Dobson On Whether The Trump Tax Cuts Should Be Extended: “Unequivocally Yes.”

MODERATOR: “Do you support or oppose extending the 2017 tax changes? Why or why not? And is there anything you would do differently?” [...] DOBSON: “Unequivocally, yes. This is key to ensuring that we can get the American economy up and running.” Fox 10 TV, 44:55, [4/8/24] (VIDEO)

Dobson On Social Security: “Both Parties Need To Come Together And Come Up With A Different Plan So That We Can Cut Spending.”

HOST: “Many people, especially younger people, are concerned about the viability of Social Security. They fear that they are paying into a system that might not be there when they retire. Do you share these concerns, and if so, what should be done to shore up Social Security?” DOBSON: “Yes, well I’m fighting for Alabama families and that means people of all ages. For those that are currently on Social Security or about to be on Social Security, I don’t think that we should touch that. These people have worked hard their whole lives, they’ve paid taxes, and they have relied on the fact that Social Security is going to be there for them. For folks my age and younger, we’ve got to come to the table and stop playing politics. We’ve got to come up with a workable solution. We cannot keep growing our national debt, we can’t keep kicking the can down the road for our children, and we have to face the facts that the money may not be there for us, so both parties need to come together and come up with a different plan so that we can cut spending but also provide for people in their elderly years.” Fox 10 News, YouTube, 2:35:12, [2/26/24] (VIDEO)

HFC Opposes Biden-McCarthy Deal

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The House Freedom Caucus has adopted the following official position:

“The House Freedom Caucus urges all Republicans to oppose the Biden-McCarthy debt limit deal and to force Washington to stop its race towards bankruptcy.

Speaker Kevin McCarthy’s mandate from the American People – with a powerful negotiating position backed by a united Republican Party – was to hold the line to secure into law the provisions of the Limit, Save, Grow Act, each of which reined in reckless inflationary spending and jumpstarted economic growth.

The Biden-McCarthy deal totally fails to deliver on that mandate and threatens to shatter Republican unity while, more importantly, it misses yet another critical opportunity to save Americans from fiscal ruin.

The Limit, Save, Grow Act was one of the most transformative pieces of legislation to ever pass the House of Representatives, with more than $4.8 trillion in savings, and repealed numerous radical policies such as the outrageous expansion of the Internal Revenue Service, the President’s student loan bailout, and the disastrous $1.2 trillion “Green New Deal” tax credits for liberal elitists destroying America’s energy markets. In exchange for these tremendous wins, Republicans voted – many for the first time ever – to raise the debt ceiling by $1.5 trillion.

The Biden-McCarthy deal, unfortunately, fails to deliver on every single one of the provisions of the Limit, Save, Grow Act. It allows for an unlimited debt increase through January 1, 2025, to finance President Biden’s radical agenda and could lead to more than $4 trillion more in debt. In exchange for this massive increase in debt, the deal secures just $12 billion in discretionary spending cuts (only a 0.75% cut overall and less than 10% of the cuts in the Limit, Save, Grow Act) – thereby leaving the bloated COVID bureaucracy virtually untouched. It rescinds a pitiful $1.4 billion of the whopping $80 billion in funding for 87,000 new IRS agents. It does not repeal the student loan bailout, and instead only ends the pause on loan repayments, which is already an inevitable outcome. The deal mildly strengthens work requirements on welfare programs, but those improvements are more than offset by new exemptions that shockingly result in even more people enrolled in the programs with even more spending. There is nothing at all in this bill to repeal Democrats’ signature Inflation Reduction Act or to secure the southern border. It is a disappointment across the board. In short, there is nothing in the ironically named “Fiscal Responsibility” Act that justifies the enormous $4 trillion increase of the debt ceiling.

As Speaker McCarthy said on February 1, 2023: “The greatest threat to America is our debt.” Now is the time to act. Republicans must oppose this legislation and immediately force Democrats back to the negotiating table.”

Caroleene Hardee Dobson Supports Repealing The Affordable Care Act...

Dobson Said “Fully Repealing The Affordable Care Act” Was One Of Her Priorities. “Furthermore, Dobson said other priorities of hers would be securing the southern U.S. border, fully repealing the Affordable Care Act, all of which she would do for the constituents of Alabama’s Second Congressional District, and not ‘special interest groups.’” Alabama Daily News, [12/27/23]

...Raising Premiums And Drug Costs...

