GOP debt limit bill would result in a 22% reduction in veteran’s service. Molinaro Voted For Codifying A Program That Provides Funding For Up To 6,000 Veterans Annually To Enroll In Technology Education Programs. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Bost, R-Ill., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would codify the Veteran Employment Through Technology Education Courses (VET-TEC) pilot program, which provides funding for veterans to enroll in technology education and training programs that teach skills sought by employers in ‘high technology’ industries, including computer programming, software and information sciences. Participating veterans are generally eligible for GI Bill education benefits, including housing stipends. It would specifically direct the Veterans Affairs Department to carry out the program for up to 6,000 veterans annually by contracting with certified providers of technology educational programs, with preference given to providers whose graduates have a high rate of employment in their fields of study and that offer tuition reimbursement for graduates who do not find relevant employment. It would specify that the VA would pay providers 25 percent of a veteran’s tuition and fees upon their enrollment, 25 percent upon their graduation and 50 percent after they have been employed in their field of study for 180 days, employed by the program provider for one year, or enrolled in a related continuing education program. The bill would also modify a number of other VA programs, including to require the VA to provide a burial allowance to the families of certain veterans who die while receiving at-home VA hospice care; include non-degree flight training programs in a vocational rehabilitation program for veterans with service-connected disabilities; specify that overpayments for educational assistance are the sole responsibility of a veteran, not their dependent; and repeal a current policy that halves the amount of survivors’ and dependents’ educational assistance for programs in the Philippines. Protect The House 2024 And Take Back The House 2022 Were Funded By Billionaires

Top Donors To Protect The House 2024 Were Billionaires And Business Executives From The Investment Management And Energy Industries. “Wealthy business executives are funding House Speaker Kevin McCarthy’s (R-Calif.) campaign to keep the U.S. House of Representatives in Republican control after the 2024 elections. In January, McCarthy formed the Protect the House 2024 joint fundraising committee to raise money for incumbent House Republicans who may face challenging re-elections next year, as well as for Republican Party groups that can spend money to help re-elect them. [...] A disclosure filed today with the Federal Election Commission reveals the identities of 45 individuals who donated to the group. The names on the list include many of the billionaires and business executives who have helped to propel the Republicans into power in recent years through donations to Republican super PACs as well as to past joint fundraising committees McCarthy has formed, such as Take Back the House 2022. Many of the donors come from the investment management industry. In recent years, the Republican Party has protected the tax advantages that private equity firms and hedge funds enjoy, such as the so-called “carried interest loophole” that allow fund managers to treat their income as capital gains, which was not addressed in their 2017 tax bill. Investment firm executives that donated to Protect the House 2024 include Craig Duchossois of The Duchossois Group, Keith Rabois of Founders Fund, John Kelsey of Hamilton Point Investment, and Michael Psaros of KPS Capital Management. Other donors to Protect the House 2024 have made their fortunes in energy, a sector that the House Republicans have worked to deregulate during their first few months in control of the chamber.” Sludge, [4/10/23]

July-September 2021: Approximately 15% Of Contributions To Take Back The House 2022 Were From Billionaires And Their Spouses. “A political action committee backing Republicans running for the House of Representatives in 2022 raised $8.4 million in the third quarter, about 15% of which came from billionaires and their spouses, according to an analysis of data filed with the Federal Election Commission on Friday. The committee, called Take Back The House 2022, raised $8.4 million between July and September. Forbes identified 8 billionaires and 6 spouses of billionaires who contributed about $1.3 million. Among the donors: Cleveland Browns owner Jimmy Haslam, Blackstone cofounder Stephen Schwarzman and Omni Hotels owner Robert Rowling. The largest contribution among the group came from Rowling and his wife Terry, who donated $446,800.” Forbes, [10/15/21]

City And State: Protect The House 2024 Was Used To “To Transfer Large Sums Of Cash From Wealthy Donors To Swing Districts Around The State.” “In the money game for Congress, many candidates in highly contested races in New York are getting significant boosts from major fundraisers like House Speaker Mike Johnson and former House Speaker Kevin McCarthy. Republicans in particular are making use of joint fundraising committees to transfer large sums of cash from wealthy donors to swing districts around the state. [...] On the Republican side, both Johnson and McCarthy set up such committees that are capable of accepting six-figure donations due to how many candidates they are authorized to fundraise for. Protect the House 2024, McCarthy’s committee, is associated with over two dozen candidates around the country, including Reps. Mike Lawler, Anthony D’Esposito, Brandon Williams and Marc Molinaro. The associated Protect the House New York also includes Reps. Nick LaLota, Andrew Garbarino and Nicole Malliotakis. Johnson’s Grow the Majority and the associated Grow the Majority NY is fundraising for over three dozen candidates, including all the same New Yorkers and Reps. Elise Stefanik and Claudia Tenney.” City and State, [2/5/24]

Cox Led New York Fundraising For Trump’s Re-Election Campaign. “In the political equivalent of a golden parachute, Mr. Cox announced his departure in tandem with ‘an important new opportunity,’ according to the state party: working with Mr. Trump’s re-election campaign. He will lead fund-raising efforts in New York, according to the Trump campaign. ‘Ensuring President Trump is re-elected is the most critical task at hand, and I’m honored to take on the important role of helping deliver the resources he needs for a huge victory next year,’ Mr. Cox said in a statement.” New York Times, [5/20/20]

- The New York Republican Party Said Cox Was “Intensively Involved From Time To Time Advising Donald Trump In His Quest For The Presidency.” “Cox has assisted candidates at all levels throughout New York in numerous election cycles. In the critical election of 1994, he played a key role electing George Pataki Governor. In 2008, he served as the New York State Chairman of John McCain’s presidential campaign. Starting in 2013, as Chairman of the New York Party, Cox was intensively involved from time to time advising Donald Trump in his quest for the presidency.” NYGOP, About, accessed [2/7/24]

Cox Was Director Of Noble Energy. “In positions both in and out of government Cox has been involved in energy, environmental, education, economic and budget policies. For 35 years he was a director of a New York Stock Exchange oil and gas independent, Noble Energy, and for a number of years has been a director or trustee of the Citizens Budget Commission, the Committee for Economic Development, the New York Institute for Special Education and the National Parks of New York Harbor Conservancy.” NYGOP, About, accessed [2/7/24]

Cox sits on the board of Houston-based Noble Energy and holds stock in the company. [...] Earlier this month, Cox gave an industry speech blasting Gov. Andrew Cuomo for his unwillingness to lift the five-year moratorium on high-volume hydraulic fracturing. The news of Klein’s JCOPE request was first reported by Gannett on Friday. Cox claimed that he would not benefit financially if fracking were allowed in New York, but the Associated Press reported on Thursday that Noble is authorized to do business in New York, and has expressed concern about the strong anti-fracking movement in the state.” Politico, [11/23/13]

Catsimatidis Perpetuated Misinformation And Questioned If Joe Biden Was Planning A Coup Following The 2020 Election. “A faction of local, county and state Republican officials is pushing lies, misinformation and conspiracy theories that echo those that helped inspire the violent U.S. Capitol siege, online messaging that is spreading quickly through GOP ranks fueled by algorithms that boost extreme content. [...] After the November election, Manhattan, New York, Republican Party chair Andrea Catsimatidis asked on Parler: ‘Is Joe Biden planning a coup by trying to create his own parallel government?’ Earlier this month, she retweeted: ‘Corporate America helped rig the election.’ Reached by phone, Catsimatidis said she believes it is the duty of political officials to share their opinions and reach as many people as possible.” AP, [2/26/21]

Catsimatidis Circulated Misinformation That Far-Left Antifa Activists Were Among The Capitol Rioters. “Catsimatidis was among those circulating the debunked notion that far-left Antifa activists were among the Capitol rioters. She told NY1 she wanted to ensure all the evidence was considered so attackers can be brought to justice.” NY1, [1/9/21]

- When Asked, Catsimatidis Doubled Down On Claims And Called For An Investigation Into Antifa Infiltrating The Crowd At The January 6th Insurrection. “Catsimatidis posted retweets claiming that antifascists and other leftists infiltrated the pro-Trump crowd. When asked to comment about those assertions, she doubled down — citing a now-deleted tweet by former NYPD Commissioner Bernard Kerik claiming a bearded man and another guy wearing a mask at yesterday’s protest were undercover Black Lives Matter supporters. She also cited a New York Post report claiming leftist infiltration based off of one anonymous law enforcement source. ‘I think this point needs to be investigated. There have been so many Trump rallies and none of them included riots until now which is suspicious,’ Catsimatidis told amNewYork Metro in a statement. ‘I’ve seen some evidence circulating of ads looking for antifa members to dress as Trump supporters, as well as communist tattoos on some of the rioters, and pictures of actual rioters who were at the left-wing riots over the past year. Antifa had every reason to do this and it is definitely their MO.’”amNewYork, [1/7/21]

New York Assembly

January 2007-December 2011: Molinaro Spent $374,500 On His Staff's Salaries

Assembly Expenditure Reports List Salary Payment Under The Category Of “Personal Service Expenditures.” “Personal Service Expenditures: In this section, salary payments made during the reporting period are listed. For Member of Assembly offices, the first listing(s) will include payments of salaries to the Member of Assembly pursuant to section 5 of the Legislative Law, and any payments of special allowances (listed as Leadership Stipend Payment) pursuant to section 5-a of the Legislative Law. Following any salary payments to Members, each employee who worked in the office and received salary payments at any time during the reporting period will be listed, along with their service dates, job title, payroll type and total amount paid. The service dates reflect the actual dates of service included in the payroll periods for which paychecks were issued during the reporting period.” [New York State Assembly Expenditure Report: October 1, 2006 – March 31, 2007]

Appendix VIII – Votes 118th Congress

Abortion & Women’s Health Issues

Molinaro Voted For Blocking Consideration Of Ensuring Every American Has Access To Reproductive Healthcare, Including Abortion Care. In February 2024, Molinaro voted for: “Burgess, R-Texas, motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment).” According to the Congressional Record, Rep. McGovern said, “Mr. Speaker, if we defeat the previous question, I will offer an amendment to the rule to bring up H.R. 12, a bill that would ensure every American has full access to a central reproductive healthcare, including abortion care. Molinaro Voted For Providing Stopgap Funding Through March 1 And March 8, 2024. In January 2024, Molinaro voted for: “Granger, R-Texas, motion to suspend the rules and concur in the Senate amendment to the bill that would extend stopgap funding through March 1, 2024, for the Agriculture, Energy-Water, Military Construction-VA and Transportation-HUD spending bills; and would extend funding through March 8, 2024, for the Commerce-Justice-Science, Defense, Financial Services, Homeland Security, Interior-Environment, Labor-HHS-Education, Legislative Branch and State-Foreign Operations spending bills. In two exceptions to current funding levels, the bill would allow the National Nuclear Security Administration to spend up to $760 million to avoid issuing layoff notices for its uranium processing facility construction project in Oak Ridge, Tenn. It would also allow funding for the Federal Aviation Administration to be apportioned to meet mandated pay raises and ensure no adverse impacts on air safety. Debt Limit Package

Molinaro Voted For Suspending The Debt Limit Through March 2024 Or Until $1.5 Trillion Has Been Reached And Capping Federal Spending For FY 2024 At 2022 Levels With A Capped 1% Per Year Growth.

In April 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would suspend the statutory limit on federal debt through March 31, 2024, or until an additional $1.5 trillion has been borrowed — whichever occurs first. It would also include a range of provisions to limit federal spending, as well as the text of a previously passed energy and permitting policy package. The bill would set base discretionary spending limits through fiscal 2033, capping spending for fiscal 2024 at the fiscal 2022 level of $1.47 trillion — a reduction from current spending levels — and raising the cap by 1 percent annually through fiscal 2033. It would also include similar annual cap adjustments for specified programs, including for wildfire suppression, disability reviews and redeterminations, health care fraud and abuse control, and disaster reemployment services and eligibility assessments. The bill would rescind unobligated amounts from various funds provided by the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package (PL 117-169) for COVID-19 relief, IRS enforcement, and certain climate- and infrastructure-focused initiatives, as well as all unobligated funding from the March 2021 coronavirus relief reconciliation package (PL 117-2) and earlier coronavirus response laws. The bill would expand or establish work requirements for Medicaid beneficiaries aged 19 to 55 and raise from 49 to 55 the oldest age at which existing work requirements would apply for Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program beneficiaries. It would also modify various work standards for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program, including to update the baseline for calculating certain state workforce participation standards and require states to collect certain data related to work outcomes for TANF participants. To limit regulatory spending, the bill would nullify pending executive actions suspending student loan payments and prohibit the Education Department from implementing any substantially similar actions without congressional approval. It would also establish a process to require congressional approval of all “major” federal rules that would have an annual impact of at least $100 million, cause a major increase in prices, or cause significant adverse effects to economic competitiveness. Among energy- and climate-focused provisions, the bill would repeal, phase out or narrow a variety of climate-focused tax credits under the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package, including repealing new credits for solar and wind projects, sustainable aviation fuel and clean fuel production. It would also include the full text of the House-passed energy and permitting package (HR 1) that would require a number of actions to boost the domestic production of fossil fuels and certain critical minerals and accelerate the construction of natural gas pipelines and other energy infrastructure, while reversing or repealing certain presidential actions taken and laws enacted during the Biden administration related to energy policy and climate change.” The bill passed by a vote of 217-215. - New York Times: The Republican Debt Limit Bill Did Not Include Many Specifics On What Government Spending Would Be Cut. “Their bill, which would raise the country’s borrowing limit for a year in exchange for a decade of spending reductions, does not include many specifics. It achieves most of its savings with spending caps for discretionary spending — the part of the budget allocated annually by Congress that is not automatic like Social Security payments — but it doesn’t say what discretionary programs should be cut and which ones should be spared.” New York Times, [5/8/23]
- The House Republican Debt Limit Plan Was Expected To Force 22% In Cuts Across The Federal Government. “The legislation Congressional Republicans introduced sets overall appropriations for Fiscal Year 2024 at the same level as FY 2022. At this level, all appropriated funding—including both defense and domestic programs—would be cut deeply. However, Congressional Republicans have indicated that they are not willing to cut defense funding at all, which means that everything else in annual appropriations—from cancer research, to education, to veterans’ health care—would be cut by much more. The math is simple, but unforgiving. At their proposed topline funding level—and with defense funding left untouched as Republicans have proposed—everything else is forced to suffer enormous cuts. In fact, their bill would force a cut of 22 percent—cuts that would grow deeper and deeper with each year of their plan.” The White House, [4/20/23]

- Cutting Federal Spending By 22% Meant 31 Million Fewer Veteran Outpatient Visits And 81,000 Layoffs Across The Veterans Health Administration, Leaving Vets Vulnerable. “Cutting funding by 22 percent would mean 30 million fewer veteran outpatient visits, and 81,000 jobs lost across the Veterans Health Administration—leaving veterans unable to get appointments for care including wellness visits, cancer screenings, mental health services, and substance use disorder treatment.” The White House, [4/20/23]

[...] But few issues carry the political resonance as potential cuts to veterans benefits, and Democrats have been aiming their fire particularly at over $2 billion sitting in VA health accounts that the debt limit bill would cancel. Rescinding that money would “dramatically limit the ability for VA to provide healthcare services both within and outside of VA by clawing back needed funding for medical care,” according to the Democrats' memo.” Roll Call, [4/25/23]
- Cutting Federal Spending By 22% Was Expected To Negatively Impact 25 Million Low Income Students And 7.5 Million Students With Disabilities. “A 22 percent cut would impact 25 million students in schools that teach low-income students and 7.5 million students with disabilities, which could force a reduction of up to 108,000 teachers, aides or other key staff.” The White House, [4/20/23]

- The Republican Debt Limit Plan Was Expected To Leave Over Half A Million Of The Poorest Americans Without Health Insurance. “More than a half million of the poorest Americans could be left without health insurance under legislation passed by House Republicans that would require people to work in exchange for health care coverage through Medicaid. It's one of dozens of provisions tucked into a GOP bill that would allow for an increase in the debt limit but curb government spending over the next decade. The bill is unlikely to become law, though. It is being used by House Republicans to draw Democrats to the negotiating table and avoid a debt default.” ABC News, [4/30/23]
- The Republican Debt Limit Plan Was Expected To Cause Over 275,000 Americans A Month To Lose Access To Food Stamps. “House Republicans passed a debt ceiling bill last week with a provision to enact new work requirements for those seeking federal assistance, claiming the measure would help cut federal spending. The Congressional Budget Office (CBO), a nonpartisan agency, said last week that the stricter work requirements proposed by the House GOP would reduce federal spending by $120 billion over the next decade, a small portion of the roughly $4.8 trillion in savings the bill would generate. About 600,000 Americans would lose health insurance, while about 275,000 Americans a month would lose access to food stamps, the CBO said.” Time, [5/1/23]
- Republican Spending Cuts Were Expected To Cut Cancer Research, Nutritional Assistance For Poor Mothers And Infants, And The Social Security Administration Employees By More Than Half. “The charts above show how exempting big categories of spending would make the budget caps more draconian. Universal discretionary caps would cut spending by an average of 18 percent over a decade, compared with

what's expected if current levels grew according to inflation. But with defense, veterans' care and homeland security exempted, the caps would result in cutting the rest of the discretionary budget by more than half. Defense is the largest category of discretionary spending in the budget. Veterans' health care is the second largest. The programs that would be subject to such deeper cuts include nutrition assistance for poor mothers and infants, air traffic control, the State Department, cancer research and Social Security Administration employees." - The Debt Limit Bill Repealed Tax Incentives For Renewable Energy And Toughened Work Requirements For Antipoverty Programs, Including Medicaid. "The U.S. House of Representatives on Wednesday narrowly passed a bill to raise the government's $31.4 trillion debt ceiling that includes sweeping spending cuts over the next decade. [...] The House bill would increase Washington's borrowing authority by $1.5 trillion or until March 31, whichever comes first, raising the specter of another round of negotiations during the 2024 presidential campaign. The bill would pare spending to 2022 levels and then cap growth at 1% a year, repeal some tax incentives for renewable energy and stiffen work requirements for some antipoverty programs. [...] The overnight changes removed a provision that would have ended a tax credit for biofuels that was part of Biden's climate change initiatives in the 2022 Inflation Reduction Act. Bending to the far-right wing of the party, Republicans also accelerated some new, tougher work requirements for receiving Medicaid healthcare benefits for the poor, angering Democrats." [...] The House voted 217 to 215 to pass the Limit, Save, Grow Act of 2023, with all but four Republican members voting in favor. The House GOP's plan would freeze spending at levels adopted in fiscal year 2022 and cap future federal spending increases at 1% annually for the next decade. [...] Almost $6 billion would come out of unspent Transportation Department funds for highway, aviation and transit agencies. Overall, it said the Republican plan, which would sharply reduce budget spending in exchange for a short-term increase in the debt ceiling, would reduce funding for U.S. transit and highway infrastructure projects by nearly $5.2 billion. The White House has said President Joe Biden would veto the legislation, and has called on Congress to raise the debt limit without conditions. President Biden and his administration have pushed back hard against the proposal from Republican House of Representatives Speaker Kevin McCarthy, which would implement $4.5 trillion in spending cuts with a $1.5 trillion increase in the $31.4 trillion U.S. debt limit." The Arrington amendment to HR 2811 would strike from the bill provisions that would repeal tax credits for biofuels and other alternative fuels, which were initially enacted in the fiscal 2022 reconciliation law (PL 117-169), and strike from the bill a provision that would narrow eligibility for tax credits for carbon oxide sequestration. It would create a transition rule for the bill's repeal of sustainable aviation fuel and clean fuel production credits, maintaining eligibility for entities to receive such credits based on binding contracts or other investment actions between Aug. 26, 2022, and April 19, 2023. It would rescind the balances of unobligated funds provided by the fiscal 2022 reconciliation law for programs related to greenhouse gas pollution reduction, energy infrastructure updates, Federal Highway Administration neighborhood access and equity projects, energy efficient building codes and National Park System maintenance. Finally, the amendment would make certain modifications in the bill to the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program, including increased work requirements, effective one year earlier, on Oct. 1, 2024, and establish that a purpose of the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program is to 'assist low-income adults in obtaining employment and increasing their earnings.' The rule would also provide for up to one hour of debate on a joint resolution (H J Res 39) providing for congressional disapproval of a Commerce Department rule related to duties for solar-energy materials.” The rule was adopted by a vote of 219-210. Molinaro Voted For A Continuing Resolution With Republican Riders And Nearly 30% Cuts Across The Government. In September 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide funding for federal government operations and services through Oct. 31, 2023, with a 29.9 percent cut from fiscal 2023 levels for most programs. It would fund veterans’ programs, the Department of Homeland Security, national security programs and disaster assistance at full fiscal 2023 levels. It would also implement nearly all provisions of House Republicans’ border security and immigration bill (HR 2), which the House passed in May 2023. It would provide an increase in funding for the Defense Department at rates set forth in House Republicans’ fiscal 2024 defense appropriations bill (HR 4365), which would provide for a 3.6 percent funding increase over fiscal 2023. It would also provide funding increases for the Agriculture Department and provide an additional $220 million above fiscal 2023 levels for Energy Department nuclear programs. Among its border security and immigration provisions, it would require DHS, within seven days of enactment, to resume all activities related to “border wall” construction on the U.S.-Mexico border that were underway or planned prior to Jan. 20, 2021; require DHS to reopen or restore, no later than Sept. 30, 2023, the use of all Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention facilities that were in operation on Jan. 20, 2021; and require DHS to return all unaccompanied children to their country of origin, regardless of whether they are from a contiguous country to the U.S. In addition to provisions of HR 2, it would place limitations on the use of DHS funding provided by the bill, including prohibitions on removing existing U.S.-Mexico border barriers, transporting inadmissible adults into the U.S., and the use of Customs and Border Protection’s “CBP One” app to facilitate the parole of an individual into the U.S. It also would prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to initiate or resume any project or activity not funded during fiscal 2023 and would establish a congressional fiscal commission tasked with identifying policies to “improve the fiscal situation.” The bill was rejected by a vote of 198-232. - The Rule Pertained To Federal Employee Status And Protections When Federal Employees Change Positions. “The Office of Personnel Management (OPM) is proposing a rule to reinforce and clarify longstanding civil service protections and merit system principles, codified in law, as they relate to the movement of Federal employees and positions from the competitive service to the excepted service, or from one excepted service schedule to another. First, it clarifies that, upon such a move, an employee retains the status and civil service protections they had already accrued by law, unless the employee relinquishes such rights or status by voluntarily encumbering a position that explicitly results in a loss of, or different, rights. Second, it interprets ‘confidential, policy-determining, policy-making, or policy-advocating’ and ‘confidential or policy-determining’ to describe positions, generally excepted from civil service protections, in accordance with statutory text, legislative history for that text, and congressional intent, to reinforce the interpretation that this term was intended to mean noncareer, political appointments. Third, it provides specific additional procedures that apply when moving positions from the competitive service to the excepted service, or from one excepted service schedule to another, for the purposes of good administration, to add transparency, and to provide employees with a right of appeal to the Merit Systems Protection Board (MSPB or Board) to the extent any such move purportedly strips employees of their civil service status and protections.” Federal Register, [9/18/23]