Repealing The Affordable Care Act Would Raise Premium Costs. “The updated House Republican legislation to repeal the Affordable Care Act (ACA) raises total out-of-pocket health costs (premiums, deductibles, copays, and coinsurance) by an average of $3,600 in 2020 for people who buy health insurance through the ACA marketplaces — just as the previous version of this legislation would have done. Specifically, as explained below, tax credits that help people pay premiums would fall sharply (by an average of $2,200); average premiums would rise; and out-of-pocket costs such as deductibles, copays, and coinsurance would increase (by an average of $1,200). Total cost increases would be larger for people who have lower incomes, are older, or live in high-cost states: in 15 states, average increases would exceed $4,000.” Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, [3/22/17]

August 2024: It Was Unclear Whether Monroe Academy Had Ever Admitted A Black Student. “Such schools have played a key role in perpetuating segregated school systems across the Deep South.

It's unclear if Monroe Academy has ever admitted a Black student, Alabama Public Radio reported, citing a local journalist. The local public schools, however, are predominantly Black." Huffington Post, [8/8/24]

July 2020: Monroe Academy Was Reported To Have Never Admitted A Black Student. "According to journalist Cynthia Tucker-Haynes, a Monroeville, Alabama native, Monroe Academy has never admitted a single Black student. Attempts to contact Monroe Academy for comment were unsuccessful." Alabama Public Radio, [7/28/20]

And Now Wants To Divert Public School Funding Toward Private Schools Like These

Dobson Supported The CHOOSE Act, Which Would Divert Funding From Alabama Public Schools Toward Private Schools

Dobson Commended The Alabama Legislature For Passing The CHOOSE Act. HOST: "Would you support a federal tax for alternative education expenses?" DOBSON: "I absolutely would. Every child is entitled to the best education to equip them to succeed, and parents are the ones who should determine where that education takes place. For too long now, parents haven't had choices. Especially here in District 2, we've got urban areas, suburban areas, and very rural areas. And I commend the state legislature, Governor Ivey with the CHOOSE Act and taking an affirmative step to allow parents to have more options. Why do parents want more options? Because these days you may be learning Critical Race Theory in schools, you may have boys in girls' bathrooms in schools. Parents need more options, and I would absolutely support national school choice to enable them to have a more active role in determining how and where their children can succeed." Dobson Was "So Grateful" For The CHOOSE Act. DOBSON: "I am so grateful for the Alabama legislature and the CHOOSE Act they've passed." Fox 10 TV, 30:39, [4/8/24] (VIDEO)

The CHOOSE Act Would Divert Funding From Alabama Public Schools. "But critics of the bill say Black students in Alabama are concentrated in underfunded and underresourced public schools, and that the CHOOSE Act will divert much needed funding away from these schools. 'It is problematic when our public schools are in need of more resources that if we take funding away from them, it's going to just make it that much harder for teachers to do their jobs, and it really then takes away from the students that are going to remain in those schools,' Alabama state Rep. Phillip Ensler told WSFA 12 News after the bill was signed into law by GOP Gov. Kay Ivey." Huffington Post, [8/8/24]

Montgomery Public Schools Chief Financial Officer On The CHOOSE Act: "School Systems Like MPS [Montgomery Public Schools] Could Be Stretched Even Thinner Financially Were Dollars Earmarked For Public Education To Be Diverted Toward Private School." "One of the chief concerns among the law's critics is the removal of the income cap after the first two years. That will mean any family can access the tax credits no matter their income, including those already attending private schools. 'To divert these amounts of funds from the ETF, I think, is going to be just devastating to poor black, brown and white students; those are the ones that are going to hurt the most,' said Arthur Watts, chief financial officer for Montgomery Public Schools. Speaking with Alabama Daily News on Tuesday, Watts said he feared that school systems like MPS could be stretched even thinner financially were dollars earmarked for public education to be diverted toward private school." Alabama Arise: The CHOOSE Act Will Divert At Least $100 Million Annually From Alabama Public Schools. "The Alabama Legislature struck a major blow against public education this session by passing the CHOOSE Act. This law likely will drain hundreds of millions of dollars annually from public schools that have long struggled with underfunding. Alabama Arise testified twice against the bill, but conservative lawmakers moved quickly to enact it. The act – HB 129 by Rep. Danny Garrett, R-Trussville – will divert at least $100 million every year from Alabama’s public schools. The law creates ‘education savings accounts’ for parents to pay for private school or homeschooling.” Alabama Arise, [6/11/24]

Dobson Supported National School Choice, Which Would Divert Money From Public To Private Schools