Molinaro Voted Against Passing FY 2024 Interior And Environment Appropriations With Republican

Riders. In November 2023, Molinaro voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide $37.7 billion in discretionary spending, including $25.4 billion subject to the measure’s discretionary cap and $9.4 billion offset by rescissions. It would provide $14.6 billion for the Interior Department, including $3 billion for the National Park Service; $1.5 billion for the Fish and Wildlife Service; $1.3 billion for the U.S. Geological Survey; and $1.3 billion for the Bureau of Land Management. It would provide approximately $11.2 billion for Native American programs in fiscal 2024, including $2.6 billion for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, $1.4 billion for the Bureau of Indian Education and $7.1 billion for the Health and Human Services Department’s Indian Health Service (an IHS total that includes $5.1 billion in advance appropriations enacted in the fiscal 2023 spending measure). The bill would provide an additional $5.9 billion in fiscal 2025 advance appropriations for IHS. The bill would provide $6.2 billion for the EPA, which includes $2.4 billion for environmental programs and management and $561 million for science and technology. It would provide $8 billion for the Forest Service, including $4.4 billion for wildfire management and response. Between the Forest Service and Interior Department, it would provide $619 million for wildfire preparedness and $1.4 billion for fire suppression activities. The bill would also provide $960 million for the Smithsonian Institution; $178 million for the National Gallery of Art; and $373 million combined for the National Endowment for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Humanities. Among its policy provisions, it would prohibit the use of funds to promote “critical race theory”; block a January 2023 EPA and Army Corps of Engineers rule on the definition of “Waters of the United States”; prohibit the EPA from issuing a waiver to allow California to issue its own emissions standards for small off-road vehicle engines; require the Interior Department to conduct quarterly onshore oil and gas lease sales; and prohibit the use of funds to implement certain regulations under the Endangered Species Act, including protections for the lesser prairie-chicken and the northern long-eared bat. It would rescind $9.4 billion in funding for the EPA, Interior Department and Council on Environmental Quality provided under the fiscal 2022 budget reconciliation bill (PL 117-169), including $7.8 billion for renewable energy projects and $1.4 billion for environmental and climate justice projects. As amended, the bill would bar the use of funds provided by the bill for the American Climate Corps; prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to enforce any COVID-19 mask mandates; bar the use of funds provided by the bill to implement, administer, apply, enforce or carry out any plastic straw prohibitions; prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill for the cancellation or suspension of oil and gas leases in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge or the National Petroleum Reserve in Alaska; and prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to reduce the number of oil and gas leases issued by the Interior Department, among other provisions.” The bill passed by a vote of 213-203. Molinaro Voted For FY 2024 Appropriations For The Energy Department, Including Republican Riders. In October 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide $60 billion in fiscal 2024 funding for the Energy Department, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, the Bureau of Reclamation and independent federal agencies. It would provide $49 billion for the Energy Department, $24 billion for the National Nuclear Security Administration, and $2.8 billion for the Harbor Maintenance Trust Fund. Within NNSA funding, it would provide $19.1 billion appropriated for weapons activities, $1.9 billion for naval reactors and $2.4 billion for defense nuclear nonproliferation. The bill would provide $2 billion for the Energy Efficiency and Renewable Energy Office. It would redirect $3.6 billion in unobligated funds previously appropriated by the 2021 bipartisan infrastructure law for advanced nuclear reactor demonstration programs, including $2.4 billion for advanced nuclear fuel and $1.2 billion for small modular reactor research and development. The funding for each would be evenly distributed over the next three fiscal years. It would provide $470 million for the Advanced Research Projects Agency-Energy, $281 million for the Strategic Petroleum Reserve and $858 million for the Office of Fossil Energy and Carbon Management. The bill would provide $9.6 billion for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. For programs within the Interior Department, the bill would provide $1.9 billion, including $1.7 billion for the Bureau of Reclamation and $23 million for the Central Utah Project. It would also prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to finalize an Energy Department rule proposed in February 2023, on energy conservation standards for gas ranges and ovens, or any rule that would directly or indirectly limit consumer access to gas kitchen ranges or ovens.” The bill passed by a vote of 210-199. Molinaro Voted For Extending The Time States Have To Recover Fraudulent COVID-19 And Unemployment Insurance Payments By Extending The Statute Of Limitations By Five Years. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would extend the length of time that states have to recover fraudulent COVID-19 and regular unemployment insurance benefit payments and allow states to retain certain percentages of recovered overpayments to use for UI program integrity initiatives. Specifically, the bill would extend from five to 10 years the statute of limitations for criminal charges or civil enforcement actions alleging that an individual engaged in UI benefit fraud. It would extend, from three to 10 years after a payment is made, the amount of time states have to recover UI overpayments made due to fraud under pandemic unemployment assistance programs, the mixed earner unemployment benefit program established during the pandemic, extended UI benefits during the pandemic, and the first week of regular benefits that were fully federally-funded during the pandemic. It would allow states to retain 25 percent of any such recovered funds and require states to use such funds for certain UI program integrity activities, including hiring fraud investigators and prosecutors and modernizing unemployment compensation systems. Beginning two years after enactment, it would allow states to retain five percent of any recovered overpayments of regular and extended unemployment insurance benefits, unless the overpayment was caused by a state agency's error, to be used for UI program integrity and administration costs, including deterring, detecting and preventing improper payments; payments to the Treasury Department on a state loan from the unemployment trust fund; and modernizing state UI technology infrastructure. It would establish requirements for states to be eligible for retention of such funds, including that they use a system for crossmatching UI claimants, use a national new hires directory to identify individuals who may have become employed, and take actions to prevent payments to incarcerated and deceased individuals. It would also reinstate and extend through 2030 certain flexibility for states to hire temporary staff to identify and prosecute fraudulent pandemic UI benefits. As an offset, the bill would repeal a provision in the March 2020 coronavirus response law (PL 116-136) that provided $2 billion for the Labor Department to detect and prevent fraud, promote equitable access, and ensure timely payment with respect to unemployment compensation programs.” The bill passed by a vote of 230-200. Molinaro Voted For Classifying Fentanyl-Related Substances As Schedule I Drugs And Establishing Expedited Procedures For Using Schedule I And Schedule II Substances In Research. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would permanently classify all fentanyl-related substances as Schedule I drugs under the Controlled Substances Act - unless they are specifically exempted or listed in another schedule - thereby extending to those drugs mandatory minimum sentencing requirements. It would also establish expedited procedures for the use of Schedule I and Schedule II controlled substances in research. The bill would permit researchers who are currently registered to study Schedule I and Schedule II to begin research on additional substances beginning 30 days after they notify the Justice Department, if the research is part of an investigational use exemption; conducted or funded by the Health and Human Services, Veterans Affairs or Defense departments; and the researcher provides certain information on the substances to be used and demonstrates they are authorized by state law to conduct such research. It would require the Justice Department to approve or deny the registration status of a new researcher within 45 days of receiving an application. It would also allow additional researchers at the same institution or at related research sites to be added to an existing registration instead of registering separately; require researchers working on substances newly classified under Schedule I to submit research applications within 90 days of the new classification; and allow researchers to manufacture small quantities of Schedule I substances for research purposes without first obtaining a manufacturing registration. Among other provisions, the bill would require the Justice Department to issue regulations to implement the bill’s provisions within six months of its enactment. It would also express the sense of Congress that it agrees with a 2021 U.S. Court of Appeals decision (United States v. McCray) that concluded that a substance can be an analogue of fentanyl even if it is not listed as a controlled substance analogue and that dealing in 10 grams or more of a fentanyl analogue is subject to enhanced penalty. The bill would define fentanyl-related substances as those structurally related to fentanyl by certain substitutions, which contain the salts, isomers, and salts of isomers of fentanyl within a specific chemical designation.” The bill passed by a vote of 289-133. Molinaro Voted For The Passage Of The Middle Class Borrower Protection Act (Rescinding Federal Housing Finance Agency Loan Price Adjustments). In June 2023, Molinaro voted for: Passage of the bill, as amended, that would rescind, within 60 days of the bill's enactment, the Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac loan-level pricing adjustment framework issued in 2023 by the Federal Housing Finance Agency. It would require the FHFA to reimplement the LLPA framework for single-family mortgages that was in effect prior to May 1, 2023. It would prohibit FHFA from further modifying the LLPA framework until 90 days after the Government Accountability Office has completed a study on the effects of the modifications made by FHFA in January 2023. It would require the GAO to analyze the methodology used by FHFA to develop the revised LLPAs, the economic impact of such revisions, their effects on the safety and soundness on Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac, and whether the revised framework deviated from the principle of risk-based pricing. It would require the GAO to submit a report to Congress on the study within 14 months of the bill's enactment. The bill would require FHFA to follow administrative rulemaking procedures as 'close as practicable' when proposing future adjustments to the LLPA framework following the completion of the GAO study. It would require such revisions to be based, to the 'greatest extent feasible,' on the risk posed by mortgage loans to Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. It would prohibit FHFA or Fannie and Freddie from imposing any loan-level pricing adjustment fee that is based on a borrower's debt-to-income ratio." The resolution passed 230 to 189. Molinaro Voted For The Passage Of A Bill Giving Requiring Congressional Approval for Executive Actions Deemed "Major Rules." In June 2023, Molinaro voted for: "Passage of the bill, as amended, that would require congressional approval of a joint resolution to implement any 'major rule' that has or is likely to result in an annual economic effect of at least $100 million; a major increase in costs or prices; or significant adverse effects on U.S. competition, employment, productivity or international competitiveness. It would exempt from the bill's requirements any rule issued by the Federal Reserve Board of Governors or the Federal Open Market Committee. The bill would allow a major rule to go into effect without congressional approval for a 90-day period if the president determines by executive order that such rule is necessary because of an imminent threat or emergency, necessary for national security or the enforcement of criminal laws, or if the rule has been issued to implement an international trade agreement. If a joint resolution of approval for a major rule is not enacted within 70 legislative days, it would prohibit consideration of a joint resolution of approval for the same rule for the duration of the Congress." Molinaro Voted For Codifying Existing Securities And Exchange Commission “Test-The-Waters” Rules That Allow Companies To Submit Draft Registration Prior To Their IPO Date. In June 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Wagner, R-Mo., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would codify existing Securities and Exchange Commission ‘test-the-waters’ rules that allow companies, regardless of size, to submit to the SEC draft registration statements for confidential review prior to an initial public offering at least 10 days before the IPO date or up to one year thereafter in the case of a subsequent offer. This would match current law that applies specifically to emerging growth companies. The bill would specify that companies may communicate with potential qualified institutional buyers or investors to determine whether they might have an interest in a potential securities offering, either before or after filing a registration statement with the SEC. It would also allow the SEC to issue rules or regulations, subject to public notice and comment, to impose additional terms and conditions on the submission of draft registration statements or communications with investors prior to filing a registration statement. Molinaro Voted For Lifting The Debt Ceiling Until January 1, 2025. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would suspend the statutory limit on federal debt through Jan. 1, 2025. It would also set discretionary spending caps for the next two years and include a range of provisions to limit federal spending, rescind unobligated funds and streamline environmental permitting processes. The bill would set base discretionary spending limits for defense and nondefense spending for fiscal years 2024 and 2025, capping defense spending for fiscal 2024 at $886.4 billion -- an increase of approximately 3 percent -- and nondefense spending at $703.7 billion -- a cut of more than 5 percent. Both caps would increase for fiscal 2025 by 1 percent. Through fiscal 2025, it would also include specific annual cap adjustments for specified programs; provide $44.8 for the veterans’ toxic exposure fund established by the PACT Act (PL 117-168); and provide $22 billion for a Commerce Department IT modernization and facility improvement fund. If appropriations legislation for fiscal years 2024 and 2025 is not enacted by Jan. 1 of each year, the bill would set discretionary spending limits for funds provided under a continuing resolution at levels reduced 1 percent from the previous fiscal year. For the subsequent four years, the bill would set overall discretionary spending limits for the purpose of congressional budget enforcement, establishing a cap of $1.62 trillion in fiscal 2026, increasing 1 percent annually to $1.67 trillion in fiscal 2029. The bill would rescind approximately $27.7 billion in unobligated funds, primarily for coronavirus response, including $10.4 billion for the Public Health and Social Services Emergency Fund, $3.2 billion for Agriculture Department food supply chain and other activities, $2.2 billion for highway infrastructure programs, and $1.7 billion for Centers for Disease Control and Prevention virus tracking and vaccine development activities. It would also rescind $1.4 billion for IRS enforcement provided by the fiscal 2022 reconciliation package (PL 117-169). The bill would temporarily raise from 49 to 54 the oldest age at which existing work requirements would apply for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program, while also exempting homeless individuals, veterans, and individuals under age 25 who aged out of foster care. It would reduce from 12 to 8 percent the maximum number of individuals that states may exempt from SNAP work requirements. It would update the baseline for calculating certain state workforce participation standards for the Temporary Assistance for Needy Families program and provide for a pilot program for states to establish work outcome benchmarks and reduce assistance to beneficiaries who refuse to meet work requirements. The bill would establish an ‘administrative pay-as-you-go’ requirement for federal agencies, requiring agencies to submit to the Office of Management and Budget an estimate of the budgetary effects for any proposed administrative action and, if the action would increase direct spending by at least $1 billion over the next 10 years or $100 million in any one year, include a proposal for an action to reduce spending by at least an equal amount – effective through 2024. The bill would statutorily end the pause on student loan repayments on Aug. 29, 2023. Among provisions to streamline the permitting process under the National Environmental Policy Act, the bill would set deadlines of one year for environmental assessments and two years for environmental impact statements; limit the page length of such documents; adjust thresholds for levels of review; limit the scope of reviews to ‘reasonably foreseeable’ environmental effects of an action; and limit the definition of major federal actions under NEPA to those subject to ‘substantial federal control and responsibility.’ The bill would also legislatively approve the West Virginia-to-Virginia Mountain Valley Pipeline.” The bill passed by a vote of 314-117. - The New Student Loan Repayment Plan Decreased Borrowers’ Monthly Payments And Eliminated Monthly Interest When Borrowers Make Scheduled Payments. “Lower Payments Through Increased Income Exemption The SAVE Plan decreases monthly payments by increasing the income exemption from 150% to 225% of the poverty line. This means SAVE can significantly decrease your monthly payment amount compared to other IDR plans. [...] The SAVE Plan eliminates 100% of remaining monthly interest for both subsidized and unsubsidized loans after you make a scheduled payment. This means that if you make your monthly payment, your loan balance won’t grow due to unpaid interest that accrued since your last payment.” Federal Student Aid, accessed [12/8/23]

Molinaro Voted For Establishing Financial Disclosure Requirements For Higher Education Institutions Receiving Gifts Or Contracts From Foreign Governments And Prohibit Contracts With Foreign Entities Of Concern. In December 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would establish financial

disclosure requirements for colleges and universities that receive funds from foreign sources, including gifts from or contracts with foreign governments, companies and individuals valued at $50,000 or more, instead of the current $250,000 threshold. Among other provisions, the bill would generally prohibit colleges and universities from entering into contracts with foreign countries of concern or foreign entities of concern. It would require institutions to disclose any gifts they receive from such countries or entities, private institutions to disclose whether their endowments are invested in assets issued by foreign countries or entities of concern, and it would establish numerous penalties for institutions that violate the bill's requirements. The bill would also require the Education Department to establish an online searchable database where the required disclosure reports would be available to the public. It would define foreign countries of concern as North Korea, China, Russia, Iran and any other country that has been designated as a country of concern after consultation with the State Department. It would define a foreign entity of concern to include any organization or company that is owned or controlled by the government of a foreign country of concern, has been designated as a foreign terrorist organization, is included on Treasury Department sanctions lists, has been involved in certain economic espionage activities, or has engaged in any other unauthorized conduct that is detrimental to U.S. foreign policy or national security.” The bill passed by a vote of 246-170. Molinaro Voted For Veto Override Disapproving Of The Student Loan Forgiveness Rule. In June 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage, over President Biden's June 7, 2023, veto of the joint resolution that would provide for congressional disapproval of an October 2022 Education Department rule that allows for loan forgiveness of up to $10,000 in loan debt for federal student loan borrowers and another $10,000 for such borrowers who also received a Pell Grant. The rule limits eligibility for such loan forgiveness to borrowers with a maximum adjusted gross income of $125,000, or $250,000 for joint filers. The rule also extended, through the end of 2022, the suspension of student loan payments, the cessation of interest accrual and the suspension of involuntary loan collections. It allowed suspended loan payments during that period to count towards loan forgiveness or loan rehabilitation programs. The rule took effect on Oct. 12, 2022, but its loan forgiveness provisions have not been implemented pending legal challenges. Under the provisions of the joint resolution, the Education Department rule would have no force or effect, canceling the loan forgiveness program and reinstating loan payments and interest accrual that were suspended under the rule.” The bill passed 221 to 206. Molinaro Voted For The Parents Bill Of Rights Act To Establish Requirements For Schools To Provide Parents With Certain Information On Their Child’s Education. In March 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would establish various requirements for public elementary and secondary schools to provide parents with information and certain rights regarding their children’s education. It would generally require schools that receive federal funding to obtain parental consent before providing a non-emergency medical screening or examination or before changing a child’s gender markers or sex-based accommodations. It would require schools to allow parents to inspect and provide feedback on all instructional and reading materials used in evaluations or available to students through school libraries, as well as professional development materials for teachers. It would prohibit schools from acting as agents of parents to consent to the use of online technology or the administration of vaccinations, and from selling student information for commercial gain. To increase transparency at Title I schools, the bill would generally require school districts to publicly disseminate curricula for each grade, as well as notices of any changes to the state’s academic standards; include detailed budget information for each school in their annual report cards; and allow parents to meet with teachers at least twice a year, address the school board and review professional development materials. It would require local educational agencies to ensure that Title I schools provide and inform parents of their rights to receive information regarding their child’s education, including if a school changes their child’s gender markers or sex-based accommodations, the number of school counselors in their child’s school, if their child receives mental health treatment or brings a weapon to school, all enrollment and transfer options, planned outside speakers at school events, violent activity on school grounds, elimination of gifted and talented programs, and notification if a student is not grade-level proficient in reading at the end of third grade. Among other provisions, the bill would specify that it does not authorize federal involvement in curriculum or school personnel decisions and does not authorize parents to prohibit students who are not their children from accessing books or reading materials available in a school’s library. It would express the sense of Congress that public school students should have access to broadband and opportunities to learn the history of the Holocaust and anti-Semitism, and that parents have a constitutional right to ‘direct the education of their children.’” The bill passed by a vote of 213-208. In February 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the joint resolution that would establish congressional disapproval of, effectively repealing, the November 2022 District of Columbia Council legislation allowing noncitizens, including undocumented immigrants, to vote in local D.C. elections beginning in 2024.” The bill passed by a vote of 260-162. H.J.Res. 24, [Vote #118, 2/9/23; CQ, 2/9/23]