Dobson: “I Absolutely Support National School Choice.” HOST: “Would you support a federal tax for alternative education expenses?” DOBSON: “I absolutely would. Every child is entitled to the best education to equip them to succeed, and parents are the ones who should determine where that education takes place. For too long now, parents haven’t had choices. Especially here in District 2, we’ve got urban areas, suburban areas, and very rural areas. - Vouchers Diverted Money From Public Schools. “K-12 school vouchers are typically funded through state revenues and give families a set amount of money per eligible student to cover a portion of private school tuition. These vouchers divert money away from public schools, sometimes by directly re-routing education funding to private schools, and other times indirectly by making it harder to pay teachers, buy new textbooks, and provide quality after-school programming. The support for public schools is high: families overwhelmingly support their schools, and many teachers and other advocates for public education oppose vouchers.” Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, [3/21/23]
- The Florida Voucher Program Rerouted Money From Public Schools To Private Schools. “Some voucher proposals more directly harm public schools by taking education money away that would have otherwise gone to a student’s local school through the state K-12 funding formula. For example, Florida’s Family Empowerment Scholarship is funded by rerouting designated funding for a student’s local public school district to private schools instead.” Center on Budget and Policy Priorities, [3/21/23]

Furthermore, Like The Project 2025 Agenda, Dobson Supports Abolishing The Department Of Education...

Project 2025 Would Push For Abolishing The Department Of Education. “The Department of Education would be eliminated, student loans would be privatized and federal legislation on parental rights would be pushed under Project 2025, the conservative wish list of policies put together for the next Republican president that has sparked widespread controversy.” The Hill, [7/12/24]

Dobson Advocated For Abolishing The Department Of Education, So Long As There Remained Federal Apparatus To Keep Trans Women Out Of Women’s Sports And Prohibit Teaching Critical Race Theory. DOBSON: “You know, I would love to see the Department of Education—federal Department of Education—drastically reduced. As long as there is some way to protect girls’ sports. If we do away with the Department of Education, but somehow have some apparatus to prohibit the instruction of Critical Race Theory throughout the country and then also ensure girls' sports are just for girls." 1819 News, 31:59, [4/7/24] (VIDEO)

- The Department Of Education Was The Major Federal Agency That Funded School Districts. "The federal government seeks to use its limited but targeted funding to promote student achievement, foster educational excellence, and ensure equal access. The major federal agency channeling funding to school districts (sometimes through the states) is the U.S. Department of Education." Economic Policy Institute, [7/12/22]
- 2023: $45 Billion In Department Of Education Funding Went To K-12 Education Programs. "Congress recently approved a $1.7 trillion budget for the government, including $79.6 billion for the Education Department. Of that funding, $45 billion is going to K-12 programs, with the majority allocated to grants for low-income neighborhoods and special-education programs, and about $30 billion is going to higher education and federal student aid funding, including loans and Pell Grants." ...Which Works To Protect The Civil Rights Of Black Students In Alabama

The Department Of Education And Department Of Justice Resolved Race-Based Discrimination Investigations In Alabama Schools. "The Resource describes how the departments resolved investigations of 14 school districts in 10 states nationwide – Alabama, Arizona, California, Delaware, Maryland, Minnesota, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma and Utah. These investigations, conducted under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and its regulations and Title IV of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, involved concerns about discrimination in schools' use of out-of-school suspensions, expulsions, school-based arrests, referrals to law enforcement, involuntary discipline transfers, informal removals and other disciplinary actions against Black, Latino and Native American students." The Department Of Education Enforces Federal Civil Rights Laws Prohibiting Race-Based Discrimination In Schools That Receive Department Of Education Funding. "The Office for Civil Rights (OCR) enforces several federal civil rights laws that prohibit discrimination in programs or activities that receive federal financial assistance from the Department of Education. Discrimination on the basis of race, color, and national origin is prohibited by Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; sex discrimination is prohibited by Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972; discrimination on the basis of disability is prohibited by Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973; and age discrimination is prohibited by the Age Discrimination Act of 1975. OCR also has responsibilities under Title II of the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, which prohibits disability discrimination by public entities, whether or not they receive federal financial assistance. [...] These civil rights laws enforced by OCR extend to all state education agencies, elementary and secondary school systems, colleges and universities, vocational schools, proprietary schools, state vocational rehabilitation agencies, libraries, and museums that receive U.S. Department of Education funds. Areas covered may include, but are not limited to: admissions, recruitment, financial aid, academic programs, student treatment and services, counseling and guidance, discipline, classroom assignment, grading, vocational education, recreation, physical education, athletics, housing, and employment."