- The DC Council In October 2022 Passed Legislation To Allow Noncitizens To Vote; Versions Of The Legislation Had Been Introduced For Decades But Failed To Pass. "The D.C. Council on Tuesday sent a pair of bills to Mayor Muriel Bowser that would greatly expand who can vote in local elections and how they cast their ballot. The first bill would allow noncitizens, including undocumented residents, to vote in local elections, meaning D.C. would join a few jurisdictions nationwide (including neighboring Takoma Park). [...] The bill had been floating around the Council for at least a decade, but struggled to move out of committee until this year. A previous version had only let green card-holders vote in local elections. But the judiciary committee, chaired by Ward 6 Councilmember Charles Allen, was compelled to expand voting rights to undocumented immigrants after public testimony." DCist, [10/18/22]
- Advocates For The Legislation Argued That Noncitizens Paid Taxes And Are Impacted By Local Policies And Thus Should Be Allowed To Vote. "D.C. lawmakers say that noncitizens pay taxes and are impacted by local policies, and should thus have a say in the people who make them. - 2018 Polling On Legislation That Would Allow Noncitizens To Vote Found 91% Of Republicans And 54% Of Democrats Opposing The Legislation, 71% Of Respondents Overall Opposed. "San Francisco's Department of Elections last week made the move to start allowing non-U.S. citizens to vote in the city's school board elections, sparking a national debate. [...] According to the survey, which is a joint project of Hill.TV and the HarrisX polling company, 71 percent of respondents opposed San Francisco's decision, while only 29 percent said they supported the move. Ninety-one percent of Republicans polled said they opposed giving the right to vote to noncitizens, as did 54 percent of Democrats. Seventy percent of independents said they were also in opposition to the decision. When respondents were asked the same question but with the wording changed to include the term 'illegal immigrants' instead of non-U.S. citizens, the results were nearly the same. Sixty-nine percent of Americans said they opposed the measure, while only 31 percent said they supported the measure. When asked the question with the term 'illegal immigrant,' 91 percent of Republicans said they opposed giving them voter rights, while 55 percent of Democrats also said they disagreed with the move. Sixty-five percent of Democrats also said they were against the measure. [...] The poll was conducted July 21–22 among 1,001 registered voters." The Hill, [7/26/18]

In February 2024, Molinaro did not vote on: “Westerman, R-Ark., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would reauthorize the Morris K. Udall and Stewart L. Udall Foundation through fiscal 2028. It would authorize $2 million in annual funding for the Udall Trust Fund through fiscal 2023. The bill would prohibit the foundation from spending any interest generated by the funds appropriated to the trust fund, starting in fiscal 2024, on education programs and scholarships without further Congressional appropriations. It also would authorize $4 million annually to be deposited into the Environmental Dispute Resolution Fund. Of that amount, $3 million would be allocated each year for operations of the McCain Center for Environmental Conflict Resolution and $1 million for grants to help state and local governments, tribes, and non-government entities participate in environmental conflict resolution proceedings. It would require the inspector general of the Interior Department to complete an audit of the Morris K. Udall and Stewart L. Udall Foundation within four years of the bill’s enactment.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 350-58. H.R. 2882, [Vote #32, 2/5/24; CQ, 2/5/24]

Molinaro Voted For Prohibiting The Environmental Protection Agency From Implementing New Motor Vehicle Emissions Standards. In December 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would prohibit the EPA from finalizing, implementing or enforcing a May 2023 proposed rule that would establish new emissions standards for light- and medium-duty vehicles beginning in model year 2027. It would also amend the Clean Air Act to prevent the EPA from issuing any motor vehicle emission and pollution standards, effective on or after Jan. 1, 2021, that either mandate the use of a specific technology, or that would have the effect of limiting the availability of new motor vehicles based on their engine type. It would require the EPA, within 24 months of the bill’s enactment, to modify any existing motor vehicle emission standards in order to comply with the bill’s provisions.” The bill passed by a vote of 221-197. Molinaro Voted Against Passing FY 2024 Interior And Environment Appropriations With Republican Riders. In November 2023, Molinaro voted against: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would provide $37.7 billion in discretionary spending, including $25.4 billion subject to the measure's discretionary cap and $9.4 billion offset by rescissions. It would provide $14.6 billion for the Interior Department, including $3 billion for the National Park Service; $1.5 billion for the Fish and Wildlife Service; $1.3 billion for the U.S. Geological Survey; and $1.3 billion for the Bureau of Land Management. It would provide approximately $11.2 billion for Native American programs in fiscal 2024, including $2.6 billion for the Bureau of Indian Affairs, $1.4 billion for the Bureau of Indian Education and $7.1 billion for the Health and Human Services Department’s Indian Health Service (an IHS total that includes $5.1 billion in advance appropriations enacted in the fiscal 2023 spending measure). The bill would provide an additional $5.9 billion in fiscal 2025 advance appropriations for IHS. The bill would provide $6.2 billion for the EPA, which includes $2.4 billion for environmental programs and management and $561 million for science and technology. It would provide $8 billion for the Forest Service, including $4.4 billion for wildfire management and response. Between the Forest Service and Interior Department, it would provide $619 million for wildfire preparedness and $1.4 billion for fire suppression activities. The bill would also provide $960 million for the Smithsonian Institution; $178 million for the National Gallery of Art; and $373 million combined for the National Endowment for the Arts and the National Endowment for the Humanities. Among its policy provisions, it would prohibit the use of funds to promote “critical race theory”; block a January 2023 EPA and Army Corps of Engineers rule on the definition of “Waters of the United States”; prohibit the EPA from issuing a waiver to allow California to issue its own emissions standards for small off-road vehicle engines; require the Interior Department to conduct quarterly onshore oil and gas lease sales; and prohibit the use of funds to implement certain regulations under the Endangered Species Act, including protections for the lesser prairie-chicken and the northern long-eared bat. It would rescind $9.4 billion in funding for the EPA, Interior Department and Council on Environmental Quality provided under the fiscal 2022 budget reconciliation bill (PL 117-169), including $7.8 billion for renewable energy projects and $1.4 billion for environmental and climate justice projects. As amended, the bill would bar the use of funds provided by the bill for the American Climate Corps; prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to enforce any COVID-19 mask mandates; bar the use of funds provided by the bill to implement, administer, apply, enforce or carry out any plastic straw prohibitions; prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill for the cancellation or suspension of oil and gas leases in the Arctic National Wildlife Refuge or the National Petroleum Reserve in Alaska; and prohibit the use of funds provided by the bill to reduce the number of oil and gas leases issued by the Interior Department, among other provisions.” The bill passed by a vote of 213-203. Molinaro Voted For A Joint Resolution To Disapprove Of More Stringent Emissions Standards On Heavy-Duty Vehicles. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the joint resolution that would provide for congressional disapproval of the January 2023 EPA rule imposing more stringent emissions standards on heavy-duty engines and vehicles. The rule requires heavy-duty vehicles, starting in model year 2027, to comply with reduced emissions limits of nitrogen oxides and other pollutants, both in real-world conditions and laboratory-tested scenarios. It would also lengthen the period during the engine's operational life when the reduced emissions standard must be met. According to the EPA, the rule will reduce nitrogen oxide emissions from heavy-duty trucks by almost 50 percent by 2045. The EPA rule took effect on March 27, 2023. Under the joint resolution, the rule would have no force or effect." The joint resolution passed by a vote of 221-203. S.J.Res. 11, [Vote #232, 5/23/23; CQ, 5/23/23]

Molinaro Voted For Requiring The Energy Department And The National Oceanic And Atmospheric Administration To Use Artificial Intelligence To Advance Climate Models And Weather Predictions. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: "Miller, R-Ohio, motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill that would require the Energy Department and the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to carry out joint collaborative research and development activities in artificial intelligence and high-performance computing focused on advancing climate models and weather prediction -- including to develop methods to accommodate large weather and climate data sets; conduct research to optimize modeling, machine learning and analysis techniques; support scientific computing infrastructure and interoperability; and provide data access to promote collaboration and data sharing between federal agencies and nonprofit research institutions. It would also require NOAA, in collaboration with the Energy Department, to carry out a five-year proof-of-concept initiative to run advanced climate and weather models and compare them to existing forecasts and models. It would direct NOAA to consider applications from federal agencies and research institutions to carry out the initiative, and to report to Congress on the program's effectiveness. Within two years of the bill's enactment, it would require the Energy Department and NOAA to submit a joint report to Congress on ongoing interagency coordination, collaborative research and any potential opportunities to expand the agencies' technical capabilities." Molinaro Voted For Requiring The National Oceanic And Atmospheric Administration To Modify Existing Ocean Acidification Programs, Particularly To Increase Engagement With Indian Tribes And Coastal Communities. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: "Miller, R-Ohio, motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill that would require the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Ocean Acidification Advisory Board to take certain actions and modify several existing ocean acidification programs, particularly to increase engagement with Indian tribes and coastal communities. The bill would require the board to establish and maintain a mechanism for stakeholders - including industry members, fishery management councils, community acidification networks, indigenous knowledge groups, resource managers and scientific experts -- to provide input on research, data and monitoring related to ocean and coastal acidification. It would add two board seats for representatives of affected Indian tribes, tribal organizations or consortia, and reduce the number of seats for state and local government representatives from six to four. It would require the board, within one year of enactment, to develop and implement a policy for engagement and coordination with tribes. Among other provisions, the bill would also require NOAA to build on existing state and local activities to conduct acidification vulnerability assessments and establish that the agency's strategic acidification research plan only needs to address monitoring to support stakeholders affected by ocean acidification, not those that may potentially be impacted." Molinaro Voted For The Lower Energy Costs Act. In March 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would require a number of actions to boost the domestic production of fossil fuels and critical minerals, accelerate the construction of natural gas pipelines and other energy infrastructure, and reverse or repeal certain recent policies related to energy and climate change. Among provisions to boost oil and gas leasing and production, the bill would require the Interior Department to resume quarterly oil and gas lease sales on federal lands; complete certain proposed sales on the Outer Continental Shelf; and implement at least two lease sales per year in each of the Gulf of Mexico and the Alaska regions of the Shelf. It would roll back increased fees and royalties for onshore and offshore oil and gas development and production established by the 2022 budget reconciliation package (PL 117-69). It would adjust revenue sharing requirements for onshore and offshore production to generally decrease federal shares and increase state shares, particularly for coastal states. It would also require annual geothermal lease sales; terminate a moratorium on new coal leasing; and provide for final approval of previously authorized coal leases. It would prohibit the president from declaring a moratorium on the use of hydraulic fracturing and from taking any action that would delay new leases, sales and drill permits for oil and gas, coal or mineral exploration. It would remove restrictions on the import and export of liquified natural gas and prohibit the Chinese Communist Party or a person acting on its behalf from acquiring any interest with respect to lands leased for oil or gas. Among provisions to streamline the permitting process under the National Environmental Policy Act, the bill would set deadlines for the completion of NEPA environmental reviews and adjust thresholds for levels of review; limit the scope of reviews to ‘reasonably foreseeable’ effects and codify 2020 regulations removing requirements to consider climate change impacts in the review process; and direct agencies to use previously completed reviews to satisfy NEPA requirements for substantially similar proposed actions. For oil and gas projects, it would limit the scope of environmental reviews to areas within or immediately adjacent to affected plots and prohibit the consideration of downstream, indirect effects of oil and gas consumption. To expedite certain energy production and infrastructure projects, it would establish procedures and a 120-day expedited deadline for federal agencies to review applications for cross-border oil and natural gas pipelines; and expand the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission’s role as the lead agency for natural gas pipeline permitting. To address critical mineral supply, the bill would require the Energy Department to conduct ongoing assessments of and develop strategies to strengthen domestic supply chains for critical energy resources, including through increased mining and processing and permit the EPA to temporarily waive certain pollution regulation requirements for processing and refining projects at critical energy resource facilities to address supply chain concerns. It would make coal and critical mineral mining projects eligible for certain expedited infrastructure permitting processes; provide for appointment of a lead agency to coordinate the permitting process for mineral exploration; and limit the withdrawal of federal lands and waters from mineral leasing. The bill would also repeal certain climate-related programs established by the 2022 budget reconciliation package, including the $27 billion ‘Greenhouse Gas Reduction’ fund to support low- and zero-carbon projects, a program imposing fees on methane emissions from oil and gas drilling sites on federal lands, and energy rebate programs to incentivize energy-efficient homes and

buildings.” The bill passed by a vote of 225-204, with 221 Republicans and 4 Democrats voting for the bill, 1 Republican and 203 Democrats voting against the bill, and six Democrats not voting. H.R. 1, [Vote #182, 3/20/23; CQ, 3/30/23]

- White House: H.R.1 Doubled The Cost Of Energy Efficiency Upgrades. “This Administration is making unprecedented progress in protecting America’s energy security and reducing energy costs for Americans – in their homes and at the pump. H.R. 1 would do just the opposite, replacing pro-consumer policies with a thinly veiled license to pollute. It would raise costs for American families by repealing household energy rebates and rolling back historic investments to increase access to cost-lowering clean energy technologies. Instead of protecting American consumers, it would pad oil and gas company profits – already at record levels – and undercut our public health and environment. The Administration strongly opposes this bill. H.R. 1 would double the cost of energy efficiency upgrades that families need to reduce household bills and would repeal the Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund that will cut energy costs and boost economic development in rural and urban communities across the country.” White House, Statement of Administration Policy, [3/27/23]
- Joseph Minott Op-Ed: H.R. 1 Eliminated The Methane Emissions Reduction Program (MERP) And The Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund, Which Helped Families Reduce Energy Consumption And Therefore Their Energy Bills. “In addition to a series of handouts to fossil fuel corporations and the removal of vital environmental protections, H.R. 1 truly takes money away from the communities that need it most by eliminating both the Methane Emissions Reduction Program (MERP) and the Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund, both passed within the Inflation Reduction Act last August. [...] EPA is proposing to allow third-party air monitoring experts to help communities identify and resolve pollution incidents, but the SERP needs MERP to fund that air monitoring. Without it, it is unclear how air monitoring experts will work with local communities. In addition, MERP funds can be used to update ventilation systems and improve insulation in homes, businesses and public spaces impacted by the gas industry, truly reducing energy consumption and utility expenses. The Greenhouse Gas Reduction Fund could also be used to upgrade ventilation and improve overall energy efficiency in low-income communities across the country, in addition to supporting clean energy like rooftop solar and geothermal heating systems.” Pennsylvania Capital-Star, Op-Ed, [4/2/23]
- National Parks Conservation Association: The Lower Energy Costs Act Was Bad For Climate Change, Environmental Laws, And Air And Water Pollution. “The Lower Energy Costs Act should be a nonstarter for anyone who wants to preserve our national parks and everything they protect. Here are five reasons why: 1. The act would worsen climate change [...] The Lower Energy Costs Act would deepen our nation’s dependency on fossil fuel energy, slowing the benefits from our efforts to transition to clean energy, such as wind and solar. If enacted, hundreds of thousands of acres of public lands and waters would be vulnerable to mining and oil and gas development, with little regard to the effects these activities would have on our national parks, communities and climate. [...] 2. The act would gut existing environmental laws Even worse, the Lower Energy Costs Act would undercut bedrock environmental laws that address the impacts of climate change on our environment and give people a voice in how their public lands are managed. 3. The act would pollute air and water The Environmental Protection Agency estimates that 40 percent of the watersheds in the western United States are already contaminated by pollution from hard rock mines. For decades, mining and drilling activities across the country have wreaked havoc on our environment and communities, polluting the air we breathe and water we drink. The Lower Energy Costs Act would make matters worse, opening up swaths of public lands for unabated mining and oil and gas drilling.” National Parks Conservation Association, Blog, [3/27/23]

Molinaro Voted For The Strategic Production Response Act To Prohibit Oil Drawdowns From The Strategic Petroleum Reserve Until The Department Of Energy Develops A Plan To Expand Energy Leasing For Oil Equal To The Amount Drawn From The Reserve. In January 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would prohibit the Department of Energy, after the bill’s enactment, from executing a first drawdown of petroleum products from the U.S. Strategic Petroleum Reserve for sale, exchange or loan until the DOE first develops a plan — in consultation with the Agriculture, Interior and Defense departments — to increase the percentage of federal lands leased for oil and gas production by an amount equal to the percentage of petroleum in the Reserve that would be drawn down, up to a maximum of 15 percent. The bill would provide an exception to the planning requirement if the president determines a drawdown is required due to a severe energy supply interruption, defined as an emergency situation reducing the supply of petroleum products and resulting in price increases that would have a major adverse impact on the national economy. Prior to passage, the House adopted 12 amendments to the bill. As amended, the bill would also apply the oil and gas leasing plan requirement retroactively to drawdowns initiated on Jan. 21, 2021, and afterward; require DOE to ensure that such plans would not result in the sale of drawn-down petroleum products to Iran, China, North Korea or Russia; and require DOE to submit such plans to Congress, among other provisions.” The bill passed by a vote of 221-205. - After Jayapal Called Israel A ‘Racist State’ And Members Of The Squad Boycotted A Speech By Israel’s President, Republicans Introduced A Resolution Forcing The Chamber To Vote On A Statement Of Support For Israel. “Democrats’ liberal “Squad” members took care to avoid a blowup when they decided to boycott Israeli President Isaac Herzog’s speech to Congress this week. Progressive leader Pramila Jayapal created one anyway. The House GOP has turned the Washington Democrat’s weekend comments — in which she called Israel a “racist state” — into a week-long political boon, forcing the entire chamber to vote Tuesday as a form of rebuke. - Molinaro Voted For Blocking Consideration For FY 2024 Defense Appropriations, Promoting Liquefied Natural Gas, And Condemning New Mexico's Governor's Gun Legislation. In September 2023, Molinaro voted for: "Cole, R-Okla., motion to order the previous question (thus ending debate and possibility of amendment). According to the Congressional Record, Rep. Cole said, "The right thing today is to move ahead and pass this rule, get onto a debate about what we think are important issues. Defending the country is certainly an important issue. Securing our energy future is important, and dealing with constitutional rights, and we will continue to discuss and work on these other matters. I will agree with my friend. I am not for shutting down the government. I hope we don't get there, and I always worry about that as we approach these kind of deadlines. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution." A vote for the motion was a vote to block consideration of the resolution. The motion was agreed to by a vote of 216-202. Molinaro Voted For Funding For Public Health Programs And Community Health Programs To Increase Price Transparency For Hospitals, Health Insurance Companies, And Pharmacies. In December 2023, Molinaro voted for: "Rodgers, R-Wash., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would extend, for just over two years, funding for several public health programs, including community health centers, and it includes a wide range of provisions intended to help reduce consumer health care and drug costs by increasing pricing transparency and requiring certain other actions. Among other provisions, it would require health insurance companies and pharmacy benefit managers to regularly provide detailed information on prescription drug costs and the drug rebates they receive to provide pricing transparency, and it codifies and expands two sets of Trump administration pricing transparency rules — one dealing with hospital pricing transparency, which it extends to other medical facilities while incorporating new enforcement mechanisms, and the other focused on pricing transparency for employer-based group health plans and insurers. The bill would also prohibit certain pharmacy benefit manager pricing practices with respect to Medicaid, and it includes provisions intended to reduce health care costs for individuals, employer-sponsored health plans, and the federal government. To implement the bill's provisions, the measure would provide a total of $65 million for the Health and Human Services and Treasury departments, and $35 million for the Labor Department." The motion was agreed to by a vote of 320-71. H.R. 5378, [Vote #708, 12/11/23; CQ, 12/11/23]

Molinaro Voted For The Passage Of The Bill Allowing Employers More Flexibility In Deciding What Type Of Healthcare To Provide Employees. In June 2023, Molinaro voted for: "Passage of the bill, as amended, that would create additional flexibilities for employers providing health insurance. The bill would allow groups of employers to establish and maintain group health plans for employees. It would require such groups to provide coverage to at least 51 employees and to have been in existence for at least two years prior to establishing the health plan. It would allow self-employed individuals to establish a group for the purpose of maintaining a group health plan. The bill would also allow employer-financed health reimbursement arrangements (HRA) to be used by employees to purchase insurance plans on state exchanges. It would also deem such HRAs compliant with requirements under current law for employers to provide health insurance coverage. To be eligible, it would require

employers to offer the same HRA plan to all employees of a certain class, as defined by the bill, including full- and part-time employees, employees under the same collective bargaining agreement, and non-resident alien employees. It would also require employers to give eligible employees 90 days' written notice prior to the beginning of the plan year of their rights and obligations. Among other provisions, the bill would rescind $245 million in fiscal 2024 from the Health and Human Services Department's Prevention and Public Health Fund, specify that stop-loss policies obtained by a self-insured group health plan or plan sponsor do not qualify as health insurance coverage under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act, and require the Treasury Department, within one year of enactment, to notify employers of the availability of tax-advantaged flexible health insurance benefits, with an initial focus on small businesses. HR 3799 also contains the text of the Small Business Flexibility Act (HR 3798), the Association Health Plans Act (HR 2868) and the Self-Insurance Protection Act (HR 2813). Molinaro Voted For The Rules Package For The 118th Congress. In January 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H Res 5) that would establish the rules of the House for the 118th Congress. Among other provisions, the resolution would restore rules allowing any member to make a privileged motion to vacate the speakership, thus prompting a simple-majority vote on removal of the speaker; create a point of order against any rule waiving the House germaneness rule for amendments; require all legislation to be introduced with a statement specifying the single subject it is intended to address; allow the speaker to reduce vote times to two minutes per vote after the first vote in a series; and maintain rules requiring measures to be posted publicly at least 72 hours prior to their consideration. It would reinstate or modify a range of budget rules, including to replace ‘pay-as-you-go’ rules with ‘cut-as-you-go’ rules to make it out of order to consider bills that have the net impact of increasing mandatory spending over a five- or ten-year period; repeal the so-called ‘Gephardt rule’ providing for an automatic debt limit increase when both chambers have acted on an annual budget resolution; prohibit consideration of budget reconciliation directives that would increase net spending under the covered period; require a three-fifths majority vote to approve measures that would increase federal income tax rates; and require Congressional Budget Office and Joint Committee on Taxation estimates for major legislation to include macroeconomic variables. For appropriations bills, it would add a point of order against amendments proposing a net increase to the bill’s budget authority; provide for amendments that transfer funding in the bill to a deficit reduction account; and allow amendments that reduce the number or salaries of federal employees. Among provisions related to House committees, the resolution would establish an Oversight Committee subcommittee to investigate the origins of and government’s response to the coronavirus pandemic, including federal funding of gain-of-function research with respect to virus origins; the effectiveness and accountability of federal funding and laws to address the pandemic; the impacts of school closures; and implementation of vaccination policies for federal workers and servicemembers. It would require each standing committee to adopt an authorization and oversight plan for programs and agencies under its jurisdiction. It would rename the Oversight and Reform Committee as the Oversight and Accountability Committee and rename the Education and Labor Committee as the Education and Workforce Committee. It would require the Office of Congressional Ethics to adopt rules to create a process to receive complaints from the public and empanel an investigative subcommittee within 30 days of criminal charges against or indictment of a member. It would set a term limit of eight years for OCE board members and require the office to make staffing decisions within 30 days. It would also revoke collective bargaining rights for employees of the House of Representatives. It would continue orders from the 117th Congress related to anti-harassment and anti-discrimination policies in House offices. Finally, the rules package would provide for House floor consideration of 12 measures, including measures to address Republican priorities on energy, immigration and abortion.” The resolution passed by a vote of 220-213. Molinaro Voted For Requiring Homeland Security To Take Actions To Limit Illegal Immigration And Resuming Construction Of The "Border Wall" At The Southwestern Border. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Passage of the bill, as amended, that would require the Homeland Security Department to take a number of actions to limit illegal immigration into the United States, including by resuming construction of the ‘border wall’ along the southwestern border, bolstering Customs and Border Protection, reopening border detention facilities, limiting asylum applications and eligibility, and establishing a mandatory employment verification system. To enhance physical border security, the bill would require DHS to resume all previously planned border wall construction on the U.S.-Mexico border. It would require DHS to design, install and operate at least 900 total miles of physical barriers and other infrastructure and technology along the border, until the department achieves ‘operational control’ of the border, defined under current law as the prevention of all unlawful entries into the country. To bolster operations and capacity of Customs and Border Protection, the bill would require CBP to maintain at least 22,000 full-time agents by Sept. 30, 2025, and authorize up to $100 million for agent retention bonuses. It would authorize $110 million annually through fiscal 2028 for new DHS grants to law enforcement agencies in border states to assist with CBP operations. It would authorize funding for CBP to upgrade license plate readers and install cameras, microphones, and surveillance and intrusion detection systems at the northern and southern borders. It would require CBP to issue and regularly update a strategic plan to enhance U.S. border security, including to address security gaps between ports of entry, staffing requirements and information sharing. It would require DHS to ensure that the CBP Air and Marine Operations carries out at least 110,000 flight hours annually and operates unmanned aircraft systems over the southern border 24 hours per day. As amended, the bill would require Congress to commission a report that contains a national strategy to address Mexican drug cartels, including a determination of whether there should be a designation established to address such cartels. Among provisions limiting eligibility for asylum within the United States, the bill would specify that noncitizens are eligible for asylum only if they arrived at an official U.S. port of entry. It would tighten standards for determining whether an individual has a ‘credible fear of persecution’ and is persecuted as part of a ‘social group’ or based on a ‘political opinion.’ It would expand reasons disqualifying individuals from asylum eligibility, including convictions for certain offenses such as using a false ID, domestic violence, child abuse, certain drug possession or trafficking, and repeated or serious driving while intoxicated; traveling through but not seeking asylum in at least one other country party to certain refugee protection treaties; and ability to avoid persecution by relocating to another part of their home country. It would require DHS to return asylum seekers who cannot be detained to a safe third country during their immigration proceedings. Among other immigration enforcement provisions, the bill would require DHS to reopen or restore the use of all Immigration and Customs Enforcement detention facilities that were in operation on Jan. 20, 2021. It would require DHS to detain parents and their children together and return all unaccompanied children to their country of origin. It would limit ‘parole’ authority allowing noncitizens to temporarily live and work in the U.S. allowing DHS to grant parole only on a case-by-case individual basis. The bill would require DHS to create a system based on the E-Verify pilot program to verify whether prospective employees are eligible to work in the U.S. and gradually require all employers to begin using the new system over 24 months, with 36-month deadline for agricultural sector employers.” The bill passed by a vote of 219-213. - Molinaro Voted For Considering The Secure The Border Act And The Protecting Taxpayers And Victims Of Unemployment Fraud Act. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Adoption of the rule (H.Res. 383), as amended, that would provide for floor consideration of the Secure the Border Act (HR 2) and the Protecting Taxpayers and Victims of Unemployment Fraud Act (HR 1163). The rule would provide for up to five hours of debate on the Secure the Border Act and up to one hour of debate on the Protecting Taxpayers and Victims of Unemployment Fraud Act. It would provide for automatic adoption of a Smith, R-Mo., manager's amendment to HR 1163 that would direct the Treasury Department to use unobligated funds provided by previous pandemic relief legislation for administration and fraud prevention of unemployment programs to offset any loss in the amount of funds deposited in state unemployment funds as a result of the bill, subject to appropriations. As amended, the rule would also provide for automatic adoption of an amendment to HR 2 that would strike a section requiring the Homeland Security Department to submit a report to Congress on whether certain Mexican drug cartels meet the criteria to be designated as foreign terrorist organizations; instead require Congress to commission a report containing a national strategy to address Mexican drug cartels, including a determination of whether there should be a new designation for such cartels and information on actions by such cartels that harm the U.S.; and express the sense of Congress that, in implementing the E-Verify Program, DHS shall ensure any adverse impact on the U.S. agricultural workforce, operations and food security is considered and addressed." - The DC Council In October 2022 Passed Legislation To Allow Noncitizens To Vote; Versions Of The Legislation Had Been Introduced For Decades But Failed To Pass. "The D.C. Council on Tuesday sent a pair of bills to Mayor Muriel Bowser that would greatly expand who can vote in local elections and how they cast their ballot. The first bill would allow noncitizens, including undocumented residents, to vote in local elections, meaning D.C. would join a few jurisdictions nationwide (including neighboring Takoma Park). [...] The bill had been floating around the Council for at least a decade, but struggled to move out of committee until this year. A previous version had only let green card-holders vote in local elections. But the judiciary committee, chaired by Ward 6 Councilmember Charles Allen, was compelled to expand voting rights to undocumented immigrants after public testimony." DCist, [10/18/22]

- Advocates For The Legislation Argued That Noncitizens Paid Taxes And Are Impacted By Local Policies And Thus Should Be Allowed To Vote. "D.C. lawmakers say that noncitizens pay taxes and are impacted by local policies, and should thus have a say in the people who make them. (A number of Maryland towns such as Takoma Park and Hyattsville similarly allow noncitizens to vote, albeit only legal permanent residents.)" DCist, [2/2/23]
- 2018 Polling On Legislation That Would Allow Noncitizens To Vote Found 91% Of Republicans And 54% Of Democrats Opposing The Legislation, 71% Of Respondents Overall Opposed. "San Francisco's Department of Elections last week made the move to start allowing non-U.S. citizens to vote in the city's school board elections, sparking a national debate. [...] According to the survey, which is a joint project of Hill.TV and the HarrisX polling company, 71 percent of respondents opposed San Francisco's decision, while only 29 percent said they supported the move. Ninety-one percent of Republicans polled said they opposed giving the right to vote to noncitizens, as did 54 percent of Democrats. Seventy percent of independents said they were also in opposition to the decision. When respondents were asked the same question but with the wording changed to include the term 'illegal immigrants' instead of non-U.S. citizens, the results were nearly the same. Sixty-nine percent of Americans said they opposed the measure, while only 31 percent said they supported the measure. When asked the question with the term 'illegal immigrant,' 91 percent of Republicans said they opposed giving them voter rights, while 55 percent of Democrats also said they disagreed with the move. Sixty-five percent of Democrats also said they were against the measure. [...] The poll was conducted July 21–22 among 1,001 registered voters." The Hill, [7/26/18]

Infrastructure Issues

Molinaro Voted For Requiring The Federal Communications Commission To Issue Rules For People To Apply For Emergency Connectivity Services In Underserved Areas. In April 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Latta, R-Ohio, motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill that would require the Federal Communications Commission, within 18 months of enactment, to issue rules for persons to apply to receive electromagnetic spectrum access to provide emergency connectivity services, such as wireless emergency alert and enhanced 9-1-1 services, to underserved areas, including newly underserved areas. Among other provisions, it would specify that applicants must demonstrate that they would only use spectrum access for the proposed services, that they could provide the services 'in a rapid manner,' and that the services would be resilient to natural disasters. It would require the FCC to ensure that providers receive consent to access the electromagnetic spectrum from any entity already authorized to use the spectrum, receive timely determinations from such entities, and do not cause any interference to spectrum use by such entities. The bill would also extend liability protections for alert messages and 9-1-1 service to emergency connectivity service providers.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 422-1. Tax Issues

Molinaro Voted For Expanding The Child Tax Credit While Expanding Certain Business Tax Incentives. In February 2024, Molinaro voted for: “Agreeing to the Smith, R-Mo., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would extend and expand certain business tax incentives and the Child Tax Credit (both through 2025) while boosting credits for building affordable housing, providing tax relief to victims of natural disasters, and extending tax treaty-like benefits to Taiwan. Specifically, it would increase the maximum $2,000 child tax credit for inflation for the tax years of 2024 and 2025. Beginning in 2023, the bill also would increase the amount that is refundable each year while allowing families to base the tax credit on the prior year’s income. It also would raise the maximum refundable amount per child to $1,800 for tax year 2023, $1,900 for tax year 2024, and $2,000 for tax year 2025. The bill also would provide additional tax relief for people impacted by natural disasters by allowing special rules for claiming an itemized deduction for a personal casualty loss--rules that went into effect in early 2021--to be applied to subsequent natural disasters. It would increase the 9 percent ceiling for low-income housing tax credit allocations by 12.5 percent and reduce the bond-financing requirements from 50 percent to 30 percent for projects financed by bonds issued before 2026. It would extend through 2025, the “bonus depreciation” provision in the 2017 tax law that allowed 100 percent of the cost of an asset (except structures) to be deducted in the year the asset is placed in service. The bill also would reinstate through 2025 the ability of businesses to expense 100 percent of research and experimentation costs in the year they occur. It would retroactively apply this authority to 2022, the year the 2017 tax law required businesses to start taking deductions for those costs over five years. It would permanently increase both the maximum amount a business can deduct for first-year depreciation of assets, and the threshold at which businesses must report what they pay contractors and subcontractors. It would exempt wildfire relief payments received between 2020 and 2025 and East Palestine train derailment payments received on or after Feb. 3, 2023 from taxable gross income. It also would offset the estimated $79 billion cost of tax changes by terminating the COVID-19 era Employee Retention Tax Credit (ERTC) program for any claims filed after Jan. 31, 2024 and increase penalties on under-reporting of the credit. It also would create a new section of the tax code

to provide Taiwan citizens, residents, corporations, partnership, trusts and estates with benefits similar to a typical tax treaty. The provisions would apply only if Taiwan extends the same benefits to U.S. residents and businesses operating in Taiwan.” The bill passed 357-70. In May 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Bost, R-Ill., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would codify the Veteran Employment Through Technology Education Courses (VET-TEC) pilot program, which provides funding for veterans to enroll in technology education and training programs that teach skills sought by employers in ‘high technology’ industries, including computer programming, software and information sciences. Participating veterans are generally eligible for GI Bill education benefits, including housing stipends. It would specifically direct the Veterans Affairs Department to carry out the program for up to 6,000 veterans annually by contracting with certified providers of technology educational programs, with preference given to providers whose graduates have a high rate of employment in their fields of study and that offer tuition reimbursement for graduates who do not find relevant employment. It would specify that the VA would pay providers 25 percent of a veteran's tuition and fees upon their enrollment, 25 percent upon their graduation and 50 percent after they have been employed in their field of study for 180 days, employed by the program provider for one year, or enrolled in a related continuing education program. The bill would also modify a number of other VA programs, including to require the VA to provide a burial allowance to the families of certain veterans who die while receiving at-home VA hospice care; include non-degree flight training programs in a vocational rehabilitation program for veterans with service-connected disabilities; specify that overpayments for educational assistance are the sole responsibility of a veteran, not their dependent; and repeal a current policy that halves the amount of survivors' and dependents' educational assistance for programs in the Philippines. As an offset, it would delay a scheduled decrease in fees borrowers pay to the VA for home loans from Nov. 14, 2031, to April 30, 2032.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 409-9. H.R. 1669, [Vote #235, 5/24/23; CQ, 5/24/23]

Molinaro Voted For Requiring The Veterans Affairs Department To Develop A Cost Savings Analysis Model On Medical Waste Treatment. In March 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Bost, R-Ill., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would require the Veterans Affairs Department to develop a uniform analysis model to determine cost savings comparing the costs of treating regulated medical waste off- and on-site, and to identify department facilities that would benefit from the use of an on-site regulated medical waste treatment system over a five-year period. The bill would specify that no additional funds are authorized to implement its requirements.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 426-0. H.R. 753, [Vote #137, 3/8/23; CQ, 3/8/23]

Molinaro Voted For Requiring The Veterans Affairs Department To Create A Digital Platform For Veterans To Submit Benefits Claims Requests. In March 2023, Molinaro voted for: “Bost, R-Ill., motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill, as amended, that would require the Veterans Affairs Department to establish and maintain a secure digital platform, within one year of enactment, for a veteran claimant or their representative to submit an electronic request for their C-File, which is a record of all benefits claims the veteran has filed with the VA, to be fulfilled by the VA within 120 days of such request. Among other provisions, the bill would require the VA to display a warning, in English, Spanish, Tagalog and the seven other most commonly spoken languages in the United States, on department websites and online tools about potential predatory practices related to veterans' claims, including links to online tools through which users can report predatory individuals or search for attorneys or other VA-recognized entities to assist with VA claims. The bill would specify that no additional funds are authorized to implement its requirements.” The motion was agreed to by a vote of 422-0. H.R. 1226, [Vote #132, 3/7/23; CQ, 3/7/23]

2009	A04491	The State Superfund Management Board consisted of fourteen members including the Commissioners or their designees of the Departments of Environmental Conservation and Health, and twelve at-large members appointed by the Governor, upon recommenda- tions by the following: two by the Temporary President of the Senate, two by the Speaker of the Assembly, one by the Minority Leader of the Senate, one by the Majority of the Assembly and, of the remaining six, two representing environmental organizations, two representing indus- tries that generate hazardous waste in the State and two who live within municipalities within which exist an inactive hazardous waste site(s) and have	Yea	144/0

been involved in a citizen's organization that has the purpose relating to Chair of the Board. The Board's primary responsibility is to monitor and evaluate the State's implementation of the inactive hazardous waste site remedial program, more widely known as the state "superfund" program. Based on its review, the Board shall report to the Governor and the Legislature, on or before January 1 of each year, its assessment of the implementation of the superfund program, available funding and resources, and the need for steps to assure the future availability of funding. Also under the Environmental Quality Bond Act of 1986, if the Board were to receive certification by the comptroller of a shortfall of industry fees needed to retire their share of debt service on the bonds, the Board is charged with recommending funding mechanisms to the Legislature. Since its inception in the early 1980s, the superfund program has successfully cleaned up hundreds of contaminated waste sites. Currently, the funds for implementation of the state superfund provided by the Environmental Quality Bond Act of 1986 are exhausted, leaving roughly 800 hazardous waste sites statewide with little funding for cleanup costs. Unfortunately, the state superfund management board, whose task was to recommend funding mechanisms for the superfund program to the Legislature, expired statutorily in 1999 and cannot address the fiscal crisis currently facing the superfund program. This bill will re-establish the state superfund management board to address refinancing of the state superfund program and monitor its implementation in order to protect New Yorkers from the dangers posed by hazardous waste sites for both current and future generations.

2009	A09857	Under the Internal Revenue Code now in effect, the Federal estate tax is repealed for decedents dying in 2010, only to be restored in 2011 at higher rates and with lower exemptions. Most estate attorneys expected Congress to enact a new law prior to 2010 so as to prevent the estate tax from expiring and did not anticipate that tempo- rary repeal would occur.	Yea	145/0

There is still a possibility that Congress may reinstate an estate tax for 2010 retroactively. Many wills, trusts and beneficiary forms prepared prior to 2010 were based on formula dispositions in the case of married testators. The aim was typically to leave as much as possible on the first spouse's death to a trust or to individuals other than the surviving spouse (typically issue of the decedent) without causing estate tax on the first spouse's death. This was commonly referred to as a "credit shelter bequest", since the amount involved ($3.5 million for decedent dying in 2009) would be sheltered from estate tax on the first death by a "unified credit" allowed under the Internal Revenue Code. The credit shelter bequest is not subject to estate tax at the surviving spouse's death. The credit shelter bequest is usually phrased in terms of the maximum amount that can pass free of Federal estate tax on the first death, or in terms of like effect. The same results were obtained with formulas leaving a spouse outright or in a form qualifying for a marital deduction against the Federal estate tax, the minimum amount necessary to avoid imposition of an estate tax on the first spouse's death. With repeal of the estate tax, these formula clauses could be interpreted to leave the entire estate in a credit shelter disposition and nothing to the spouse or in a form qualifying for a marital deduction. This conclusion is reached since the entire estate and not just the part formerly sheltered by statutory credits can now pass under a credit shelter disposition without there being any estate tax. The Federal generation-skipping transfer tax is also temporarily repealed for transfers in 2010. Many wills and testamentary instruments also left to grandchildren (or to trusts that would eventually pass to grandchildren) maximum amounts allowable without imposition of a Federal generation skipping transfer tax. With repeal, this amount is now unlimited, and may pass to grandchildren to the detriment of the decedent's children. The purposes of the bill, accordingly, are: 1. To preserve the form in which most testators expected their estates to be divided prior to the unexpected repeal of the Federal estate tax; 2. To assure that a surviving spouse will not be disinherited and left to exercise a right of election under Article 5 of the Estates, Powers and Trusts Law; 3. To shelter assets in a credit shelter disposition for the time estate tax may be reinstated; 4, To prevent unwarranted amounts from passing to grandchildren to the detriment of children. This bill authorizes the Commissioner of Economic Development to grant matching funds to eligible applicants to implement regional marketing programs. The purpose of this bill is to stimulate and encourage economic activity in each region of the State.

		The purpose of the bill is to ensure that environmental health risks associated with pesticides are minimized for children in day care centers and head start day care centers by requiring that IPM plans for such facilities are developed; that day care center staff are trained; and that notification of pesticides applications is provided. Mandatory training for operators, directors, workers and employees of child day care centers and head start day care centers is required to include environmental health and safety measures, IPM practices and methods of limiting exposure to toxic substances. One more hour of training is added to the current fifteen training hours required in the first year and biennially thereafter. The bill requires all child day care centers and head start day care centers to develop and implement IPM plans. These plans must be subject to public review. The plans must contain provisions for public access to all information about the implementation of the plans. Pesticide applications in day care centers and head start day care centers must be conducted only by certified pesticide applicators. Outdoor pesticide applications to grounds turf, trees or shrubs must be posted with the visual notification markers required in ECL S33-1003 at least every 50 feet with at least one marker on each side of the application area. The term "integrated pest management" is defined in the Environmental Conservation Law, focusing on use of non-chemical alternatives to pest control, utilizing only the least-toxic pesticides as a last resort and eliminating routine unnecessary pesticide applications.
